For Congressman, First District

HON. BINGER HERMANN Republican Nominee Special Election June 1, 1903.

THE DEMOCRATIC MULE WEEPS

The democratic committee of this county has sent out the following circular: Roseburg, Ore., May 26, 1903. Dear Sir: Owing to the apathy and indifference of many Republicans and the lack of interest...

scheme to beat Hermann and to prove itself recant to every principle of patriotism on Memorial day. It was just such bald hypocrisy and wanton perfidy on the part of democracy that rendered necessary that the lives of hundreds of thousands of men be sacrificed to carry out the principles of a republican government and it requires equal vigilance and clear thought to keep the country today free from democratic complications...

The democratic mule can bray and sing lullaby songs and issue screeds but that will not cause veterans of the war, old soldiers or the sons, wives and daughters of soldiers to forsake the party for whose principles of liberty the blood of the nation was shed or to abandon a man because he happens to end up a campaign of speechmaking advocating the principles for which that blood was shed...

Without the shedding of one drop of blood Manchuria is now actually a part of Russia. All solemn pledges to the contrary have merely been ruses to state of foreign interference. As has often been said before, Germany has no objection to the Russian occupation of northern China, but there is no considerable interest here as to what course the United States and Japan will take...

Our readers will do well to read Artemus' good, common sense article on Ringer Hermann under the head Sunday's Items. He is our correspondent there.

Yours for Success

DEWEY RICE, Chairman Dem. Co. Cen. Com. W. S. H. MILROSE, Congressional Com. O. P. COSHOW, State Committeeman.

The above circular should convince every republican that there is need of eternal vigilance to keep in subjection the machinations of the democratic party and every republican should be full of enthusiasm and work hard for success and destroy the hope of democracy in this congressional district. It has now come to the point when there are no apathetic or disinterested republicans, for every member of the party has imbued enthusiasm from the democratic system of circulating malevolent falsehood and abuse of Binger Hermann and are like the red-headed Irishman who joined a company of Teddy's Rough Riders which was organized in New Mexico...

When we contemplate the woeful expression on the democratic mule's face as the tears roll down in a river to the ground, at the desecration of Decoration Day by talking politics, we feel that again we are up against democratic perfidy and hypocrisy, and as the drops of blood from the eyes of that committee turn into a swelling flood of grief, we will attempt to assuage the torment and administer a little "high life" to the sorrowing mule. But we must make a thorough diagnosis of the critter's trouble before we can inject the subtle fluid in a hypodermic manner with a horse syringe. We make this statement to the patient and ask a few questions. Last Sunday was Memorial Day: a day made holy by national consent—a day observed by the patriotic people of these United States; a day in which the G. A. R., Old Soldiers, Veterans and kindred societies hold in reverence; a day observed by all classes and people and tongues in these United States. In nearly every city of the country union-antid services are held and the day is observed as sacred as the Hebrews hold their Passover, but where do we find that sorrowing democratic mule with tear dimmed eyes? Was he in the procession? Was he at the services or was he conspicuous by his absence? But while the citizens were observing Memorial Day, The mule divided and one part of the animal was found rooting for the Jackson Sprats and grafters; another part of the mule was working up the published screed and another section of that mule was being up a scheme to throw the Gardiner taking County "sh-whopping" out of court, and when that mule did get itself together on Sunday afternoon it lamented the fact that the Congressmen of Oregon were to speak in Myrtle Creek and Roseburg on Decoration Day. What bitter scolding tears that democratic mule shed! But who or what made Decoration Day possible? Was it not the democratic party itself? Was it not the democratic party itself that was no need if the tears and anguish of that committee is sincere for it to have absented itself from the hallowed service for the dead soldiers on Memorial day. But it met on Sunday, to conjure up a Democratic Harmony.

An interesting summary of the opinions of public men now in Washington as to the outlook for different presidential aspirants makes it appear that republicans who are in Washington now or have been within the last few weeks are united for the nomination of President Roosevelt. It further shows that the democrats could not be more widely apart on the same interesting question: There is former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, who has come to Washington on legal business, and who will not commit himself further than to say he is for any one who can consolidate the party, "but he does not know who that some one is, nor will he venture a guess. "Pitchfork" Tillman raves and tears his hair over the mention of the name of Grover Cleveland, and says in no many words that the mere mention of the possibility of Mr. Cleveland again being nominated by the democrats is an insult to the intelligence of the party. Then Mr. Tillman discusses the failure of the Bryan men to do anything but get the democratic party into a chaotic state. He refuses to name his choice, and it is difficult to decide who he really stands for unless it be for Tillman.

Representative Salter, who has a good deal more political acumen and is in much closer touch with the inside of New York democratic politics than he is given credit for, declares that the democratic Moses is none other than Judge Parker, who can carry the state of New York, hands down. Representative Bankhead, of Alabama, comes out for Senator German. Bankhead said privately, however, that Judge Parker did not have a chance to carry any of the doubtful democratic territory, as he was practically unknown outside of his own state, and all the enemies of Dave Hill believe he is Hill's stalking horse and are sharpening their knives to puncture his loan.

Chief Justice Walter Clark of the North Carolina supreme court, is the choice of William J. Bryan for the democratic presidential nomination to 1904, according to authority that has reached Washington. While in Washington recently it seems that Mr. Bryan experienced a desire to discuss politics, and accordingly arranged for an interview with Joe Blackburn. It is related that at the conference Mr. Bryan sounded Blackburn as to his choice of a presidential nominee. Some months ago Judge Clark was the guest of Mr. Bryan at his home in Lincoln, where he spent several days. It is said of Judge Clark that he is more popular than Mr. Bryan. In 1896 he went to Mexico to study the free silver question. The same year he accepted the populist nomination for chief justice, after having been nominated by the democrats.

Without the shedding of one drop of blood Manchuria is now actually a part of Russia. All solemn pledges to the contrary have merely been ruses to state of foreign interference. As has often been said before, Germany has no objection to the Russian occupation of northern China, but there is no considerable interest here as to what course the United States and Japan will take.

On Wednesday, at Eugene, a mental wreck stripped on the most public street in that city and proceeded to grieve himself, and when arrested by the city marshal and the sheriff and taken to jail, he gave his name as Loper and said that he meant no harm; he was only preparing to make a Reemans run and had gassed himself so as to be hard to catch before or after the election.

A large number of the citizens of Eugene have secured a temporary injunction restraining the playing of base ball on the base ball grounds at Eugene. An attempt will be made before Judge Hamilton to have the injunction made perpetual. Other grounds will be secured, as on Sunday the league games between Albany and Eugene are to be played there.

The combat of democratic mud and slush is drawing to a close and the PLAINDEALER is glad to state, that wherever the mud lodged on the republican nominee it quickly dried and fell off leaving a spot as clear as if cleansed by Fuller's earth. And as trick after trick failed and the stream of vituperation and abuse dried up it leaves the democrats in an hopeless condition. In political issues they could not combat the victorious prosperity now enjoyed. In tricks and evasions of facts President Roosevelt gave them in gouted action language—the lie.

The writer once saw a buffalo bull on the plains of the Texas Panhandle. He was the last of his species in a state of liberty in a vast district of country and around him had gathered scores of coyotes who made music peculiar to coyotes—an eternal vicious snarl repeated over and over and every time the bull would charge the coyotes made their tails scarce between their hind legs. Next Monday night it will be found that the yelping will be over and the entire First Congressional district will be strewn over not only with democratic tails but hind legs also.
