THE ADMIRAL'S REPORT

On His Attack on the Fishing Fleet in the North Sea.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—The Naval General Staff publishes the following dispatches from Vice Admiral Rojevsky:

"First dispatch.—The North Sea incident was caused by two torpedo-boats advancing to attack without lights, under cover of darkness, against the vessel leading the detachment. When the detachment turned on its searchlights and opened fire the presence of several small steamboats resembling steam fishing-boats was discovered. The detachment endeavored to spare these, and ceased firing as soon as the torpedo-boats were out of sight.

"The English press is indignant because a torpedo-boat led by the detachment on the spot until morning did not aid the victims. Now, there was not a single torpedo-boat near the detachment and none was left behind, consequently the vessel remaining near the small steamboats was that torpedo-boat which was not sunk but only damaged. The detachment did not aid the little steamboats because we suspected them of complicity on account of their obstinately cutting into the order of the positions of our vessels. Several of them showed no lights, and others only very late."

"Second dispatch.—Having met several hundred fishing-boats, the squadron showed them every consideration except when they were in company with foreign torpedo-boats of which, one disappeared, while the other, according to the fishers' own evidence, remained among them until morning. They supposed it was a Russian and were indignant because it did not aid the victims; but it was foreign and remained until morning seeking the other torpedo-boat, its consort, either to repair damage or through fear of betraying itself to those who were not its accomplices. If there were also on the spot fishermen impudently dragged into the enterprise, I beg in the name of the whole squadron to express my sincere regret to the unfortunate victims of circumstances under which no warship, even in time of deep peace, could have acted otherwise."

Vigo, Spain, Oct. 28.—The Spanish authorities gave permission for the Russian squadron to coal, limiting each vessel to 400 tons. The squadron sailed today at daybreak, its alleged destination being Tangier.

High School Suffers Defeat.

The football game, the first of the season, between the Roseburg and Eugene high school football teams, proved a rather one-sided affair on the Roseburg gridiron last Saturday, resulting as it did, in a score of 11 to 0 in favor of the visitors. It was evident that the Eugene team had been doing some thorough practice work, while the home team had not got down to hard work yet. The Daily Guard said: "The Eugene team, since it was organized, has been practicing hard and is now in good shape. Those who made the trip are Manager Kestly, Bean, Catlin, Francis, Watson, Mitchell, Farrington, Luckey, Farrow, McNulty, Dunhart, Hawkins, Dimmick and Delany."

Friday night the Philodorian Debating Society of the High School. All numbers deserve commendation, but the feature of the evening was a dialogue by six of the pupils of the eighth grade.
