IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH

To do one thing well, is to be a service to society and an independent factor of humanity. The person—man, woman, boy or girl, who is capable of doing his or her chosen work as well as it can be done is always in a position to command not only the best salary; but is equally an ornament of society and an object lesson to those less skilled. It is not so much a matter of what a person does as the manner of doing it. The successes of all our great men, either commercial, religiously or politically have resulted from a concentration of effort in one time. All their nerve-force, all their mental energy, all their physical strength have been concentrated upon one object. Each had an end in view, an object to accomplish, a result to obtain; and in their efforts to reach the desired end all else was passed by. They never allowed the glitter of a side light to turn them from the course they had set out to follow. Early in life each selected the trail he was to travel and never quitted it. Although it led him into a maze of confusing crossings and recrossing trails he kept steadily to the one he had started to follow, and tramped it to the end. Here and there he erected a monument on his course to mark a success or indicate an obstruction, but with a determination that never faltered, he kept his path in sight, whether it led him up steep mountains of adversity, over frozen fields of social malignity or into flower strewn fields of luxury. Neither success nor failure daunt or dishearten the man who is working to an end. Individually this is true. It is equally true of families and of communities. It is an old proverb that: "A house divided against itself cannot stand." The converse thereof is, that a house or community that is not divided will stand. There is no lack of harmony—all work to a common end. What is good for my neighbor is a benefit to me. That which elevates or enriches me, is a boon to the community. "In union there is strength"—in dissension there is ruin.

Grants Pass has a member of a most honorable secret order who ought to be fired from the association if we may judge by the Journal, and further the PLAINDEALER saith not.

Forest Reserve Discussed.

A meeting of Josephine county citizens was held last week in Grants Pass and the following is what the Journal had to say about the proceedings:
 "H. D. Langell and Wm. T. Cox, of the Bureau of Forestry, of Washington, D. C., met with the Grants Pass Board of Trade and other citizens last Friday, June 5th, as stated in last week's Journal.

Pres. R. Thomas called the meeting to order, and introduced Mr. Langell. Mr. Langell said that he had come to listen rather than talk. He realized that it was a matter in which the people were intensely interested, but thought that much of the objection might be the result of misunderstanding. There are two reasons for the creation of reserves; one for conservation of the water supply and the other to protect the growing timber. There has been a great rush for timber land on this coast and there is very little good timber land left. It is time, therefore, for Uncle Sam to take a few ranches for himself. Where forest reserves have been created, it has been demonstrated to the people, and to lumbermen as well, that the policy is wise.

The creation in no way affects the location and operations of mines. The timber may be used on the claims, and patent to the property may be secured. The prospector has free use of the timber. The mining companies are expected to buy their timber land. When they wish to do so, they give 30 days' notice, the land is appraised and the sale advertised. The land is then sold to the highest bidder. There is no graft in the reserve proposition, but the forest reserve movement all over the country is a grand forward step. This reserve was proposed in 1888, but was pigeonholed by Commissioner Sherman.

It was an animated meeting and addresses were made by A. C. Hough, Judge J. O. Booth, R. L. Cox, A. E. Carlson, H. C. Kinney, J. H. Williams, Joseph Moss and others.

It is believed that Mr. Langell took the meeting kindly and will make a favorable report to have at least a portion of the reserve withdrawn. Mr. Langell advised that the remonstrance he held until he was ready to submit his report, when he would include them therewith. On motion of R. W. Clarke the suggestion was adopted.

It will be noticed that the honorable gentlemen from Washington are talking to the miners, who have but little use for timber, and are trying to show them that the government is willing that they should have full control of the land for mining operations; but settlers and timbermen and sawmill men are to be barred out. It now seems to be the policy of our most honorable secretary of the interior to set up one faction of the citizens against the other, in order that a conspiracy to float lien land scrip, so that the last quarter section of good timber land can be stolen from the people, under the guise of exchange for forest reserve land. Such proceedings are a most damnable outrage upon American citizenship and while the PLAINDEALER is a stalwart republican newspaper for the good and welfare of the party at large, it will pour up (in order to prevent rottenness in its own party) quicker than it would in the democratic party until the offense had been accomplished. Affairs may be straight in the Interior Department control of the General Land Office, but to a man who knows the inner working of the whole affair they have the aroma of being putrid.

At La Crosse, Wis., on Friday, as the result of a quarrel over the right of way of a private road, Andrew Shevek, 78, wealthy farmer, was struck over the head and fatally injured by Andrew Kevorsek, a neighbor. BASE BALL.

SUNDAY'S GAME.

Roseburg's long run of luck and good playing was broken Sunday by the Salem Raglans winning a hard-fought game from them. Good playing, fine team work and excellent pitching were the features of the game and there was where Salem won the game. Capt. Morrow, of the Grays, has done excellent work with his team, but where he has to handle men who play together only during the game and are never able to practice together, it is impossible to be able to do the proper team work during a game. The PLAINDEALER is not blaming anyone or the team for losing the game, for the boys all played well, and although Bradley was wild at times, he pitched a fairly good game; Corliss and Terrill each misjudged a fly, which were responsible for a run each, and Ray's fumble of a grounder at third showed that he needs practice, but he redeemed himself by a pretty catch of a fly over third bag, when he fell and broke the bottle of "oil of tar" he was carrying in his hand pocket. Robinson is an ideal fielder and showed good judgment throughout Sunday's game. Morris pitched as fine a game of ball as could be seen on the coast. At no time was he wild or excited and those who expected to see him get mad or quit were disappointed. Haynes played a good first, but is inclined to feel that he is the whole thing; with that idea out of his head it is possible that he will have many more friends here. Davis, at third, was not up to expectations, but Sanders is an ideal center fielder. Teabo can catch some, but he missed many opportunities that would not be overlooked by a fellow by the name of White and the sooner Teabo loses his swelled head he will be better off. Following is a short story of Sunday's game:

"Dutch" Joeger was the first man to lose his scalp and Bradley was thrown out at the initial on a short hit to Morrow. White flew out to Moshberg in right garden. Davis' bewitching smile didn't work and Bradley struck him out. Teabo flew out to Bradley on bunt fly hit. Patterson took four wide ones and walked. Haynes flew out to Robinson and retired the side. Then "Pap" Morrow took the stick with that devil-may-care grasp and walked to plate with the firm determination of doing business and he did, but was thrown out at first by a short hit to Downie. Baker hit to short and reached first on Haynes' error and advanced two sacks on Teabo's wild throw to second, then scored on Davis' error and wild throw. Ray split the air and Corliss flew out on a short fly hit. Sanders struck out. Hamilton reached first on Teabo's fumble of a grounder hit and was later caught while trying to steal second, by a pretty throw by White, which retired the side immediately after Ray's neat catch of Downie's foul. Terrill, Robinson and "Dutch" failed to connect. Moshberg put a hit through that "Dutch" didn't touch and Morris bowed to Bradley. Then Moshberg put his foot in it trying to steal second. Davis reached third on a long hit over center-field that Corliss misjudged. Teabo followed with a two-bagger, scoring Davis. Patterson should have known better than to give Baker a fly, but he didn't and Salem retired with Teabo sweeping wet tears on third. Then Bradley, White and Morrow went out on fly hits. In Roseburg's half of the fifth inning Robinson made two pretty catches in left field and Sanders struck out. Sanders did not allow Baker's fly hit over second base to land. Ray struck out and Corliss went out at first, on a ground hit which was neatly stopped by Haynes. Downie got first on ground hit to Baker, who was slow in handling it, and advanced on Moshberg's dead ball. Morris hit to left and advanced runners. Davis walked to first and Teabo's in-field fly put him out and Downie forgot the game and ran home. White tagged him and retired the side.

Terrill hit to Patterson who threw him out at first. Morris made Robinson a present of first by winging him but Robinson was caught in an attempt to steal second, and Joeger struck out, and then the fireworks.

In the seventh Patterson, the first man up, made a clean hit over right field fence and cantered around the square circle like a hobbled goose. Haynes hit to Ray who overthrew first base but Morrow had the ball back in the diamond before the fat man could reach third. Then Saunders received a donation of first base on balls and Hamilton made a neat hit through second base, scoring Haynes and advancing Sanders. Downie hit to Joeger and reached first on fender choice, Sanders being caught on the Dutchman's pillow. Moshberg hit short to Mother Bradley who neatly placed the ball in Pap Morrow's big mitt before the invincible latter could reach first.

Morris stopped the ball with his bulky form and walked to first, and Davis struck out. Bradley struck out and White hit to left pasture and gained first on Pat's error; Teabo allowed a passed ball and White took second. Morrow flew out to Sanders, Baker reached first on Davis' error of a grounder and White advanced to third. Excitement ran high when Ray came to the bat; a ball and strike were called on him when Baker attempted to steal second and was put out.

Teabo hunted third strike and was out. Patterson and Haynes walked to first. Patterson stole third scored on Sanders' short hit. Hamilton struck out and Downie was put out at first, a short hit to Baker retiring the Raglans.

Ray struck out and Corliss, got pretty single through short stop and third bag. Terrill reached first on fielder's choice. Corliss being retired at second. Robinson reached first on fly hit by Haynes. Joeger received first as present. Bradley hit to Haynes and was retired. Moshberg hit short to Ray and through out at first. Morris hit by pitched ball. Davis scored a two-bagger. Teabo went to first on balls, Patterson flew out to Terrill, Morris scored before the ball was returned. Haynes flew out to Robinson.

White struck out, Morrow hit to right field and advanced to third on Baker's neat two-bagger. Ray flew out to Hamilton, Corliss made a timely hit through third and short, Baker advanced to third and Morrow scored on the hit and Corliss stole to second. With two men on bases Terrill failed to connect with the ball and struck out.
