SENATOR MITCHELL'S COVETOUS CRITICS

There is evidently a politician or two in Oregon who are decidedly ambitious to step into Senator Mitchell's shoes. This fact was demonstrated lately in the bickerings of the Salem Statesman and its honest, and private convictions publicly expressed, that John H. Mitchell the money go? We have all wondered. Here is how should have promptly responded to that subpoena or call to come to Portland and submit a lot of immaterial testimony in the land fraud case. It appears rather queer that the Statesman should be the only newspaper in Oregon to take this view of it-but let us see! Is not one Theodore Thurston Geer now editing that paper? And does not Theodore have a decided hankering to succeed the Hon. John H. Mitchell in the U. S. Senate? There is a suspicion that he does, therefore he could hardly be expected, from a selfish political standpoint, to overlook or miss an opportunity to cast a slight reflection upon the senior senator, or frankly admit that he was not doing just the proper thing in remaining at his post of duty at a most critical time instead of coming all the way back to Oregon to submit a little unimportant and immaterial testimony. These criticisms of Senator Mitchell certainly do not come with good grace from the Statesman, but smack decidedly of intrigue and peanut politics. In the meantime Senator Mitchell has been advanced to a greater position of usefulness to the West and is even booked for the chairmanship of the Panama Canal committee. He can therefore withstand small attacks from the rear with the greatest equanimity. Senator Mitchell by his excellent record, his ability and commanding presence has attained an influence and esteem in the United States Senate enjoyed by few Western Senators, and the people are convinced that he is doing more for Oregon than any of his covetous critics or detractors ever have done or will is an important one in its relation to the Pacific coast inever be able to do.

NO EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

No extraordinary session of Congress will be held next spring for a revision of the tariff. That has been decided definitely. The question of an extraordinary session next fall is in abeyance.

President Roosevelt has announced this decision and said he had abandoned any idea of calling Congress into extraordinary session in the spring as it did not seem practical to hold a session for tariff at that time. He indicated, however, that he might call a session for next fall, although no absolute determination of that point has yet been reached.

In view of this decision, the President told Representative Cooper, of Texas, that he had decided to make a the far East. Southern trip next spring.
