After Our Creameryman.
The Portland Telegram of Wednesday springs a sensational little story in which C. E. Gaddis, the Roseburg creameryman, figures as the principal, in which it is alleged that Gaddis went to Portland recently and procured a license to wed a young lady of Marion county, whereupon it is alleged without foundation, that he and his sponsor perjured themselves in securing the license. IN CIRCUIT COURT.
W. H. Watson of Glendale Convicted on Charge of Arson.
GETS FIFTEEN YEARS.
Other Criminal Cases Given a Hearing and Disposed of.

It took the jury only fifteen minutes to arrive at a verdict of guilty as charged, in the arson case of W. H. Watson, of Glendale, whose case occupied the attention of the circuit court all day Monday. Fully a dozen citizens of Glendale were witnesses for the state, but the most damaging testimony of all against Watson came mutely from a tell-tale kerosene can which was packed in a telescopic vase with saturated rags. A long wick or fuse was also a part of this convincing assortment of articles, all of which were taken from a lodging house occupied by Watson on the night of the fire at Glendale a little more than three weeks ago, the destruction of the building as well as the adjoining property being prevented only by the heroic work of local citizens.

The verdict so promptly reached by the jury came as no surprise, not even to Watson himself perhaps, who when on the witness stand seemed ill at ease, and in no criminal case ever tried in the Douglas county circuit court has the evidence, though circumstantial, been more convincing.

Watson was taken before Judge Hamilton Thursday afternoon to receive sentence, and seemed little moved when the judge gave him a term of 15 years in the state penitentiary to which institution he will be escorted by Sheriff McClallen tomorrow and turned over to the authorities.

Lewis and Clark Gold Coins.
The Lewis and Clark gold dollars are now to be seen at the Douglas County bank in Roseburg where a limited number have been placed on sale. These coins were manufactured from Oregon gold and are singularly interesting from the fact that they have two heads or obverses. On one side is the head of Captain William Clark and the words "United States of America" and "One Dollar." On the other side appears the head of Captain Meriwether Lewis and the words "Lewis-Clark Expedition, Portland, Ore., and the date "1804." The coin has neither wreath nor stars.

Some estimate of the value of this small issue of souvenir legal tender gold dollars may be made from the present value of the ordinary United States gold dollar, of which there were coined 19,499,337 between the years 1819 and 1880. These now sell for two dollars each.

The Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition Company offers for sale at the price of two dollars ($2.00) each, these Souvenir Gold Dollars. To each purchaser of five coins will be given one coin free of charge, making six for ten dollars. These coins are issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, under authority of an act of Congress, approved by President Roosevelt, April 13, 1904. The issue is limited to 250,000.

E. A. Adams, proprietor of the Golden Rule Bazaar, at Myrtle Point, was in attendance at Presbytery in Roseburg this week, and from this city went to Portland to put in a new stock of goods before returning home. He favored the PLAINDEALER with a pleasant call.

Hurrah for the G. O. P.

Hurrah for the Grand Old Party Of McKinley and Lincoln and Grant Whose motto is ever "Progress." And never the whining, "you can't!" That gave away the homesteads That loosed the bondman's chain, That freed the struggling Cuban, From the galling yoke of Spain, That keeps the factory humming, Full of life and hope and song, And sets its deeds to the measure Of eternal right and wrong.

Hurrah for our standard bearer! Our leader, who dares to do! Unheeding each wordy quibble Of the carping critic few. Who speaks his honest convictions In tones both loud and clear, And enforces the laws of his country, Without malice, or favor, or fear. Who asks not creed nor color, But that each in an equal right Shall receive the law's protection And shall keep his honor bright.

Hurrah for the man and the party! When ye come to pick and choose Will ye block the wheels of progress? Will ye fortune's gifts refuse? Will ye vote to take the pittance From the veteran, old and gray? Will ye vote to lower wages To the Oriental's pay? Will ye shirk a guardian's duty In the islands of the sea? Fear ye lest a single soldier Make a thousand bend the knee.
