For Congressman, First District

HON. BINGER HERMANN
Republican Nominee
Special Election June 1, 1903.

The Medford Mail says: "Our Democratic brethren seem to rely for success in the coming congressional election on stay-at-home Republicans and friends of defeated candidates for the nomination turning against Mr. Hermann. We believe they are reckoning without their host in this matter. The Republicans of the first congressional district have always been in the habit of fighting lustily in the convention, and, however the contest might terminate, standing shoulder to shoulder in support of the ticket during the campaign. This congressional election comprises other things than the voicing of personal opinions or the satisfaction of private grudges. It involves the endorsement or non-endorsement of the Republicans of this district by Republican principles and the administration of such by the present executive and congress. The assertion that the election of Mr. Hermann will be construed as a rebuke to the administration is without foundation. The election of Mr. Reames would be more of a 'slap in the face' to the administration. Already Oregon is classed in the estimates of eastern papers on the presidential vote next year among the 'doubtful states,' all on account of the vote in the state election on governor last June. The voters of this district do not want to give further reasons for classing this state further than solidly Republican, and the vote for congressman on the 1st of June will show that the first district is Republican by a good, heavy majority.

The democratic papers of the First Congressional district want to impress upon the people the fable that their candidate, Reames, if elected, would have a tremendous power and influence in Congress. He is on the dogmatic side of the political log to cut any figure or to have any weight or influence. Just at this time we need a man who is thoroughly acquainted with legislative methods and one who would not be afraid to speak out in meeting. A republican would have ten times more weight with a republican administration than a democrat could possibly have, and the only man in Oregon who thoroughly knows all the ins and outs of Land Office affairs is Binger Hermann. Get ready to rally up the vote.

It was a great stab for notoriety the democratic managers of the congressional committee made when they called Hermann for a joint canvass. This was simply a "bellow" to let people know that the untried had a management and also to create the impression that the great and only Sam was "doing things." It was a smooth dodge to secure an audience and the republican managers acted wisely in refusing to accept the baiter; of this imported aggregation.—Junction City Times.

Former Roseburger in Trouble.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Constable Brown, of Dunsuir, is on his way to this city with warrants against Thomas G. Dabney, now under arrest here for grand larceny. The prisoner was formerly a switchman employed by the Southern Pacific Company at this point and through the ingenuity of special officers of the railroad company he was apprehended, having concealed in his apartments a large amount of jewelry and other articles, which were subsequently identified as having been stolen from the trainmaster's office in Dunsuir.

During the hubbub at the recent big fire which consumed the business portion of the town, many citizens lent a helping hand in removing the property to places of safety. Several apparently sympathetic townspeople, among them Dabney, helped move a large showcase from the store of J. C. Wilson, containing jewelry of various descriptions, to the trainmaster's office for safe keeping. The railroad people and Jeweler Wilson are determined to prosecute him to the full extent of the law. Dabney will be brought to Yreka, the county seat of Siskiyou County, for trial.

Mr. Dabney is well known in Roseburg being a son-in-law of Harvey Jones, of this city. He was employed in the yards here for some time, and has many friends here who believe that Mr. Dabney will be proved innocent. A peculiar coincidence of the affair is that the accused and the man Wilson, who lost the property, are both former Roseburg residents.

F. T. Gettings of the Oregon Boom Company, arrived in this city last Tuesday, from a visit with friends in the East. Mr. Gettings informs us that Mr. Blakely has been quite sick and is at present unable to attempt the trip to this coast, but it is expected that he will arrive here the latter part of this month. Mr. Gettings says that the operations of his company will be resumed immediately.

MYRTLE POINT STAGE ROBBED
Passengers Relieved of About $132
—Watches Returned.
Again the Myrtle Point-Roseburg stage was held up and the passengers robbed near the summit of Hoover Hill about nine o'clock, Tuesday night, J. A. Sawyer, driver. Mr. Sawyer says he is becoming quite accustomed to hold-ups, as it was his stage that was robbed near the same spot a few months ago. The U. S. mail and the passengers' baggage were not molested, but the passengers, F. J. Lee, of Cylon, Wis., Wm. McGrath, of New Richmond, Wis., and H. H. Scovel, a traveling man from San Francisco, contributed about $132 to the highwaymen. All were through passengers from Myrtle Point. Mr. Scovel, when seen by a PLAINDALE representative yesterday, refused to give a detail account of the hold-up to the reporter as he said he was not looking for notoriety, but as we overheard him later telling his story to a crowd of traveling men, he reminded us of the Irishman who had just been married and was telling all his friends the secret, but making them all promise not to tell, so he could tell all the news himself. Mr. McGrath was not so shy and gave out the following account:

"We were driving slowly along, when we saw a man enter the road and stop just ahead of us. We thought nothing of this as people had been stopping the stage all day to mail packages and letters, but when we were ordered to stop at the point of a nickel plated pistol held by a man with a handkerchief tied across his face for a mask, things began to look different. The robber ordered all to dismount, which we did, and stood lined up in the road; then he called to his partner, who emerged from the thicket and commenced to search us. He secured $140 from Mr. Scovel, besides his watch and chain. Mr. Lee lost $5 and I am out $7.50. The robbers returned the watches and gave me back $1.50 and Mr. Lee a dollar, when we told him that we had a dollar and by mistake he handed him a twenty-dollar piece. The driver was relieved of his gun, one of the robbers telling him that he (the robber) needed it worse than any stage-driver, because a gun is a bad thing for a boy to play with. During the hold-up both robbers kept up a hot fire of conversation. All were ordered back into the rig, the highwaymen disappearing, and the stage came on to Roseburg."

Mr. McGrath is of the opinion that the highwaymen were notified by telephone from Myrtle Point that Mr. Scovel was aboard and had considerable money with him, as just before the stage left Myrtle Point Mr. Scovel had some money changed and displayed his purse of gold, and it was observed that Scovel was more thoroughly searched than any of the other passengers, as both carried in their hip pockets money and bills which were not touched.

Sheriff Parrott, with a number of deputies is at present at Olalla and in the vicinity of the hold-up, and it is probable that some arrests will be made, as at the last hold-up there was suspicion of a certain resident of that vicinity, but the evidence was not strong enough to warrant an arrest, but this time every clue will be followed out. The man who stopped the stage is described by the passengers as being about 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighing close to 160 pounds. His partner is not over 5 feet 8 inches tall, but weighs about 170 pounds. No accurate mental memorandum of the clothes worn by the men was taken, although it was moonlight at the time.

Fell and Fractured His Skull.
Last week, the body of Mr. Blackwell, quite an old man, was found in the waters of a slough which emptied into Smith river a few miles from Gardiner. The supposition was that he had met his death by drowning, but, upon examination, it was discovered that the skull of the dead man had sustained a fracture, and the conclusion arrived at was that he had fallen from a floodgate which he was building, struck his head on a board, and fallen ten feet further into deep water, and that the death of the old man was due, not to drowning, but to the wound received on his head.

Mr. Blackwell leaves two daughters, Mrs. Harding, living near Yoncalla, and Miss Grace Blackwell. The news of the death of their father is a sad shock to them, as it is to many sympathizing friends, and friends of the deceased man.

Railroad Employees Reduced.
At Grants Pass the Southern Pacific Company is following out the same sweeping policy in the matter of reducing the number of workmen employed as is being done all along the line. A number of idle railroad men are now in Grants Pass, walking the streets and wondering what to do. The bridge crews, trestle crews, section crews and machinists have all been reduced one-half. The bridge crews that have been kept continually north of here in the mountain division of the road between Grants Pass and Roseburg, and which have consisted of five carpenters and five helpers, have been reduced to five men. Section crews that have been composed of six men each have been reduced to three men, only the boss and two helpers being retained, which the men themselves claim is not enough to do the heavy work necessary to be done, with any degree of efficiency. Other reductions in the number of common workmen employed have been made along the line, where large crews have been employed in bridge and road repairing. Word is received from North California that 40 or more men have been let out in Dunsuir, and that the same policy in the matter of cutting down the section and bridge crews will be followed down there as has been here.

The lay-off is supposed to be due to the general labor trouble now going on over the country and also to the fact that the men on the Southern Pacific were about to demand higher wages.

Mitchell and Hofer for Hermann—Too Much Talk about Land Matters May Prove Boomerang

(From the Oregonian.)
PORTLAND, April 30.—(To the Editor.) As a democrat I would prefer to see elected to congress a democratic representative from the First District, but I wish to warn the democrats of that district that if they depend upon the defeat of Binger Hermann because of his record as Commissioner of the General Land Office, they will find it in the nature of a boomerang—of course not against the democratic nominee. As an old man I have carefully watched the differences between Secretary Hitchcock and Commissioner Hermann, and I am yet to find other than mere allegations, anything reflecting upon Mr. Hermann's honor, integrity or ability as head of the Land Service of the Government.

It has been exploited in the newspapers that people from the East have been allowed to take up land under the timber and stone act. If anyone will read the timber and stone act he will find that no citizen is excluded from taking up and paying for lands under that act no more than if a citizen of Oregon should go to Maine and buy goods from the shelf. The timber and stone act has been open to abuse, but abuse that the Commissioner is powerless to prevent. The law is plain, and it amounts to an advertisement that the timber and stone lands of the Government are for sale. The alleged friends of United States Commissioners in connection with proofs, should not have any effect upon the executive duties of the Commissioner of the General Land Office. I am conversant with many of Mr. Hermann's rulings as Commissioner, and am yet to find one that was not based upon a clear knowledge of the law and common sense.

I am an Oregonian, and cannot forget that Mr. Hermann as a member of the committee on rivers and harbors did valiant service for the state. Mr. Hitchcock is a polished gentleman. The difference between him and Mr. Hermann indicates to my mind a desire to pose as a reformer. They are both republicans, and, as a democrat, I would like to see the fight go on, but the services of Commissioner Hermann, I think, are equal if not superior to those of Mr. Hitchcock. I am speaking simply in the interest of Oregon.

Here and There.
The common everyday names for microbes, bacteria and the other unpronounceable names used in connection with contaminated milk is just simply "dirt".

The head office of the American Hereford Breeders' Association has been moved from Chicago to Kansas City, Mo. Secretary Thomas says this move is made to conform to the wishes of a majority of the members of the association.

Some farmers never read agricultural literature of any kind. It is easy enough to tell what kind of farmers these are. Can a lawyer who never reads law be successful at the bar? Can a physician who reads no medical books or papers expect any but fools for patients? The farmer who never reads about farming is the only man who, the less he knows about his business the better he can prosecute it—in his imagination.

Learning to farm is like learning to do anything else—one must have the facilities for learning, says the Texas Farm & Ranch. The schoolboy must have his text books, maps, globes, blackboards and teachers, otherwise his progress will be slow and his education a serious disappointment. If one undertakes to learn a trade, shoemaking, tailoring, carpentering or blacksmithing, and evolve his technology from his minor consciousness and main strength, he will never become eminent or successful in his chosen avocation. He must have competent tutors, appropriate material and proper tools. If he would be a master in his trade he must be grounded more or less in the scientific principles that underlie his work. If a man assumes that because he was born on a farm, and has long worked upon the soil, just as his father's nudes have, that he is fully competent to conduct agricultural operations, and can farm as well as anybody else, only sad experience will show him his error. Farming really requires more technical learning than any of the callings above mentioned, for there is not a natural science, from geology that he cannot put to a profitable use in farming. Botany is the science of plants. Can he know too much about plants? Zoology is the science of animals. Can a man know too much about horses, cattle,

To the Editor: My attention has been called to the fact that in Western Oregon the foliage of the fruit trees has been injured by application of the soda arsenic spray, prepared as per formula in bulletin of State Board of Horticulture. This undoubtedly was owing to the soft condition of leaf tissues from an excess of moisture as similar results do not occur in our dryer climate.

In view of this fact, I would recommend to orchardists in Western Oregon, to use one pint instead of one and a half pint, of the arsenite of soda to 50 gallons of lime water and the material will be of sufficient strength to do effective work. F. L. Soren, President Ore. State Board of Hort. Hood River, Oregon.

DIED.
VANBUREN. Ivy Flowers VanBuren expired at the Portland Sanitarium, Monday, May 4, 1903, at five o'clock, after a lingering illness due to unfavorable condition of stomach arising from dietary treatment after an operation.

Some nine weeks ago, Miss VanBuren entered the Sanitarium for the purpose of taking treatment to reduce her flesh. It was found necessary for her to undergo an operation, from which she never recovered. The news of the death of this well-known young woman caused a surprising shock to the many friends of the family in this city, as up to the time of her death most favorable reports had been received here of her condition. Miss Ivy was a young lady who enjoyed a large number of acquaintances among the younger people as well as the older people of this city, where she was born and raised, and will be missed by the circle of those intimate acquaintances with whom she has so long associated.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. J. A. Townsend at the family residence on Washington street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, where a large number of acquaintance of the family assembled to mourn the loss of one whose kindly disposition and estimable character will be missed by all. The interment took place at the family lot in the I. O. O. F. cemetery where she was laid to rest beside her father, a brother and sister who have preceded her to the great beyond. The deceased was 30 years of age and leaves a mother, Mrs. Alice VanBuren, a sister, Miss Mable, and a half brother, Wm. VanBuren, all of this city to mourn their loss.

A Big Day for the Children From 6 to 60 Years of Age.
The coming to town of a tented exhibition is always of more or less importance to a large number of people. The days of the sawdust arena, popcorn and red lemonade are as welcome now as when Dan Rice, the famous clown, was in the element of his glory, twenty years ago. Since then, however, conditions have changed and the performance of the skillful gymnasts and wonderful trained animals of the present are as vastly different proposition from the dinky circus of old John Robinson's day. Show day now means something more than an excuse for parents to take the children to see the elephant and laugh at the jokes of the painted clown. They are educational events, especially when the attraction is Norris & Rowe's Big Shows which will be here soon. Amusements of all kinds have had to show great improvement during the past decade to keep pace with the times and to satisfy the constant cry of the people for something new. It is a well established fact that Norris & Rowe's aggregation is the most progressive show that exhibits in the West. Each year that they have visited us they have shown great advancement both in magnitude and merit and given their patrons more for their money. This time they promise in addition to the greatest train animal show in the world, a high class vaudeville and circus performance by a carefully selected company of the very best aerial gymnasts, tumblers, riders and Japanese acrobats and jugglers. The date of their exhibition here is next Tuesday, May, 12th.

Fine Farm for Sale.
A good 800 acre farm for sale five miles from Myrtle Creek, 100 acres in cultivation, balance hills, pasture and timbered land. Small orchard, good house, barn and other improvements. For price and terms apply to F. T. McGehee, Myrtle Creek, or D. S. K. Buick, Roseburg, Oregon.

Piano Buyers.
You will notice that we do not have to be continually striking out for a new make of Pianos. The Needham has been our leader for 14 years and is today a leader among the high grade pianos of the world. Some cheap pianos are made high grade simply by getting a boost in the Oregonian or some other leading paper, through those big dealers who think they can, and do make the majority of people believe it simply because they say so. It doesn't take ink, boost or high commissions to make a good piano, but instead the very best mechanics, and the very best material such as are always used in Needham pianos.
T. K. RICHARDSON, Roseburg and Cottage Grove, Oregon.
