Divorce Proceedings.

The following parties have filed petitions for divorce at the next session of the circuit court:

Rosa M. Haskins vs. John Haskins. Plaintiff says: that they were married in Roseburg, Oct. 25, 1895; that she has been a good, true and affectionate wife, but that John has made her life miserable by cruel and inhuman treatment; that at Myrtle Creek, on Nov. 1, 1896, he, in the presence of witnesses, called her vile names; that the same month, he took a stick and beat her with it; that at Yoncalla, he called her vile names and beat her again with a stick in the presence of witnesses; that John is a strong, lusty man, but will not support and care for her and her children, and that he has not contributed one cent towards the support of the child. She prays for divorce and custody of child and costs of suit.

James Inman vs. Emily F. Inman. The plaintiff, in his petition, alleges: that they were married at Beaver Falls, Pa., July 29, 1869, and have ever since that time been, and now are, husband and wife. They came to Douglas county in 1892; no children are living; that up to Oct. 15, 1901, everything on his part was honest and molasses, but a split up occurred on that date and that she
