While watching a traveling tree pruner going through an orchard recently sawing and cutting limbs right and left, it occured to the writer that if all trees were pruned in the manner in which that job was being done the practice of pruning had better never been introduced, and the trees and shrubs left to grow at their own sweet will. peripetetic tree pruner, because he had neglected to inform himself upon a few of apple trees, if attended to for the first three or four years after they have set out, is practically finished, and they will seldom need the application of the saw or knife afterward. The pruning of apple trees is best done from the time the leaves fall in Autumn until their appearance again in the spring. It trim up peaches and plums at this time of the year. They will stand the operation much better and give better results such as the blackberry and raspberry. to the people of the Nile and the inhabimay be gone over and all the canes that tants of that land were blest and happy, ing God and that of Aeschylus, who bore fruit the past summer removed, and the gooseberry and currants may be gone over and thinned out. It should be borne in mind at all times that indiscriminate cutting and slashing is not priming. We have seen men who would not pass through the orchard; at any time of the year without reaching for all the world. While he was gone his load of the celebrated Page fence, which all the world.
