Marjorie and Mistletoe

By Milton R. Greer

Copyright, 1904, by Milton R. Greer.

Marjorie and mistletoe!
Rarer combination
Never stirred man's heart, I trow,
With sweeter expectation!
Shining spray of mistletoe,
Snowy beads a-cluster,
Lips that lure and eyes that
glow
With a June day luster!

Marjorie and mistletoe,
Both suggesting kisses!
Craven he who dares forego
Such supernal blisses;
Craven he, a dullard slow,
Needing small condolence;
Wise the wight, where kisses
grow,
Who plucks them no less vo-lens!

Sleet may beat and swirling snow
Blur the darkened window;
Crooning winds, now high,
now low,
Chant a shrill crescendo;
What reth I, where dark eyes
glow,
Of starless skies and stormy?
Marjorie and mistletoe
Make endless summer for me!

CHRISTMASIDE.

This is the glad Christmaside when the spirit of giving pervades all the world, and the common man lies awake nights wondering what he shall do and how he shall do it, and who'll pay for it after it is all over. It is thus we foolishly discount joy. It is little things which bother common men, yet the hand of fate seems to be preparing Christmas gifts for nations and the world in a way that is big with portent of rejoicing. Over in the far East Japan is planning to give a magnificent drubbing to Russia about this time. This is a Christmas gift Russia sadly needs. Russia seems to be in a fair way to give Japan the victory of a righteous war. That will please Japan to the limit. While they are about it the two might well combine and give Manchuria back to the Manchurians to whom it belongs and thus make all eastern Asia thrill with the Christmas spirit. Peace in the far East is a gift that the world would gladly receive, and may yet get it. That might give the various peace congresses a chance to give the rest of us a rest from the amusing notion that peace between nations can be brought about by the people of a third nation hiring a hall and spouting about it and having the speeches printed in full in the daily papers. The fact is this world is full of opportunities for Christmas giving in the large way and all of us can see them. It is the little personal things which bother us. That's why it's lucky the Christmas season comes but once a year.

AN OUTRAGE ON JUSTICE.

It is stated that Hitcock's high-salaried hirelings have promised commutation of sentence or immunity to Puter, Emma Watson and others convicted in the land fraud case if they will testify implicating in any manner Congressman Hermann and Senator Mitchell. Herein appears to be a more dastardly, corrupt, and deep laid plot than the land fraud swindle itself. It is generally known that Hitcock has left no stone unturned in his endeavor to implicate Hermann at least, in the land fraud case, and having failed in his revengeful purpose up to this time has become desperate in his endeavor to vindicate his unenviable attitude toward Mr. Hermann and his home state by bringing about his indictment by some means whether fair or foul. This latest attempt to wring damaging testimony against Hermann and Mitchell from parties who have been proven devoid of principle, honor, integrity and common decency; who have lived in open violation of all statutory and moral law; who have repeatedly perjured themselves; have resorted to all manners of fraudulent and villainous transactions and have been convicted on all of these counts; we say the effort of Hitcock and his hirelings to attempt to introduce testimony from such a source to implicate two of Oregon's most honest, worthy and highly honored state representatives, is a criminal outrage, an insult to the state of Oregon and a reproach to the government itself, which retains at the head of its Interior Department a man who will resort to such questionable methods. It is stated in this connection that one of the government's attorneys, who has been active in prosecuting this land fraud case, upon learning of this latest move on the part of Hitcock to introduce and accept convict testimony or statements of parties self convicted of high-handed fraud, at once denounced the purpose as outrageous and declined to be a party to such a procedure. With a two-year term in the penitentiary and a fine of $10,000 each staring them in the face, what testimony would not such persons of the Puter, Watson, Walgamot ilk submit upon a promise of immunity or commutation of sentence? The very spectacle of a grand jury considering such testimony is repugnant, repulsive and a reproach to justice.

PEACE ON EARTH, GOODWILL TOWARD MEN

Your gratefulness to God should direct you toward your brother man. To have received is to have a debt to pay. Rendering true Thanksgiving is the very way to pay the debt. Thanksgiving is therefore an active gratefulness, a very thirst to grow useful and helpful to all suffering and in want.

MITCHELL AND HERMANN'S HOME COMING.

Several days ago there was given out what purported to be a newspaper interview with Hitcock, secretary of the interior, containing the very strong intimation that Senator Mitchell was mixed up in the timber tangle. This report coming directly after Hene's effort to get Mitchell and Hermann back here to testify in the McKinley-Puter-Ware case, and the subsequent sudden dropping of the case to the astonishment of the public, all coupled with the convening of the grand jury and Mitchell and Hermann's decision to come to Oregon at once and appear in their defense, puts an interesting phase on the whole situation.

When men with as clean political records as those possessed by Mitchell and Hermann are forced into the land fraud cases, it is apparent that the prosecution is driven to desperate straits in an effort to make a showing.

But, what is more apparent, Hitcock realizes that unless he can land some big game in this mix up he is done for both as secretary of the interior, and forever after, politically.

The case is taking on a national aspect, but will dissolve into thin air when Mitchell and Hermann reach Portland and make their statement before the grand jury if allowed to do so.

While it may, in a sense, be humiliating to men of their standing, to have even a breath of suspicion whispered against their personal or political integrity, it is morally certain that their act in coming home to defend their honor will exact instead of debase them in the estimation of the public.

THE REGISTER ACTUATED BY SELFISH MOTIVES

The Eugene Register asks the request for the annexation of the Douglas county portion of the Bohemia mines has "come from the miners and the people interested themselves, in order to facilitate the business of the various enterprises in which they are engaged, which will aid in the more rapid progress and development of the country."

The Register is all at once very solicitous for the welfare of the miners and people of South Lane county and would accede to their every demand, since Eugene is to profit by the consummation of the object sought. However, we remember very distinctly when this same paper most vigorously opposed and condemned a far more wide-reaching, practical and worthy demand on the part of the Bohemia miners and not only all of the people of South Lane, but many of North Douglas as well, a demand or movement which, had it not been defeated by the Register and Eugene politicians, would have had the effect to greatly promote and stimulate the development of not only the Bohemia mines, but the timber, agricultural and numerous other industries of South Lane and North Douglas, and bring about a new era in the growth and advancement of that favored territory. We refer to the plan for the formation of a new county out of a portion of South Lane and North Douglas, a plan which, owing to the geographical location, the mountain chains and course of the streams of that section, seemed most practical and worthy of support in order to "facilitate the business of the people engaged in various enterprises and aid in the more rapid progress and development of that part of the country."

In the former movement the Register has a selfish motive back of its endorsements and support; in the latter movement the Register was and is still actuated by a selfish motive in condemning and opposing it. The last mentioned cause is the most worthy and practical of the two.

WILL EFFECT OREGON FOREST RANGERS.

The President issued an order Saturday placing under civil service rules all positions in the Forest Reserve Corps of the General Land Office. This will affect 538 employees of whom only 25 are employed in Washington. The positions brought into the classified service are principally forest rangers, forest supervisors, superintendents and forest inspectors.

Black Patti Troubadours

Mirth, melody and music is the keynote of the performance to be given by the famous Black Patti Troubadours at the Roseburg Theater, Wednesday evening, Dec. 28.

These sweet singers and ebony colored funmakers of Dixie land have been recognized for years as a high class standard attraction and one that has scored a phenomenal popular success with theatre-goers in all sections of the country. Among the forty in its ranks are to be found the most talented Afro-American singers, dancers and comedians in the world. Sissieretta Jones, the BLACK PATTI, the vocal star of the organization, in addition to being the most gifted singer of her race, enjoys the distinction of having sung before the largest audiences that ever assembled in Madison Square Garden, New York City, and the only colored female singer honored by royal command to sing before the former Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII of England. In this country BLACK PATTI and the Troubadours through their enjoyable stage performance have added largely to the musical culture of the people. Their happy revival of the sweet melodies of the South—reminiscent of Ante Bellum days—the plantation, the cotton field and the levee has been a musical revelation to millions.

While sweet harmonies are woven all through a Troubadours performance, yet there is an abundance of refined farce contributed by John Tucker, the Alabama Blossom, and a score or more funsters in the new skit "Looney Dream-land."

NAN PATTERSON

TRIAL IS ENDED

Attorney for Defense Makes a Startling Summary Surprising Hearers.

New York, Dec. 21.—Connel Levy closed up the Nan Patterson murder case for the defense in a long, exhaustive speech. He pointed out the weakness of the prosecution's case, and spoke of the conflicting testimony of the cabman and the boy who jumped on the cabstep.

"Either Caesar Young killed himself or he was killed by the defendant," said Levy. "You must either acquit this girl or give her the full punishment of the law."

Levy spoke of the life of the defendant and of her scarlet sins, and dramatically declared: "Were she the vilest strumpet of the street, and her soul as black as the gates of hell, she is entitled to as square and fair a trial as the sweetest and purest woman."

The defendant's counsel told of the life of Young and of his complex disposition. He said Young was a man who would naturally love two women. He had great sympathy for the widow in her bereavement, but the verdict of the jury, whatever it was, could not bring her husband back.

Levy declared that no evidence had been brought out to show that Young tried to get rid of the defendant.

Levy caused a sensation by declaring that Luce purchased the revolver with which Young was killed.

"He swore that he had been in Stein's pawnshop, but not on June 3," said Levy. "Why was he there? Luce was the last man who saw Young that morning. Perhaps he may have given the revolver to him that he might carry a means of protection while abroad."

When Levy closed a recess was taken. The case will soon go to the jury.

Musings.

Nelson he had god fella. Ay, tank he skol win yet.

Britt will never loose a decision until he fights somewhere else than California. It is a hard time on the young man who has a lot of best girls—but serves his right.

Sunday is as good day as any for Xmas, except for the kid's with new drums and tin horns.

A Portland policeman proposed to a girl the other day and she said: "O, I couldn't think of resisting an officer!"

The law will probably be added to the game law of Oregon a closed season for saloons in some parts of the state dating from January 1.

G. W. Hug is captain of the Eugene University basket ball team. No wonder he was chosen captain by the young ladies. Look at that name.

So highly satisfactory was that new fangled belt purchased by Jas. Newland of Dave Shambrock, that upon the former's recommendation S. C. Bartram has purchased two.

Our esteemed brother over the way is advertising "Tricks of fake mediums, and how they work them." We did not suppose any paper in the state except the Portland Journal was authority on the question.

WILL TEST PROHIBITION LAW

A petition for a Writ of Review was filed in the Douglas Circuit Court today by Max Weiss, plaintiff, and against the County Court of Douglas County, defendant. There are eight lengthy articles embodied in the petition. It is alleged that the County Court erred in its proceedings in giving notice of election bearing on the prohibition issue, etc., and plaintiff prays for an order from the Circuit Court declaring that the enforcement of the prohibition law be suspended until the final termination of this proceeding. The details of this action will be published in the next issue of the Plaindealer.

JIMMY BRITT

GETS DECISION

But the Twenty Round Battle Was Practically a Draw

Mechanics Pavilion, San Francisco, Dec. 20.—At the end of the 20th round tonight with Jimmy Britt and "Bat-ling" Nelson of Chicago fighting like a pair of bulldogs, the gong sounded the end of the contest and Referee Billy Roche unhesitatingly announced the California boy as winner of the contest.

In the closing round Britt was punching the Chicago boy all over the ring, but his blows lacked sufficient force to put a quietus on his opponent.

The fight was an exemplification of how much punishment a human being can endure and not succumb. At several stages of the fight Nelson was badly punished but always kept gamely coming up to the firing line. Only once did he have the local boy in distress and then Britt's excellent generalship and the advice of his seconds saved him from going too close to the danger point. Nelson is unquestionably a wonder in the pugilistic world. Time after time, after taking blows heavy enough to put out an ordinary fighter, he would come up apparently in his earlier form, and bring the fighting into Britt's territory.

Referee Roche announced that he gave the fight to Britt on cleaner hitting and the greater number of points scored. A retrospect of the fight bears out the justice of the decision, although Nelson did most of the leading.

Britt displayed greater ability as a boxer, and his blows were cleaner and more forceful, while Nelson was sadly deficient in long arm blows and most of his attempts to reach his opponent while both men were free were ineffectual.

The house was the largest ever seen in San Francisco, and it is estimated that the fighters will divide nearly $40,000 between them. There are no visible marks of punishment with the exception of some slight puffiness about the eyes, but Britt's face was bleeding in several places from the force of blows delivered by Nelson in the clinches.

Additional Local News.

L. J. Simpson of North Bend, was in Roseburg Monday. He reports every thing prosperous in that thriving town.

Miss May Davidson, who has been in California for some time, is now visiting with her mother and brother in Roseburg.

J. J. Chadwick was down from Myrtle Creek Tuesday. Mrs. Chadwick is now steadily improving from a very critical illness.

Justice John Long went out to Camas Valley to appear as an attorney in the civil action of Culver vs. Lehnier which was tried there Wednesday.

L. S. Fortin of Coles Valley was looking after business in Roseburg Wednesday and favored the Plaindealer with a subscription payment to Jan. 1, 1905.

W. L. Cobb has in the window of his real estate office an attractive display of Douglas county fruits and vegetables including some gold medal prunes. He also has some very creditable home paintings of Oregon scenery on display.

A well written Christmas story was presented for publication in the Plaindealer by M. Deles Livingston, but until our Christmas pages had all been made up, which rendered it impossible to use this excellent contribution, which we greatly regret.

Mrs. C. M. Cady, wife of the local truck operator at the S. P. depot, returned Monday evening from a visit with relatives in Corvallis. Mr. Cady has been assigned to the duties of night operator at Drain, and will move there with his wife on January 1.

A silk flag vying contest scheme is being worked in every town between Portland and Roseburg, and it has struck this city on schedule time. Of course the "most popular" lodge, church, school or any old organization, is the one which carries off the stars and stripes. This is another reminder that we see exemplified over and over again, the famous assertion of P. T. Barnum, the great showman, that "the people like to be humbugged." It will probably be so to the end of time when Gabriel toots his big bass horn.
