Niagara is Dry.

The American falls is practically dry and for the first time in 55 years people are able to walk about in the river bed. Thousands have clamored over the rocks hunting for relics and souvenirs. Great rocks never before seen are high and dry. So little water is flowing over the American falls that men in high boots almost could have crossed at the brink. The extraordinary condition is due to an ice jam up the river. The ice was driven from Lake Erie into the entrance to the Niagara and lodged in the shoalwater, shutting off the flow into the American channel. The Horseshoe Fall is not affected as much as the American. The river in the vicinity of the Three Sister Islands is quite dry and the center falls, between Goat and Lana Islands, is a skeleton of itself. The condition is likely to exist for several days.

America Rule Humanity.

"Long before the end of the twentieth century the United States and the American people will be the rulers of human affairs," says Lazare-Weller of Paris. This prophetic statement is contained in a book about to be published, entitled "Great Ideals of Great People," embodying his impressions of the United States, formed during his visit last year. "The old world," he continues, "might as well accept the truth of Gladstone's prophecy, uttered in 1878 regarding the predominant role awaiting the people of America, who, with the slightest effort and by simple, rational development of their facilities, are shortly destined to assume the task of guiding humanity." Weller's book is already being translated for publication in New York.

Where is Mrs. Patten.

Roseburg, Or., March 20.—A man giving his name as J. E. Patten and his residence as Palmer, Or., has been in this city for the past three days looking for his wife, who, he asserts, came to this city last December to visit her mother, Mrs. A. L. Mosher, who she said was seriously ill at the home of Mrs. Patten's grandfather, Mr. Wright, who was supposed to reside in Roseburg. Patten says his wife, whose former name was Stella Grace, left him last December, after a marriage of 18 days, to visit her mother here, and since that time he has not heard from her. Mrs. Patten was a former charge of the Boys and Girls' Aid Society in Portland, having been committed to that institution from Coos County some four years ago. She met Patten at the home of his cousin, when she was living in Portland, and after their marriage they went to Palmer. He cannot understand why she does not communicate with him. Patten visited several families of Wrights in this city, but could not gain any knowledge of the whereabouts of his wife, so he decided to return to his home and await results.—Portland Telegram.

They Were Dear Deer Skins.

Last week Will Colebrook came to town with his team after a load of provisions. He brought up from Euchre Creek a box of freight for shipment to San Francisco. The box was the property of Charles Neal, and was consigned to a firm in the city. It was put in the warehouse along with other freight awaiting shipment. Some suspicious person opened the box and it contained deerkins. A warrant was issued and served on Mr. Neal by Constable Linberg charging him with having deerkins in his possession and offering the same for sale. Mr. Neal will have a hearing today. Last Sunday night the warehouse door was broken open and the deerkins taken out and dumped into the ocean. The staple on the door had been drawn after considerable labor on the part of the culprit. Although the warehouse contained several tons of freight, so far as can be ascertained, nothing else is missing.—Portland Tribune.

Creamery at Medford.

Medford's creamery is now a certainty for Mr. Gaddis has begun active operations on his creamery. He has bought a lot of Daniel Reynolds on a street one block north of Seventh street and is now having the earth removed preparatory to putting in a basement, the scraping for which is being done by S. G. Edwards. The basement will be 24x30 feet, with stone walls and a cement floor. Over the basement a wooden structure will be erected, which will be used for offices and other purposes. The entire butter making plant will be in the basement where the temperature can be kept uniform, the walls of the building being made thick for that purpose. The plant will embrace the latest and the best butter making machinery and will be of a capacity to handle the milk from 1200 cows. The creamery will be under the direct charge of G. S. Parsons recently from Hutchinson, a town in one of the great dairying districts of Minnesota. Mr. Parsons is a bright, energetic appearing young man, and he brings creditable ability as a first-class butter maker. Mr. Parsons has done nothing but creamery work since his boyhood days and there is every assurance that under his management the Medford creamery will attain a reputation equal to that of the best creamery in the state for the fine quality of butter manufactured.—Medford Success.

A TERRIBLE CRIME

A Frenzied Mother Murders her Four Little Children.

A press dispatch of March 23, from Sturbridge, Mass., says:
A frenzied mother in the little hamlet of Fiskdale, after cutting off every means of escape by fastening windows and doors, crushed in the heads of her four little children today, threw their bodies into a closet, scattered oil over them and herself and then, after setting all on fire, closed her awful work and her own life by cutting her throat. It was Mrs. Peter Burke, the wife of a machinist in an anger factory, who committed the fearful deed, and her victims were: Lilla, 6 years old; William, 5 years old; Louise, 1 1/2 years old, and May Rose, 5 months old, respectively.

That the woman had previously shown signs of mental derangement seems to be admitted; but that it should have taken such a violent form was not even thought of by her husband or her relatives.

But for the accidental discovery of the fire the deed of the mother might have been hidden forever from the world by the destruction of the house. Two boys happened to be passing the house when they saw smoke coming from a window. They burst in the doors and tried first to put the fire out with buckets of water, but it gained on them so fast that they were obliged to run for help. The neighbors prevented the flames from reaching above the first floor. Up to that time no one knew of the tragedy. But some one noticed that a closet door was open, and, glancing inside, saw a blackened mass. In this heap were the bodies of Mrs. Burke and her four children. The fact that she killed them was not disclosed until one by one they were taken out and then it was seen that every one of the little ones had its head split open, while the cause of the mother's death was seen in the gaping wound in her throat.

From the appearance and the position of the bodies it would seem as if Mrs. Burke had first cut off every means of escape for the little ones by nailing down the windows and locking all the doors. The weapon with which she crushed out the life of her first offspring was a large hammer. It appeared as if the eldest, Lilla, met death first, for her body was at the bottom of the pile. That of William, the next oldest, was above his sister, then came that of Louise, and finally the baby. Mrs. Burke must have dragged all the children into the closet and then poured kerosene upon their clothing, about the walls and upon herself.

The fire had so completely charred the woodwork and the floor that no blood spots could be found. The bodies of three of the children were burned almost beyond recognition, but that of Louise was only scorched. The body of Mrs. Burke also was badly burned. As soon as the fire was discovered in the house, Mr. Burke was notified and he arrived just as the bodies were found. He fainted from the shock.

Mrs. Burke was 34 years of age. The family friends say the union has always been a happy one.

General News Notes.

President Roosevelt has named one of the new 12,000 ton battle-ships Idaho, in honor to Senator Heyburn, who he has taken such a liking to. We suppose he will name one Broker T. Washington, and another "Colored Gentleman" on account of his great affection and brotherly love for them.

T. A. Hood, a carpenter, was probably fatally injured at Grants Pass Monday. He was assisting in the raising of a smoke-stack for the Williams Bros. factory, when the chain by which the stack was being swung gave away allowing it to fall. In falling it struck Hood on the head crushing it badly.

At Detroit one day last week a bar of gold weighing 80 pounds was stolen from the express office. There were four bars loaded on a truck in the express office and in full view of officials and employees and one mysteriously disappeared. The value of the missing ingot is $25,500.

A powder explosion in the Kincaid coalmine at Athens Ill., occurred early Monday morning. While it is reported that six lives were lost, it is believed that many other miners employed in deeper workings have lost their lives. There is no way of communicating with the men should they be alive as the sole shaft into the mine is wrecked, also the machinery for forcing fresh air into the workings.

Mrs. Emma B. Hawkins, well known in Ashland as Emma Gabbush, was found dead in her room at 620 Geary street, San Francisco, Saturday morning, with the apartment filled with escaping gas from an open fixture in the room. The San Francisco press pronounced the case as one of suicide, but the grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Auguste Gabbush, of this city, cannot bring herself to believe that her light-hearted daughter intentionally made away with herself.—Ashland Tidings.

The Ashwood Prospector says: The snow storm of last week was very severe on the steepness of this locality and some considerable losses have been reported. Hay has been very scarce, in fact, is not to be obtained at any price and a number of stockmen have been compelled to feed grain. While the winter has not been a very cold one, it has been unusually hard on the stockmen, owing to the length of time they have been compelled to feed.

It is learned from an authoritative source, says the Vienna correspondent of the Herald, that the former Crown Princess Louise of Tuscany, with honors due a royal highness. Her father, as Grand Duke of Tuscany, has the prerogative of granting titles, and has conferred this one upon his daughter with the consent of the Emperor. It is said that the King of Saxony's manifesto caused an unpleasant sensation at the Grand Ducal court, and that a reply, formerly protesting against some expressions has been drawn up, and is now on its way to Dresden. The Allgemeine Zeitung announces that Princess Louise also is about to publish a reply to the manifesto.

JAMES WILL BE "BOSS."

All Prison Appointments to be Made By Superintendent.

SALEM, March 23.—"All subordinate appointments at the State Prison will be made by the Superintendent, and I shall not even make a recommendation," said Governor Chamberlain today, when asked what is to be done about appointments when G. W. James, of Baker City, takes charge of the penitentiary April 1. There has been some speculation as to the changes that are likely to take place, but no one seems to know what will occur in that regard. Quite naturally, it is presumed that some good Republicans will step down and out, and that some good Democrats will step up and in.

"I thought when I was elected," continued Governor Chamberlain, that I would name the subordinate officers and employees, and believed that it would be proper and best for me to do so. But I have changed my mind. After studying the matter it is clear to me that the Superintendent of the institution should have complete control, and should be held responsible for the management of the institution. I shall not interfere with Mr. James in any way in the selection of guards and other employees. He shall have full power in both the selection and discharge of his subordinates. My relation to the institution will be that of an inspector who examines the work that is being done. I intend to be free to "kick" if things don't go to suit me, and the "kick" will be at the Superintendent. If I were to make the appointments, the Superintendent could not be justly held responsible for the management. When he has the power of appointment, he cannot evade the responsibility. In an institution of that kind, where discipline is an all-important requirement, there must be a responsible head."
