DR. GEO. E. HOUCK HONORED.

Elected Vice-President of Southern Oregon Medical Association.

At the 12th annual meeting of the Southern Oregon Medical Association held in Medford, Tuesday, there was an unusually large attendance and most interesting sessions. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. H. P. Hargrave, Phoenix; vice-president, George E. Houck, Roseburg; secretary and treasurer, Dr. R. E. Smith, Grants Pass.

There has been much discussion of the army uniform adopted some months ago. Many officers are not satisfied with it, and efforts have been made to secure certain changes. These complaints and suggestions have been going in such numbers that Mr. Root, secretary of war, has lost patience and has officially announced that there will be no further changes at this time.

INTERESTING LETTERS.

Mr. Reams Hears From a Native Son.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 16.—A. E. Reams, the democratic nominee for congress, will receive at least one letter other than encouraging in his candidacy. Since receiving the congressional nomination from the democrats, Mr. Reams has been circulating among the Native Sons of the state personal letters in which he appeals to the members of that organization for their support in the coming election.

One of these letters was mailed to S. A. D. Hunsate, of Molalla, this county. Mr. Hunsate evidently is not of the opinion that any fraternal society should be worked for the political advancement of any candidate, as the appended correspondence indicates. The circular letter of Mr. Reams to Mr. Hunsate follows:

JACKSONVILLE, Or., April 28.—Mr. S. A. D. Hunsate, Oregon City, Or.—(Confidential)—My Dear Sir and Brother: I suppose that one Native Son ought to feel free to speak to another even upon a matter of politics, even though he has no disposition to use the order in any way.

It now seems certain that I will receive the support of the democrats, and of a very large number of republicans. Many of the republicans are writing to me that, inasmuch as the present house is already elected, and republican by a good majority, they can assist me without a sacrifice of principle.

I would like an indication from you as to how you feel with reference to my candidacy, and you may be sure that whatever you do will meet with my approval. Sincerely and fraternally yours, A. E. REAMS.

In reply Mr. Hunsate today addressed the following letter to Mr. Reams:

MOLALLA, Or., May 16.—Hon. A. E. Reams, Jacksonville, Or.—Dear Sir and Brother: In answer to your favor of the 28th ult., received a few days ago, would say that I am proud that a brother Native Son has the necessary qualifications to be selected by the democrats of the First Congressional District of Oregon to be their standard-bearer for National Representative, and, knowing as you stated in your letter, "that inasmuch as the present National House is already elected, and republican by a good majority, they (many republicans) can assist me without a sacrifice of principle," and knowing that may be true, can see no reason why these people of this district may not safely send you to Congress, as it would be impossible for you to do any harm, or anything contrary to the wishes of the present Administration, and as the climate of Washington, D. C., is very bad for the health of Democrats at the present time, and knowing Southern Oregon to be the most salubrious climate on God's green earth, I believe it to be my duty towards a brother Native Son not to have you risk your precious health in such a climate as Washington has, but to remain in Southern Oregon, where I know you will live long and prosper. Very sincerely, your friend and brother, S. A. D. HUNSAATE.

General News.

If Anthony Fiala, the leader of the Zeigler polar expedition, reaches the north pole he will plant there a small American flag bearing the emblem of the Young Men's Christian Association, which was presented to him at a dinner given for him by his friends in the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. If the pole is not found the emblem from Brooklyn will be thrown to the breeze at the furthestmost point reached.

Gov. Odell of New York, has officially denied the truth of the report that he had been requested to take charge of President Roosevelt's campaign and to become chairman of the Republican national committee, succeeding Senator Hanna. Gov. Odell insists that he has enough to do to look after his political fences in New York, and has no desire to undertake the work of managing a national canvass.

There has been much discussion of the army uniform adopted some months ago. Many officers are not satisfied with it, and efforts have been made to secure certain changes. These complaints and suggestions have been going in such numbers that Mr. Root, secretary of war, has lost patience and has officially announced that there will be no further changes at this time.

Dispatches from Monastir state that the Turkish soldiers and bashi-bazouks have joined the Mussulman populace in the north and are killing Christians in cold blood. The death of Deltcheff, a Macedonian rebel leader, while fighting, is confirmed. His death is considered to be a severe blow to the revolutionary movement. He is believed to have been the real chief of the Macedonian organization and the mainspring of the whole movement. It was he who arranged the capture of Miss Stone, the American missionary, presumably to procure funds through her ransom for the revolutionary movement.

The Indianapolis commercial club and the board of trade have taken formal action toward securing the two political conventions next year. Their secretaries have mailed letters to the national secretaries of the Democratic and Republican national committees announcing that that city will be an applicant for the conventions. Indiana senators and the congressmen will be asked to assist. The city is arranging to build a coliseum costing $250,000, with a seating capacity of 18,000, in order to accommodate the conventions. National Democratic Committee man Taggart of Indiana says he believes the city can secure the national Democratic convention if the coliseum is completed.

If Mr. Wilson, secretary of agriculture, is not mistaken in his estimate of what the future has in store for the South, something like $50,000,000 a year, which is now being paid for imported tobacco and cigars, will, in a few years, be spent in the Mississippi valley. Mr. Wilson has returned from an extended tour of the South, in the course of which he made special investigations into the soil of Tennessee and Mississippi and other states in the Mississippi valley country, with reference to their adaptability for the raising of a fine grade of tobacco. Samples of the soil from these states have been submitted to the soil experts of the department, who state that the same qualities are found in the soil from Cuba and Porto Rico, where the finest tobaccos are now grown.

The Salem Journal of May 14 says: "The directors of the Capital Amateur Athletic Club have selected grounds, and will establish a baseball park on Asylum Avenue. The work of enclosing the park was begun yesterday afternoon, and the management intends to have the park in readiness for Saturday's game. The grounds will be enclosed by a board fence eight feet high and bleachers will be erected to accommodate at least 350 people. Later on a grand stand will be erected to accommodate at least 1000 people, and the directors propose to make it one of the best ball grounds in the state. A disc harrow, a road grader, and a five-ton road roller will be brought into service today, to prepare the diamond, and after the first contests with the Eugene team on Saturday and Sunday, the entire field will be leveled and improved." The Roseburgers would like to see how those implements would look on the home field.

Notice for Sale of State Lands.
Notice is hereby given that the State Land Board will receive sealed bids until April 28, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the sale of the following described school lands, to-wit:

Terrible Outrages.
Further details have been received by the Jewish central relief committee of the New York of shocking atrocities in Kishineff, the capital of Bessarabia, during the three days from April 20 to 23 when more than 100 Jews were slain and over 1000 maimed. Women and children were among the victims.

From the accounts received by the members of the committee it appears that 18,000 square miles in extent, is in a state of excitement bordering on frenzy. The stern measures on the part of the officials have been necessary to prevent repetitions of the Kishineff massacre in adjoining cities and villages. Starvation has been added to the horror of the massacre, and many men, women and children, robbed of their means, their homes burned, are dying in the streets. The police and troops have been reduced to beggary. In every Jewish home left untouched by the torch there are many cripples. During the massacre thousands of Jews fled from the towns and villages along the highways, making for Odessa. Officials were quiescent and the horrid slaughter ran on unchecked.

Federal Control of Labor and Capital.

Representative John J. Jenkins, of Wisconsin, chairman of the judiciary committee of the House, who had an important part in framing the anti-trust legislation of the last Congress, believes that the relations between capital and labor overshadow all other public questions at this time.

He is convinced that the welfare of the people is so generally affected by labor disputes that Congress should have power to exercise control over the labor questions, the relation between employers and employes and the adjustment of differences between those interests. He proposes a constitutional amendment giving the government authority to, in a measure, regulate both organized labor and organized capital.

He said: "My remedy for prospective troubles is a constitutional amendment giving to the government the power to regulate not only commerce between the states, but all the commerce and the instruments and agencies of commerce. The present power of Congress is limited to controlling commerce passing from one state to another."

"The Supreme Court has held that Congress has nothing whatever to do with the manufacture of goods entering into interstate commerce, and also that it has nothing to do with controlling the sale of goods entering into interstate commerce."

"The sugar case before the Supreme Court settled these points. I propose an amendment that will place the whole thing under federal control—not only the articles of interstate commerce, but the control of those articles, the manufacture of them and the purchaser of them. I favor taking the jurisdiction of these matters out of the hands of the state authorities and placing it with the federal government."

Mitchell on Candidates.

Senator Mitchell when interviewed by a reporter in Portland said: "By what plurality do I think Hermann will win? About 40 votes; anyhow that many. There's absolutely no excuse for any republican to vote against him. Hermann is lucky, always lucky. It's an act of Providence that has helped him this time."

"Roosevelt will be renominated and elected, if he lives. Nothing can prevent it except death. Do I look for tariff revision by this congress? No, it's not on the program. Of course, the tariff might be altered in some respects to advantage, but effort to do so would open the way for wholesale changes, for which the country is not yet ready."

"We Democrats make the tariff an issue in the next election?"
"They'll try to, but they'll not succeed. The truth is that changes in the tariff before the presidential election are not wise. Therefore, I do not look for any revision until 1905."

"I have been wrongly quoted as saying I believed Cleveland would be the next Democratic nominee for President. The fact is that his nomination is impossible. He cannot get two-thirds of the national convention to support him, because Bryan will control enough votes to prevent it. Dave Hill, in my opinion, is a promising candidate. He is a very clever, shrewd politician. He has a better chance than Parker, because he's a better politician."

Shot His Wife.

At Cottage Grove one night last week, according to the Eugene Guard, Dr. Anderson had been out attending several patients and went home late, arriving at the house shortly before midnight. Being nervous from overwork he thought he heard someone moving about in the house, and arose and went into an adjoining room with his revolver in his hand. In the meantime Mrs. Anderson had also arisen, but this was not known to her husband. The doctor heard her footsteps and thinking they were those of a burglar, placed himself in a position to see anyone passing between him and the window.

As his wife emerged from the darkness into the dim light shed by the moon through the window and before he could distinguish her features he fired. It was not until she uttered a cry of pain that Dr. Anderson realized his awful mistake. He caught her before she fell to the floor and called to the children to send for assistance.

Dr. Hosmer, partner with Dr. Anderson soon arrived and an examination of the wound was made. It was found that the bullet had entered her left side, just below the heart, but had luckily struck a rib, and following the rib passed out at the spine, inflicting a very severe flesh wound, but not necessarily fatal.
