A. H. Kaylor Insane.

As a sad sequel to the deplorable accident which occurred at West Fork recently in which the false alarm of an approaching train prompted Mrs. A. H. Kaylor to leap from the West Fork bridge to death in the turbulent waters of Coos Creek, her husband who gave the alarm and who was so seriously injured by falling over an embankment while attempting his wife's rescue, has become hopelessly insane at his Molalla home, and has been committed to the asylum. Grief and brooding over the unfortunate play he played in the tragic scene at West Fork is ascribed as the cause of his derangement.

Hayhurst School Entertainment.

Miss Fannie Wilson gave a most interesting entertainment here last Friday, at the close of her fall term of school.

Under Miss Wilson's management the children have made very marked progress considering short term. We had the pleasure of looking over some of the examination papers and found all very good, and some who made a general average of 97 per cent. Miss Wilson through a young teacher puts energy and enthusiasm into her work, and is worthy of the high esteem in which she is held by all here.

At the close of the exercises, which was presented with a beautiful book, a token of affectionate regard, from her pupils.

We are informed that Miss Wilson will return about Feb. 1st, and teach a few weeks subscription school before beginning the spring term. We find the new school house a great improvement, both for comfort and convenience. And are glad to note that the patrons of the school, are taking renewed interests in educational matters.
