The movement for an increase in teachers' salaries, is one that has long been overdue. There is no class of professional people that must keep any more on the alert than a progressive teacher, and there is no other class of professional people so poorly paid. Thirty-five to fifty dollars per month for eight or nine month's work, is what the greater part of the teachers receive, when the cost of a bare living is deducted there is nothing left and it is small wonder that many are leaving the profession.

Amicus.
For the last week a drunken French fortune teller has been making things miserable for the citizens and city officials in Roseburg, raising disturbances on the streets, singing etc. It is said that during one day he entered the residence of one of our citizens during his absence and frightened his wife who was alone, by demanding something to eat. The lady recovered from her fright and ordered the scamp out, and when he refused to go, she picked up a chair and threatened him with it, and he started to back out, but when she again set the chair down he refused to leave. She then picked up a hand saw and struck him with it. He again retreated and passed out the back door which was locked after him. He was arrested twice during his stay here. The first time he was fined five dollars, but as he was shy of cash Recorder Marsters took all he had and turned him loose. The second time he had no cash and was allowed to go on his promise to leave town, which he did Friday night for the north.
