BASE BALL AFFAIRS.

Sometime ago unknown to the players or any of the patrons of the game who have to stand behind the players and furnish the sinews of war if any are needed, C. S. Jackson and J. H. Hamlin entered into a contract with W. S. Hamilton to lease for a term of six years a block of ground in South Roseburg. Now in order to fit up the grounds and build a good tight fence around the block of land, it was necessary that money be used, so the gentlemen entered into a deal whereby they borrowed from Mr. Hamilton five hundred dollars to fix up the grounds. Now for fear that there might be a possible deficit in the net receipts to be managed by C. S. Jackson a legal document was drawn up and circulated in which it is stipulated that if the managagement of the base ball groungs did not pay expenses that thirty or more business men would back up the deficit to the amount of $750, in $25 payments it total by each signor. In this agreement the business men supposed that they were signing for a public enterprise and not to stand at the back of a private speculation which in effect was like the old saying, "heads I win, tails you lose." After the guarantee had been signed up and the three gentlemen had arranged all details the base ball players were asked to sign with the firm of Jackson & Co., and two or three did, but when it was known by the boys how the matter stood they refused to sign and several who had repudiated the action taken. A public meeting was called and as a result the Roseburg Base Ball Club was organized and the directors were instructed to effect a compromise so that the city would only have one team. When the directors met the other side in consultation or compromise every proposition was promptly rejected.

While this was going on Jackson et al attempted to enjoin the entrance of the Roseburg team into the Willamette League and at the same time they were attempting to get up a League in opposition to the Willamette Valley League. Their protest and injunction proceedings were promptly set down on in a very drastic manner, And it is up to the enterprising business men and citizen of Roseburg to see if they will support the Roseburg Base Ball Club or not. The Roseburg Base Ball Club will have grounds either in the Kinney addition or in West Roseburg and have the ocation under advertisement at the time of writing. The Roseburg boys are say that under no condition will they play under him either as captain or manager.

Since the above was in type and in the form a compromise has been reached. The Roseburg Base Ball Club is to pay $100 for the use of the Jackson grounds for one year and to control and use their own gate receipts.

THE VERY LATEST.

We stop the press to say Jackson et al again violated the agreement as made above and have just made the following new one: The Roseburg Base Ball Club is to have exclusive control of the grounds every alternate Friday, Saturday and Sunday and are to pay 15 per cent of the gate receipts. The Jackson Sprats will have exclusive control of the ground every other Friday, Saturday and Sunday, this agreement to go in force May 8. The Roseburg Reds and the Jackson Sprats will practice together until further notice: and now is the time for our business men to reward honest effort to have a base ball team of credit to the town and for the town instead of a sleight-of-hand, sculdugging graft.

A Kalama rooster has four legs. He should be able to crow twice at once.—Eugene Register.

Better still he ought to be able to lay "rashers of bacon."

"Lincoln county's friend" is the way the Toledo Leader speaks of Hon. Binger Hermann. Every coast county appreciates the work done by Binger and they want him back in congress where he can accomplish more toward securing appropriations for rivers and harbors than any other man who ever sat in the house.—Eugene Register.

The Democratic papers of the first Congressional district want to impress upon the mental vision of the dear people the wondrous beauty of their standard bearer. The Republicans have no need to print a "beauty struck" of Hon. Binger Hermann for his photograph has been printed on the hearts of the people of this district so long by the good deeds done for the advancement of the state that it is impossible to erase the photograph if the individual desired to do so. But come to think of it, from what public institution was the picture supposed to represent the Hon. A. E. Reames filched?

This is a day of great and mighty combines, and also of great and mighty strikes. Even the school children in St. Louis organized a union, and actually struck for shorter hours. Things got so hot that the principal of the public school had to call to his assistance, the mayor, the chief of police, and the trustees, and they in turn called a meeting of the mothers. At this meeting each mother was furnished with one dozen second growth hickory switches two feet in length, armed with these awful weapons of warfare, and supported by the strong and mighty right arm they charged the strickers and beat and lambasted promiscuoisly. The strickers presented a stubborn, bold and unbroken front. The mothers charged under the brave and gallant leadership of some elderly dame who had probably a half dozen kids among the army before them. The battle cry of the mothers was right, and a good switch, is might. The battle raged furiously for a time, and the war cry of the mothers and the heart rending screems of the kids, were partially drownded by the rapid and heavy following of the ends of broken switches. After the battle was over and the dead and wounded removed, there were three cart loads of broken switches picked up. There is many a bright and promising lad of St. Louis who now prefers to eat his breakfast in the kitchen and don't bother his mother to bring him a chair either.

Big I Portland Again.

The Evening Telegram of Tuesday's date says:

"The preparation of a memorial sword by the people of Oregon for presentation to Rear-Admiral Clark, now stationed at Philadelphia, has hung fire so long that its beginning is, to some, buried in the dim past.

Some revival of news interest will therefore be felt in the announcement that the last will be heard of the Clark sword The famous commander of the battleship Oregon cannot come out to Portland to receive the gift of the patriotic people of the state and it was today decided by a committe in charge of the sword that it was impracticable at this time to send a delegation to Philadelphia to present the sword to the Admiral.

The conclusion reached is to write him a nice letter, signed by Governor Chamberlain, on behalf of the people of the state—not the state particularly, for the reason the state did not subscribe—and ship the elegant testimonial by express, charges prepaid. This is not as dignified as some of the trustees would like to have it, but there is no better plan suggested as yet.

A committee meeting this morning was attended by Messrs. Ainsworth, Hawkins, Hopkins, Mitchell and Bowers. The idea of sending the sword to the Admiral with a letter before the matter drifted longer was approved by all. Governor Chamberlain was seen and he said that he would be pleased to write the letter.

The sword will be shipped within the next few days and Colonel "Bob" Mitchell says that if things turn out well later on he will try to get Admiral Clark to come to Portland July 3, the anniversary of the battle in which the namesake of Oregon took such a leading part, and it may be that the Oregon's commander will be one of the prolonged Fourth of July attractions this Summer."

There must be a slight mistake somewhere for subscriptions were taken up over the state and sent to Portland. Roseburg contributed over $50 to the fund for we saw the list and this paper paid $2.50, so we know the Telegram's statement to be slightly off the base. As Roseburg's contribution was sent to Portland who stole the money?

"The Jews are preserving the home and family better than we Christians are doing. I do not know how to account for this, but I do know it to be a fact."

Bishop Satterlee of the Episcopal Church made this declaration in a sermon at Washington last Sunday night, in which the main subject was divorce. Men, said the Bishop, were losing their respect for the family. On the shoulders of the husband and fathers of the land, he contined, rested the responsibility for the low state to which the family had fallen in this country. They fostered and encouraged the greatest curse of the age—divorce—and the loose manner in which the sacred marriage vows were being kept.

"The great evil—the most frightful danger—of our age is divorce and the breaking down of the family institution," said the Bishop. "If it is not stopped the women of this country and our race will be degraded within fifty years."

Outlaw McKinney Killed.

"Just watch me. Tracy won't be in it when I get throu[illegible] killing people."

These were the words uttered nine months ago at Porterville by James McKinney, four times a murderer and one of the most resourceful and desperate criminals that ever compelled the attention and baffled the efforts of law officers in California, who is dead at Bakersfield. The manslaying outlaw, for whom a dozen posses of Sheriffs and deputies searched fruitlessly for months in the fastnesses of the southern part of the State, was killed in a battle with his pursuers about 11 o'clock Sunday morning at Bakersfield, Calif. The final battle took place at a Chinese lodging house, in which McKinney and Al Hulse, a former convict, had been secreted for several days. Deputy Sheriff William E. Tibbet was killed in the terrible conflict and City Marshal T. J. Packard received what is thought to be a dangerous wound. The outlaw's life was ended by a charge of buckshot from the gun of Burt Tbibet, brother of the murdered deputy. Hulse is in jail and may be lynched.

There are four murders laid to McKinneys red hands which are known viz.

Thomas Sayers, Bakersfield resident, December 14, 1900.

William Lynn, Porterville resident, July 27, 1902.

Charles Blakey, Arizona cowboy, April 5, 1903.

Roy Winchester, Arizona miner, April 15, 1903.

Beside these are reports of assassinations committed in Arizona and Western New Mexico.

I. O. O. F.

Next Sunday, April, 26th, being the 84th, anniversary of the founding, of the I. O. O. F. Rev. A Douglas has accepted an invitation of the local Lodges to preach a sermon, appropriate to the occasion at the Baptist church in Roseburg, at 11 o'clock A. M. on that date. The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs' will meet at the Hall at 10 o'clock.

FIRE IN WEST ROSEBURG.

J. F. Barker's Residence Totally Destroyed.

Alva Bellows' Residence Damaged.

At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon it was discovered that the home of J. F. Barker, in West Roseburg, was on fire. The alarm was sounded and the hook and ladder brigade responded, although it was out of their limit.

The fire started in the northwest corner of the building, in the kitchen flue, which must have been defective, and as there was no one at home, Mrs. Barker being at Mrs. Fullerton's, the fire had gained considerable headway on the inside before it was noticed.

There were but a few men in the neighborhood, and those, assisted by the women, did some good work, byt he way in which they carried out the things in Mr. Barker's house. The work was done in a cool, but fast, way, there being none of that hot-headed, excited manner which is so often seen around a fire. Mr. Barker's house was pretty much cleaned of furniture and fixtures, even to the carpets, mantels, window shades and chandeliers.

The fire fighters seeing that it was impossible to save Mr. Barker's house, owing to the fact that there was so little water, and having about everything out, turned their attention to Mr. Bellows' house, which stood less than 30 feet away, and here was done some of the finest fire-fighting that anybody ever saw. There was a regular bucket brigade formed which worked like clock work. Those on the roof stood the awful heat and poured water on the roof. Time after time the house took fire and was extinguished. The whole west side of the Bellows house which was next to the fire was charred, and men would run between the two buildings to throw water, and "it was so hot that hell would have felt like a cold storage house beside it," said one of the boys who assisted in fighting the fire.

There was no one injured other than having some few little burns on their faces, except Sam Josephson, who had the misfortune to burn his hand and wrist very badly. The loss to the Bellows residence is estimated at about $250, which will be covered by insurance. Mr. Barker's loss is in total about $4,500 wiih $3,500 insurance.

Cold Weather Retards Crops.

The Weather Bureau dated at Washington, April 22d, in a bulletin says:

"In the states of the Upper Missouri Valley the week ending April 20, was milder than usual, and generally favorable for farming operations; but elsewhere east of the Rockies the temperature was much below the average, and excessive rains retarded farm work generally throughout the Atlantic Coast districts, Ohio Valley, and the southern portion of the Lake region. The Central and West Gulf States, and portions of the Southeast Rocky Mountain slopes are much in need of rain.

On the Pacific Coast cool weather has retarded growth, and frosts have caused considerable injury in Oregon. Southern California Coast districts have received heavy rains, insuring an abundance of irrigation water. The previously reported excellent condition of Winter wheat in the principal Winter-wheat states continues unimpaired, excepting to a slight extent in portions of the Upper Ohio Valley, where in some localities it is turning yellow. Seeding of Spring wheat is general in all parts of the Spring-wheat region, but progress has not been rapid in Southeastern Minnesota, owing to wet soil. On the North Pacific Coast Spring wheat seeding is much delayed. Although frosts of the 18th caused further injury to fruit in the Upper Ohio Valley, the reports generally, excepting those respecting peaches, are somewhat more encouraging than those of the preceding week. Apples appear to have escaped injury in New England and the Middle Atlantic States. In California, fruit is mostly in good condition, having sustained less injury by frost than was estimated. Considerable early fruit has been injured by early frost in Oregon, but in Washington the cool weather has kept buds in check, and little or no injury has resulted in that state."

Piano Buyers.

You will notice that we do not have to be continually striking out for a new make of Pianos. The Needham has been our leader for 14 years and is today a leader among the high grade pianos of the world. Some cheap pianos are made high grade simply by getting a boost in the Oregonian or some other leading paper, through those big dealers who think they can, and do make the majority of people believe it simply because they say so. It doesn't take ink, boost or high commissions to make a good piano, but instead the very best mechanics, and the very best material such as are always used in Needham pianos.

How Much Did it Cost?

On Monday in New York City, Justice Giegerich in the supreme court signed an order permitting Wm. K. Vanderbilt to marry again. The order modifies the decree obtained by Mrs. Alva E. Vanderbilt in 1895, by which Mr. Vanderbilt was forbidden to marry within the life of his divorced wife. Application for the order was supported by affidavits made by the United States senator, Depew, and E. V. W. Rossiter, and sets forth the fact that Vanderbilt is now in Paris and that he is desirous of forthwith contracting another marriage.

His Head Was Not Sore.

Black eyes, bruised heads and scarred faces only half tell the story of the result of an effort to initiate a farmer into the antihorsethief association at a country schoolhouse near Sedan, Kansas, last Saturday. On account of the popularity of the candidate there was more than the usual attendance at the meeting. The candidate was blindfolded and seated in a tin-bottomed chair. Then one of the "degree teams" took a coal-oil lamp and slipped it under the chair. The candidate had too much grit to squirm. He stood it as long as he could. Then he jerked off his blind and grabbed the chair and started in on the "brethren." He knocked five down and smashed the chair in the effort. Then he started out of the door and met an incoming "brother," who was pounded until the blood ran, for asking what the trouble was. The lodge then adjourned without motion, and sine die.

Salem Will Join League.

At last the baseball enthusiasts of this city have awakened, and it is now safe to say that the Salem lovers of the National game will have the opportunity of witnessing some excellent contests during the coming season. A meeting was held yesterday afternoon by a number of representative young business men for the purpose of taking steps toward the organization of a baseball club, and as a result of the meeting an application was forwarded to President G. Marvin Turner, of Albany, for admission to the Willamette Valley Baseball League. The league, which was organized at Eugene on last Saturday evening, so far consists of clubs from Roseburg, Eugene and Albany. G. Marvin Turner was elected president of the league; I. Gibson, of Roseburg, secretary, and A. Hampton, of Eugene, treasurer. The management of the league have been anxious to include Salem in the circuit, and Secretary Gibson visited this city during the first part of this week for the purpose of creating an interest in the matter among Salem baseball enthusiasts. At the meeting held yesterday George Snyder was chosen as temporary chairman, and Ira Hamilton acted as secretary. It was stated at this meeting that a number of Salem's business men had signified their willingness to contribute liberally toward the organization of a club in this city, and now, since the matter has taken active form, the business men and lovers of the game in general will no doubt take an interest in the project and lend substantial aid to the proposed organization.

Salem has some of the best material in the state from which to pick a winning team, and such a team would be an excellent advertisement for the Capital City. The Salem Light, Power & Traction Company have offered to prepare and furnish suitable grounds, and everything looks favorable for the successful termination of the movement inaugurated.—Statesmen.

What Will the End Be?

Fourteen large saw mill firms being practically all of the firms selling lumber in Portland have issued an ultimatum to the building trade Unions of Portland and decline to sell another foot of lumber until the various strikes affecting the contractors are settled. This proceeding means that the manufacturers of lumber are afraid of financial loss and a shut down of all the labor unions will be forced so as to terminate the strikes just as quickly as possible. This scheme will have the effect of setting the various labor Unions in antagonism to each other as the Unions without grievances will not want to be made to suffer with the men who claim to have grievances. Several thousand men in total will be without employment before this week ends.
