Hon. Binger Hermann, wife and daughter, Miss Mabel, returned to Roseburg from an enjoyable visit to Coos county Tuesday evening.

Mr. Hermann noted many improvements throughout that county since his last visit and says there is substantial indications of rapid progress and advancement in every avenue of trade over there as well as the development of the many resources of that favored section of the state. Mr. Hermann and family will soon take their departure for Washington City.

The editor accepted a kind invitation and accompanied county clerk D. R. Shambrook, Dr. K. L. Miller and Chas. Parks, to Coles Valley Monday, to enjoy a day's sport shooting pheasants. We enjoyed the pleasure of viewing the fine Shambrook farm with its 40 acre orchard of winter apples and prunes which is fairly loaded with fine fruit. We also visited the fine 40 acre hay yard on the same farm, in which a big crop of hops will be gathered this season, commencing today.

We also visited the beautiful sunset ranch of J. L. Churchill where we saw as fine a field of corn as can be grown anywhere. Our party returned home late in the evening with fourteen birds and well pleased with the day's outing. The farmers generally report about a half crop of birds this season owing to the heavy spring rains.

Dairy Notes.

A good cow is one of the greatest levers in lifting a farm mortgage.

W. A. De Laney, a patron of the Albion (Wis.) Creamery, has nine cows which brought him $555.24 last year in cash receipts from the creamery. This is an average of $61.60 per cow. Mr. De Laney is not a general purpose dairyman, but reads and studies his business.

A few years ago Dr. T. C. Smith, of Salem, Oregon, purchased a pure-bred Jersey cow. Last fall he sold her calf, then 15 months old, for $35. This Spring the party who purchased the heifer refused $75 for her, saying that she furnished all the cream and milk the family used, besides one pound of butter per day. Dr. Smith says he owned the brother of the heifer for a year and a half and made a profit of 100 percent on first cost of the cow. When one buys pure-bred stock he can always find a market for it and usually at a good profit.
