VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Washingtton. June 25 .- Preparations for the National Clackamas, Multnomah-Holcomb, O. encampment at American Lake July 7 W., Jr. competent men so as to produce the very Welch, Madison best results possible.

This encampment with its hordes of men from every vocation in life presents J. S., Steiner, R. E. L. features of thought and interest in every detail. To the regular Army soldier it relieves the monotony of barracks life and gives him the opportunity of competing with his lesser brother, the militiaman-or tin soldier as he terms him-and to criticise him as he awk- ly, R. N., Kuney, C C. wardly enters into the spirit of the play war and endeavors to discipline himself to appear like his brother regulars.

To the citizen soldier this idea of military camp life affords new or portunities that probably could not be gained in any other way. The generous allowance made by the Government and the excellent care which is taken of the men lain, W. D. act as an incentive to the citizen, as they can secure an outing that will be decidedly beneficial as well as inexpensive. Besides this they are accessible to rare military training.

The entire maneuver is at the expense of the General Government, and is provided for by a special appropriation. The complete supervision is under the ing the Department of the Columbia. The official name of the camp will be: "Headquarters Maneuver Division, Bri- tracted malaria. ted States Army, Commanding."
