For Congressman, First District

HON. BINGER HERMANN
Republican Nominee
Special Election June 1, 1903.

THE PRESIDENT'S OPINION OF HERMANN'S CANDIDACY.

"There is not one word of truth in the rumor that I am opposed to Mr. Hermann's election; and on the contrary I heartily and earnestly desire his election. I hope that every voter who believes in the principles of the party and wishes well for the Administration will cast his vote for Mr. Hermann. The rumored quarrel between Mr. Hermann and myself is without foundation. Our relations are and always have been cordial."

WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS.

The old prophet Ezekiel was the first man to write about wheels within wheels and from his writings we have come to regard him as a man whose mind had been slightly unbalanced by the irony of fate or environment. He had studied the politics of the Jewish monarchy before captivity and the Babylonian politics during captivity until he dreamed of men being wheels and wheels men; and in this particular his mind seemed to be slightly unbalanced. It was well for the old gentleman to have died and gone to his reward in Babylon, for had he lived on as the "Wandering Jew" he would have gone entirely crazy if he had attempted to solve the wheel within wheel problem of today. In Portland the problem has turned half of the citizens' hair gray and the end is not yet. It started in about this way: The hotel chambermaids have not organized a union, as requested, and they will not obey the edict of the laundry workers' union to desist from sewing on buttons as occasion requires. This is declared to be unfair, by the laundry workers' union, one branch of which mends clothing sent to the laundry. A boycott is instituted if the hotel management will not turn out the chambermaids or the chambermaids will not form a union and as a consequence the laundry workers' union refuse to wash the hotel tablecloths, napkins, sheets, and so forth. Now there is a waiters' union and if the hotel proprietor has the work done at a non-union laundry the waiters refuse to handle the tablecloths or napkins because they were washed at an "unfair" establishment, and a strike and boycott is the result; and it matters not, whatever may be needed in the hotel so far as organized labor is concerned, everything must come to a standstill. The cooks' union refuse to cook; the drivers' union, to deliver provisions; the charwomen's union, to scrub the floors, and the whole labor unions with all the ramifications is centered on the hotel management to compel the discharge of the chambermaids for sewing on buttons or to compel them to permit the sewing on of buttons. If ever there was a time when labor was on the top of the most cells it is now. Organized labor is the controlling power of the United States today and the wheels within wheels have caused thousands of men to stop and consider what the effect the promulgation of the edict "unfair" would have upon every step they took in life. Ezekiel thought he knew something about wheels, but there are one hundred thousand persons in the United States who know more about the subject and in one hour could exemplify the actual power of wheels within wheels than he could in a lifetime. Organized labor within ten years time, if it does not die of its own weight, will control the entire machinery of the government of this country; there will be no middle men, for nothing but vast aggregations of capital and aggregations of labor unions can exist if the present system of unionism and concentration is carried out.

LABOR TROUBLES.

The management of the Lewis and Clarke Fair at Portland have a hard task on hand. The labor unions have virtually boycotted the entire proceedings and have attacked the proposition in every way possible. They have as a last effort stated that if the Fair management will guarantee to employ union labor only on the enterprise that they will at once withdraw all opposition to the fair. The Fair management is not in any manner opposed to unionism but as the Fair is a state institution, supported and gotten up by state funds and the taxes having been collected from all the citizens without regard to politics, religion, secret societies or labor unions, there should be no discrimination against any citizen of the state working on the grounds or buildings. We know that many men are afraid to avow their honest convictions about such matters but it is about time for the labor leaders at Portland to take their feet off the dining table and give the Limburger a chance to make its presence known. Give every citizen in Oregon a fair and equal chance at working on Oregon taxpayers' enterprise.

Correspondence.

ROSEBURG, May 6, 1903.
MR. EDITOR:
I very thankfully avail myself of the kindness of the PLAIDEALER to correct an erroneous impression made on the public by the order of the County Court regarding my claim for damages on account of injuries sustained by the fall of the county bridge across Hubbard creek. The order states that I refused to submit to a physical examination, but does not state any reason therefor. The facts are that I was willing to submit to such an examination by a committee of three physicians, all chosen by the County Court without consulting me. I appeared at the appointed time and place no less than three several times for the express purpose of being so examined, and was not examined because two of the physicians failed to appear. The last time I so appeared, I was informed that such examination must be conducted with no one present except myself and said physicians, and that my attorney should witness such examination, and that such was the order of the court. Such a proceeding was absolutely unheard of in the course of fair, honest and impartial judicial investigation. I thereupon declined to submit. At the time the County Court made the order mentioned, it well knew my reason for declining to submit to such examination. I filed my claim for damages in good faith and cherished the hope that the same would be adjusted without litigation, until the January term of the County Court, when the Court refused to examine me in open court touching my claim; and would not conduct a physical examination of my person in the presence of my attorney. I now regret that I am compelled to resort to litigation in order to secure an open investigation of my claim. I make these statements for the sole purpose of correcting the wrong impression created by the order disposing of my claim. I do not intend to in any manner reflect upon the good intentions of the members of the County Court, although their conduct in the premises is misleading as to facts.

HERMANN AT EUGENE.
EUGENE, May 12.—Binger Hermann, republican nominee for congress, was given a red hot greeting by Eugene republicans, who packed the court house to the doors. S. B. Fakin presided, and the assemblage was enthusiastic.
Hermann denounced as lies the charge that he was removed from the Roseburg land office in 1873, showing that he resigned to run for the legislature in the famous senatorial campaign which resulted in a complete change in all Oregon federal offices.
In replying to the charge that the president had demanded his removal as commissioner of the general land office, he showed that the president had nothing to do with it, that it was owing to differences with Secretary Hitchcock, and that Roosevelt, in an interview at Chicago the other day, declared for Hermann's election.
Hermann makes a strong appeal to the old guard republicans on the tariff and the record of the democratic party in the past. He praised the old era of the expansion of the democracy of Jefferson and Jackson, but assailed its modern opposition to expansion.
Bets are freely offered here that he will carry 35 per cent of the democratic vote, and that his majority in the district will be 3000.

The Devil in Robes.
ROSEBURG, Ore., May 14, 1903.
TO THE READERS OF THE PLAIDEALER:
I desire to inform you by this communication that I am in Roseburg and have commenced to canvass and receive orders for a book known as the "Devil in Robes, or the Sins of the Priests." It is along the same line of argument as the Native American Whigs, the Know Nothing party, and the recent A. P. A. I was a member of all those patriotic organizations, but we lost because we did not behind closed doors like the boy who cut off his dog's tail a little at a time thinking it would not hurt so bad, and we are now in the open and challenged in public. I took this question like I took my gun to put down slavery, polygamy and the Indians. I am an old veteran soldier and as I have warm friends among the members of the Catholic church, it is only the priesthood I attack and the unconstitutional exemptions of church property.
I am sincerely yours,
ZACHARUS VANORMEN.

She Thought About the Old Man.
A young girl does not think very much of herself when she will run off with a man who is more than old enough to be her father and who has already almost a dozen children, but such a case is reported in this city.—Albany Herald.

Civil Revolution News.

Great Northern trainmen have commenced a general strike at Minneapolis and St. Paul. All the Railroad Brotherhoods are interested. The management of the road's advertisers for 100 railroad conductors at $140 per month. If the men applying are capable, no questions will be asked.
At Denver, Colorado, two hundred cooks, 400 waiters, 300 butchers, 150 bakers and minor trades were called out by the Pure Food Council. All the restaurants in the business part of Denver were closed Wednesday. The Union bakers were called out in a body irrespective of whether the restaurants were considered fair or unfair. Last night all the Retail Clerks and International Stationery Engineers members joined in the civil revolution, and it is feared that tonight all the trades and labor unions will join the movement. The cause of the strike being the refusal of a few bakeries and groceries to sign the union scale of prices.
At Toledo, Ohio, yesterday, during the funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Kamm, the drivers of hacks struck and refused to work because the hearse was driven by a non-union man. The officials from the undertakers filled the strikers' places just in time to prevent a scene as the casket was being taken to the hearse.
A telegraph dispatch from Buenos Ayres, of yesterday's date says: Advice received here from Valparaiso say that a martial law has been proclaimed there as a result of the rioting at that place. Forty men are said to have been killed and many have been injured. When the office of the Mercury was attacked by the rioting dock laborers the staff of that paper defended themselves with fire-arms. The rioters have set fire to a number of warehouses, in addition to burning the premises of the South American Steamship Company. Troops are patrolling the streets of Valparaiso.
In New York City yesterday, at a conference between John C. Havemeyer, of Yonkers, and the representative of the local branch of the American Federation of Labor, the details in reference to the public discussion of labor questions were arranged. Mr. Havemeyer says he does not propose to be drawn into a discussion with any single labor union. The questions to be determined are:
"First: Shall employers be permitted to conduct a lawful business in a lawful way without the dictation of walking delegates from irresponsible and lawless unions?
"Second: Shall employees who refuse to join labor unions be permitted to earn support for themselves and families by honest labor?
These questions will be divided into about 20 subdivisions. Owing to what he considers a misunderstanding of his invitation, Mr. Havemeyer has sent a reply to the letter of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of this city, saying they have mistaken the character of his invitation in two respects. He says:
"In the first place, I did not propose a debate or discussion. The meeting is solely that the trades unions of Yonkers may have an opportunity of presenting their side of the question.
"In the second place, the invitation is to all of the unions and not to any single one which may be disposed to accept.
"I do not wish to be technical and will say that if the carpenters, masons and plumbers were to accept I should be satisfied. To secure a better understanding and prevent delay, permit me to make a more definite statement regarding the proposed meeting: First, it will be presided over by men of undoubted character and fairness, subject, if desired, to a committee of unions. Second, there should be the same freedom as in a political or other meetings.
At Portland there is a good sized squabble brewing because the contract to erect the stand for what President Roosevelt will speak was let to a non-union firm and it is being erected by non-union labor. This the unions declare to be a slight on their organizations.
In the Painters' Union strike it seems that about one-half of the members are not taking fair. While the radicals are working on a strike the conservatives are working on the sly, fourteen or fifteen hours a day.
New Presbyterian Church.
The Presbyterians of Roseburg, after several meetings have finally decided to build a new and commodious church edifice. At a meeting held by the congregation last night it was decided to raise $20,000 for the building fund, and have a modern building. This meeting of which Major Buick was chairman, attended Judge Hamilton, Doctor Cheandle, H. H. Brooks, Mrs. J. C. Fullerton, Mrs. S. C. Flint and Mrs. W. W. Thackrah, a financial committee, and every member of the church and congregation was afterward added to the committee to boom along the enterprise. And now it is up to the members of the church and the citizens, business men and property owners of Roseburg to see what they will do in the matter of this, the first pressed brick church in the city. Roseburg contains many beautiful homes, in fact there is not a home in the city that we have seen whose outward and internal appointments are not far superior to the appearance of any church building in Roseburg. The whole of the churches collectively or singly for a town of the size, wealth and culture of Roseburg, would hardly make a second class junk store building. We need to get down into our pockets a little deeper than we get down on "the marrow bones of our perishing humanity." Religion is not a thing to be got, but something to be done. We want fewer "don'ts" do this and that more "do," and this is a splendid opportunity to "dig up" and possess a little religion that can be felt.
