Mrs. Kim's Grocery Robbed.—About one o'clock Friday night the grocery store of Mrs. A. C. Kidd, on the corner of Oak and J. street, was robbed of $9 in cash, several packages of tobacco, chewing gum and several dozen cigars. An entrance was gained by climbing the high board fence on Main street opposite the PLAINDEALER office, then crossing the lot between Mrs. Kidd's grocery store and the Mrs. Kidd's block to a front window of a side room of the store, which is sheltered by a high billboard; they then removed a pane of glass from the window, also two nails which held the window down, and were enabled to raise the window, by which they entered the store. They then turned on the electric light and proceeded to demolish the cash drawer, which contained $1.50 in small change; $7.50 which was in a paper-board box in the show case was also taken. From the tracks found in the yard and from the articles stolen, it is thought that two or more boys did the robbing. Had they been professional burglars or tramps, they would have taken only the money, or perhaps more substantial goods. Marshall Dillard passed the store about one o'clock on the city jail, and at that time the light in the store was burning, but on his return about ten minutes later, he noticed the light was out, which caused him to search the premises visited, but finding nothing wrong and as the electric lights often burn out during the night, he paid no further attention to the matter.

CABIN BOUNDED OVER HIS HEAD.—John O'Mera, a carpenter and miner, living near Astoria, had an exciting experience last Friday night. Mr. O'Mera, who is a man about 70 years of age, lives alone in a cabin a few miles from Judge Riddle's mill, at Astoria and has been quite sick with the gripe for the past two weeks, and several of the young men of that place have been attending him. Last Friday two of Astoria's citizens went to visit him and found that the chimney of his cabin which was composed of clay and sticks was on fire. After extinguishing the fire and fixing the old man comfortably, they again left him, and on returning to see him the following morning he found that during the night the fire had again broken out and totally destroyed the cabin. Mr. O'Mera, who was unable to attempt to get out of the fire had escaped by dragging himself just outside the building and had a water bucket to destroy all the property. Judge Riddle brought him to the city Saturday and placed him in the county hospital.

MARRIED.—At the home of South Dakota, on Feb. 22, 1902, Miss Minnie Stanton to H. N. Akles. The bride is well known in this vicinity, having resided at Brockway for a number of years previous to removing eastward, where she won the esteem of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The groom is a well-to-do stock-raiser of South Dakota. The many friends of the bride will join with the PLAINDEALER in wishing them a full measure of happiness and success as they tread life's highway.

A VISIT TO THE LADD JERSEY STOCK FARM.

C. F. Gaddie, who has been on a week's sojourn in Portland, brings news of many interesting events and the most interesting and important was a visit accompanied by W. S. Ladd, of that city, to the Ladd farm of Jersey pure bloods. Mr. Gaddie, though having over six years experience with dairy stock, avouches himself a novice in that line. He says "I know enough to appreciate Mr. Ladd's herd of Jersey and am confident with its present management it is on the up grade to a standard second to no Jersey herd in the U. S. Mr. Ladd has in his herd many animals of fine blood from the greatest breeders of the U. S. Also a number of gets of the celebrated Jersey Island sire, imported, Golden Lad. Mr. Ladd's management and arrangement of stock is most up-to-date and places a great deal of credit to his present superintendent, Mr. McElwain. It will undoubtedly well reward any one interested in the Jersey cattle industry to visit the Ladd Est. Jersey stock farm, and as you leave it you will do so with more than an appreciation of the Owner, Superintendent and of what you have seen."

WELL PLEASED WITH THIS COUNTRY.—Mr. R. P. McElwain who with his family, arrived at this place last October, Marshall Dillard passed the store about one o'clock on the city jail, and at that time the light in the store was burning, but on his return about ten minutes later, he noticed the light was out, which caused him to search the premises visited, but finding nothing wrong and as the electric lights often burn out during the night, he paid no further attention to the matter.

MARRIED.—At the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Wood in Roseburg, March 2, 1902, Mr. Isadore Selig and Miss Lulu Harst, both of Myrtle Creek, Oregon, Rev. Wood, pastor of the Christian church officiating. The pretty ceremony was witnessed by a number of the intimate friends of the contracting parties from Myrtle Creek. Both the bride and groom are well known, estimable and popular young people, estimable and are held in the highest esteem by all who know them. After spending a few days in Roseburg they will return to Myrtle Creek where they will make their future home. The PLAINDEALER joins in extending hearty congratulations and wishes for a long life blessed with health and happiness and prosperity.

DIED.—At Winchester, at 2:20 p. m. Sunday, of typhoid pneumonia, J. W. Turpin, son of Chris Turpin, aged 25 years, 6 months and 9 days. Deceased had been sick for nine days. Funeral services will be held at family residence at 11 o'clock Tuesday. Interment in Winchester cemetery.

The pilot of the engine was wrecked and the impact of the train broke the boulder into three pieces, so that it was comparatively an easy matter to roll the fragments from the track.—Tidings.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The Attendance and Interest in the Services Still Increasing.

The revival services conducted at the M. E. Church by Evangelist Marshall of California, continue to draw large crowds and a constantly increasing interest is manifested. The large edifice is filled to overflowing at each service and upwards of 60 conversions have already been made. The meetings will continue all week and will probably close next Sunday evening, and will no doubt prove the greatest revival held in this city for years.

The evangelist delivered a sermon on dancing Saturday evening and the large church was filled to overflowing, many being turned away. The sermon consisted largely of quotations from eminent divines representing the various religious denominations, including the Roman Catholic church, which was interspersed with a forceful exhortation against associating with bad company and a word portrait of the evils that accrue to the ball room and the social associations. The quotations and extracts presented, were followed in conclusion with uncompromising attacks on the dance as a social institution, with vivid and effective illustrations of the points raised, and with personal and pathetic appeals.

He urged parents to teach their children to understand and shun the evils of the ball room. Declaring that "if the daughters are taught to shun such places the boys and young men will stay away too. Public halls are places of evil gotten up on a purely financial basis, where promiscuous dances attend where pure women would only loiter outside of the dance with grooved hands. This I know, I say out expressly against the immoralities that will permit a woman to come in bodily contact with a man in the dance, whom she would refuse to recognize on the street or elsewhere." He did not insist that all patrons of the dance were wanting in purity or morality, but suggested that such places were the rendezvous for libertines and moral lepers and a place at which the primary lessons in sin are inculcated and are established until they are developed into snappers of debauchery.
