

A CASE OF "SOUR GRAPES."

A June Boiter Still Disgruntled, Pessimistic, Throwing the Chaff of the Last Campaign.

In the PLAINDEALER of Dec. 29, 1902, appeared the following editorial: Time was when Mr. Geer was justly popular in this state and stood high in the councils of his party, but that was before his political perjury of the last June campaign, when instead of putting his shoulder to the wheel as did his predecessor, ex-Governor Lord when he failed in getting the renomination, Mr. Geer fell back on the shoulders of the people, and even lent assistance to the opposing forces, if not directly, indirectly, by his inactivity and indifference. It will be remembered that it was Theodore Thurston Geer, who after agreeing to act in the capacity of chairman of the grand republican ratification meeting of state and county candidates near the close of the late campaign, betrayed his friends and political associates, and on the eve of the big ratification, under the pretext that urgent business required his attention at Roseburg, he deserted his friends and co-workers, unexpectedly put in his appearance in this city and while the big Salem ratification was in progress under the directions of a substitute chairman, Mr. Geer sat in the office of the McClallen hotel, swapping yarns with a few of the hotel guests. Now this is the man who, as a logical senatorial candidate, and urged and feigned to expect his election to the United States senate by the republican members of the Oregon legislature at the coming session. He will be set down on good and hard. The people never have and never will sanction such perjury as was displayed by Governor Geer during the late campaign.

AS MR. PERKINS REPLY. A few days later the PLAINDEALER was taken to task as follows by a Mr. W. A. Perkins, of Leona.

EDITOR PLAINDEALER:—I have expected that some one would answer the scurrilous attacks the PLAINDEALER has made on the chief magistrate of the state. In almost any country but this such language as "erstwhile traitor sulking in camp" applied to governor or chief magistrate would be treason. In your issue of Dec. 29th, you say: "Time was when Mr. Geer was justly popular." Pray, when did Mr. Geer become unpopular, it certainly has happened since last June, when forty-five thousand voters of the state endorsed him for United States Senator, while seven thousand republicans were "sulking in camp" on account of the outrage that was perpetrated on the republican party in nominating a democrat on the republican ticket for Governor, when there were a hundred old time republicans in the state, who had helped to build the state, and one of whom should have the honor in preference to a democrat. You further say "he will be set down on good and hard; the people never have and never will sanction such perjury." The people did sanction it in June, to the tune of forty-five thousand. Whom do you call the people? The combination that gained control of the state convention by means not formerly practiced by republicans, of which the proxy-buying outfit who controlled the last county convention was a factor?

W. A. PERKINS. A PERSONAL REPLY. ROSEBURG, JAN. 24, 1903.

Dear Sir: If you could read plain English and then quote it correctly, we might feel disposed to give you space in our paper in justification of your friend Geer, otherwise we beg to be excused in thus polluting our columns. If you can show us wherein we referred to Mr. Geer in our article of recent date as "erstwhile traitor sulking in camp," we will publish your stuff. We have little time for the Geo. E. Chamberlain stripe of republicans, like Geer.

Respectfully, W. C. CONNER. MR. PERKINS GETS HOT UNDER THE COLLAR.

W. C. CONNER: In answer to your caustic and sarcastic criticism of my "stuff" I have to say: I can read plain English and quote it correctly, and also understand the meaning of quite a few English words. I understand that "tent" and "camp" are near enough synonymous to be interchangeable. I quoted you from memory and wrote "camp" instead of "tent." In a recent issue of the PLAINDEALER you will find the expression "erstwhile traitor sulking in his tent." You "have but little time for the Geo. E. Chamberlain stripe of republicans." To my certain knowledge some of that kind of republicans were republicans before you were born—some of them—when it was as much as a man's life was worth to be a republican—and they have been republicans ever since; they are the kind that believe in pure republican principles. Gov. Geer gave the state a good administration, and according to all precedents was entitled to a renomination, but the self-conceited leaders of the party turned him down, and the result was that the people doubly resented their action at the polls.

It is commendable in you to wish to pollute your columns by publishing my "stuff." This polluting business had slipped your memory when you called the Governor of the great State of Oregon an "erstwhile traitor sulking in his tent" hadn't it? W. A. PERKINS.

Here we have another aggravated case of "sour grapes." One of the has-been honored time and again by the republican party, with which he stood solidly so long as he was kept in office and party councils, but like a few other unappreciative politicians, just so soon as his administration is ended and other worthy members of the party are brought into the council and given their turn at the pie counter, then the former at once begins to manifest his base ingratitude by becoming indifferent, disgruntled and pessimistic. Soon a disposition is shown to create dissension in the party and ere long the ticket is bolted and former friends and colleagues are openly opposed and betrayed to the enemy.

During the four years which the junior editor has been connected with this paper, this very loyal, old time republican, Mr. W. A. Perkins, has never contributed one nickel to the support of this paper, has not even been a subscriber, nor is he a subscriber today, but must borrow a friend or neighbor's paper to find something to criticize. During this period of time he has contributed little if anything in the way of time or money in behalf of republic-lean success in this county, but on the other hand has contributed freely to the success of the opposition. He is a subscriber to the democratic county organ, and has extended its exclusive advertising and printing patronage for these many years. Now, this is the man who would dictate the policy of the PLAINDEALER and the republican party of this county. Fortunately Douglas county republicanism is cursed with but few such disconcerted individuals.
