A shaded nook under the stately cottonwoods on the island in the Umpqua river opposite Roseburg, was the scene of a merry social gathering of a select crowd of young people Wednesday evening. A platform was erected and an opportunity afforded to all to trip the light fantastic, to the strains of good music which was provided for the delightful occasion. Ice cream, cake and other refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening was the verdict of all.

Messrs. Wimerly, Ryan and Robinson have the honor of planning and successfully carrying out this ideal summer event, but deny all responsibility in missing the ford with one of the teams on returning to town in the evening and somewhat dampening the ardor of some members of the joyous crowd.

He reports business affairs a little quiet on Coos Bay, but says home seekers and investors continue to arrive almost daily. North Bend is growing rapidly.

Ben D. Boswell, proprietor of the widely celebrated Boswell Springs near Drain, on the line of the Southern Pacific, was in Eugene Tuesday. Mr. Boswell states that his patronage so far this season has been three times what it was up to the present time during last year. The curative qualities of the Boswell springs water is known far and wide, and many people there are who can testify to its virtues.—Register.

Mrs. W. F. Osburn is in receipt of a letter from her son, Arthur J. Glascoe, who is on the battleship Oregon, now at Hongkong, China, stating that the Oregon is under orders to proceed to Portland, Oregon, next year, during the Lewis and Clarke fair. Many Oregonians will thereby be privileged to visit the great, famous battleship, named after our own beloved state.—Eugene Register.

In the matter of the estate of Henry Easton, deceased, it is ordered that the administratrix be authorized to sell all or a part of said estate, comprising lot 13, block 18 in Portland, appraised at $100; lot 3, block 1, in Sumner, Oregon, appraised at $25; 2 1/2 acres east of Roseburg, appraised at $150, for the purpose of paying the indebtedness held against said estate, which has been appraised at less than $300.

Dr. E. DuGas returned home with "D" company from the American Lake Encampment and can be found at his office again. He says Co. D. made a fine record, every member conducting himself in an orderly and gentlemanly manner, the battalion to which this company belonged being highly complimented for its soldierly conduct. Miss Grace DuGas who has been attending school at Portland since last fall, returned home with her father.

F. E. Alley, the well known abstractor, received the unwelcome news Wednesday of the death of Miss Alice, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jones at Selma, California, on that date. The remains will be taken to Eugene for burial, the services to be held at that place Friday at 10 o'clock. Mr. Alley went to Portland Wednesday to look after business matters, and will stop off Friday at Eugene to be in attendance at the funeral, the little girl being his sisters child.

Ex County Clerk D. R. Shambrook has accepted the agency for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, one of the oldest and best of the old line companies. Its plan of insurance is the most up-to-date and not only affords a man and his family safe protection but a good investment in which it is not necessary to die to win. Do not insure or take out a policy until you consult Mr. Shambrook.

DIED

GODWIN—At the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Smick, two and one-half miles east of Roseburg, Mrs. Jerusha Godwin.

Mrs. J. Alma Godwin was born January 22, 1816, in Jounstown, N. Y., being at the time of her death, July 20, 1904, 88 years and 6 months old.

Her ancestors in the paternal line came from England and in the maternal line from Germany, settling in America before the Revolutionary war. On her father's side, being Quakers, they did not participate in the war for Independence, but her grandfather on her mother's side served seven years—during the entire struggle—and at the conclusion would not accept a pension, and enjoined upon his children that they should not receive anything from the Government. Mrs. Godwin inherited the same characteristic of sterling character as those of her ancestors—ever ready for duty, no matter if she were in the minority.

She is survived by two sisters and one brother, and by her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Smick, her older daughter, Mrs. Gage, having two years ago preceded her to the land of rest. Six grand-sons and one grand-daughter also survive her.

In her last illness she suffered but a few days and was unconscious during most of the time. The first stroke of paralysis coming on Friday and the second on Monday, her death occurring on Wednesday, July 20, 1904. She has passed from suffering and is at rest—gone to meet many of the loved ones she called for with her fleeting breath. The funeral services were held at the family residence, conducted by Rev. Robert Christensen, and interment in the Masonic Cemetery.

Here is the Chance for You.

For sale or rent: a good farm about 8 miles from the city, in good condition. 50 acres in cultivation. House, barn, and outbuildings. Continuous living water on the place. Crop of grain now growing that should be harvested at once. Machinery goes with place. See me at once. LOUIS BARRETT. J11-21p

PHEASANTS BEING SLAUGHTERED

Many Douglas County Sportsmen Laboring Under a Misapprehension.

J. L. Cole, a prominent farmer of near Wilbur, made the PLAINDEALER a pleasant call Monday. He stated that many sportsmen in this county had misconstrued the late decision of Attorney General A. M. Crawford regarding the protection of Chinese pheasants, to mean that the old law as well as the new measure passed at the special session of the legislature was invalid, and were already slaughtering young pheasants on every hand regardless of the closed season. The attorney general's recent decision had bearing only on the bill passed at the special session of the legislature last winter prohibiting the killing of pheasants until 1905, and the old law protecting these game birds from Dec. 1, to Sept. 1, is still in full effect, and any violators of this law will be vigorously prosecuted if apprehended by State Game Warden J. W. Baker or any of his deputies. A hint to the wise sportsman should be sufficient.

Some Pretty Souvenirs.

Just now Rice & Rice, the well known house furnishers, are displaying an elegant line of rare and dainty souvenir dishes and fine earthen ware novelties in one of their large show windows, every piece of which contains a fine picture of Douglas county's fine court house, located in Roseburg. This ware is the product of a large factory in Germany and Rice & Rice have patiently awaited the arrival of these goods for which there has long been a demand in this city. Owing to the low price of this souvenir ware, "your choice for 25 cents" it is going like hot cakes, every piece of which is a fine advertisement for Roseburg and Douglas county.

Flour Mill Sold.

H. F. Deardorff & Co. have sold their fine flouring mills at Oakland to Mr. W. A. Taylor, who will take possession on August first. Mr. Taylor is an experienced miller who is known all over the state as a man of superior business ability, and he will no doubt more than maintain the excellent reputation of this institution so long since established by Deardorff Bros., who have not yet announced their future plans.
