BOYS HOLD UP REFORM SCHOOL ESCAPES

ALBANY, July 15 .- Two Oregon Reform School boys who escaped from that institution on Wednesday afternoon were captured at Jefferson, a few miles north of this city, yesterday by two small boys, who were in the woods at play. The two little fellows had with them a toy rifle, and when they saw the two escapes from the Reform School, of whose disappearance they had heard, they boldly decided on capturing them.

Holding his toy rifle in such a manner as to give the escapes the impression that it was a full-grown target rifle, one of the boys called on the fugutives to surrender, at the same time pointing the gun in their direction. The escapes seeing a gun staring them in the face, imagined it to be the size of a cannon, and meekly obeyed the order to march into the town of Jefferson, where grown people assisted the boy captors in securing the runaways.

Superintendent N. H. Looney, of the Reform School, was notified of the catch, and at once came up and escorted the boys back to school, after paying the young captors $10 each for the service they had performed for the state.
