The local option bill was defeated in the Idaho legislature.

Burn your Montgomery & Ward, and Sears, Roebuck & Co. catalogues and trade with home merchants.

Senator Clark of Montana chews gum. Is this the example set by the Senate or by his twenty-year-old wife?

Don't be a growler, grumbler or disorganizer, but join in with the progressive ones of your town to push things ahead.

June will be a big month in Portland. The Lewis and Clark Exposition and the land fraud trials upon simultaneously.

W. F. "Jack" Matthews has announced his retirement from the political leadership of the republican party in Oregon.

The bill board nuisance has been abated, in part at least, in Roseburg. Brick blocks are going up on the vacant lots they occupied.

The "Trail" will be a quiet place on Sunday during the Lewis and Clark exposition, as all machinery and amusement will be stopped.

Sooner or later the people must decide whether they want Government control of industries or industrial control of the Government.

Major Kinney is having his troubles. The North Bend Harbor publishes a communication from J. H. Diers in which the Major's methods are given through airing.

A successful man gives as his formula for success the following: "I devote one-half of my time attending to my own business, and the other half in letting other people's business alone."

Any young American finding his fiancée without her mamma in a foreign city would not have telephoned to papa to know what to do. The German crown prince is evidently lacking in imagination and the appreciation of the opportunity to have a really good, unchaperoned time.

A Chicago man who has a representative in Hood River was there last week and said: "Hood River is not only making a national reputation for her fruit, but is doing more to advertise Oregon among the eastern people than all the rest of the state put together." Big red-checked winter apple done the business.

Dr. James Withycombe, of Corvallis, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, is an avowed candidate for the republican nomination for Governor of Oregon. Among those who have been talked of in connection with the republican nomination for the Governorship are: C. A. Johns, of Baker City; I. L. Patterson, of Salem; M. A. Moody, of The Dalles; Henry E. Ankeny, of Eugene and A. C. Marsters, of Roseburg.

Among the items included in the general appropriation bill of the state legislature of Washington, now in session, is $264,000 for maintenance of the three Normal schools of that state. This is over $121,000 apiece. Thus each of the three Washington Normal schools (provided this appropriation is divided equally among them) will receive over $8000 more than was voted by the Oregon legislature for all four of the Normal schools of this state. Yet there are people in Oregon who refer to the comparatively small pittance allowed for Normal schools in this state as a "graft" and talk of invoking the referendum for the purpose of cutting off entirely the state support of these schools. Oregon is seeking eastern immigration and cannot afford to be niggardly in the support of educational institutions if we expect to attract the better classes of citizens.

Members of the Multnomah delegation to the recent Legislature which passed the $1,000,000 appropriation bill, against which the citizens of Yamhill have taken steps to invoke the referendum, are unanimous in declaring themselves as of the opinion that the movement started is ill-advised and apt to prove productive of bad results. It is admitted that the Normal school feature is the one responsible for the attitude of those who oppose the bill, but even these advise against action by the people that may result in compelling the state to conduct its business upon a warrant basis for the next two years. The movement of the Yamhill people will receive no support in Southern Oregon.

The Plaindealer is devoting considerable space to the Southern Oregon mines from time to time from the fact that this is rapidly becoming one of the most important and profitable industries in Southwestern Oregon. Many very valuable mining properties are being developed and operated on an extensive scale with excellent returns. The Bohemia mining district in the northeast part of this county is destined to become a flourishing camp and to save this mining district from covetous Lane county a good road must be completed into the district by Douglas county and more interest must be manifested on the part of Douglas county in the development of the district. We came near losing this valuable territory at the late session of the legislature and if some effort is not put forth before the next session to provide an outlet from the mines to Roseburg we will surely lose the Bohemia mining district and the extensive trade therefrom, which now goes to Cottage Grove and Eugene.

The Japanese Government has been greatly exercised in its mind over the low stature of the soldiers, and it appointed a commission to study the causes and to suggest a remedy that may aid in correcting the national shortness.

The commission has published its report, and it ascribes the shortness of the Japanese to the habit of sitting on the heels instead of on a chair. This attitude, it holds, had prevented the legs of the Japanese from growing, and it suggests that the children should for the future sit in the European fashion and thus allow their legs to develop.

The legs of the Japanese may be short, but they are uncommonly sturdy, and are capable of great feats in marching. Moreover, it should be remembered that a short soldier bears bullets whistle harmlessly overhead which would kill a taller man. In these days of magazine rifles height is of little advantage.

One simple, single thing is the foundation of all this eagerness for money, without conscientious care as how it is obtained. Men have been following the advice of the father to his son as he set out upon his career: "My son, get money, honestly if you can, but get money." The love of money is not the root of all evil, but it is responsible for an immense amount of evil. Every man by frugality and energy can earn sufficient for all their wants honestly; but that does not seem enough; they burn and fret with a desire to get rich, to get things for nothing or without rendering a fair equivalent. Most of them use their knowledge to obtain money or property wrongfully. To get money or property seems the main thing; the only thing; heedless of how they come by it, just so they are not caught in the law's meshes. They become diseased with avarice, which perverts their morals and obliterates their sense of duty to their fellow men and even to themselves. What a tremendous lesson there is in all these Oregon accusations and indictments and confessions and denials. It is the sequel to the struggles of the follower of the advice, "Get money, honestly if you can, but get money."

"Nine-tenths of the divorces in the state are due to the meanness of the husbands. The divorce laws of Oregon are none too lax. In fact, I am surprised that so many women stand the abuse which is heaped upon them by the men who are not fit to be husbands. There is never a divorce granted without cause, and in many instances there is more than a good cause." Such is the opinion of Judge A. L. Frazer of Portland, concerning the so-called "divorce evils." In very few instances, in his opinion, is the divorce law abused, and in a great many more cases it is not taken advantage of when there exists abundant cause. "Of course," said the Judge, "there are instances where giddy and foolish women marry when they have no business to marry. In these cases they are to blame, and there is a slight abuse of the law. But in the great majority of cases it is the fault of the husband. Some men will treat a woman worse than they would a beast, and expect her to submit to it. Here there is no evil in a divorce, but more properly speaking a blessing. A person would not believe that men could be so mean until evidence is heard in a number of divorce cases and note the abuse heaped upon uncomplaining and noble wives. In such cases it cannot be said there is an abuse of the divorce laws, but an abuse of human laws, and the most sacred laws of heaven. Women will endure a great deal before they appeal to the courts for relief, and when they do the relief afforded by the divorce laws is never more than sufficient. I would not advocate more stringent divorce laws because as it is I think women are made to suffer more than they should."

"The iniquitous feudal system of land holding in this country is as much to blame for the frauds as are the men indicted," said D. E. S. Wood at Portland addressing the Young People's Culture union of Temple Beth Israel. "The system is a remnant of the dark ages, when the conquerors of Britain stood on the mountain top and parceled out the island to their sub-conquers. The timber and stone act today was enacted by corporation lobbies, to enable timber companies to secure the public domain." He said a man who gets 160 acres can do nothing with it but sell and this he does as soon as he can find a timber corporation that will buy. The title to all land should, he declared, be subject to actual occupation and use, and no man should be permitted to hold land, anywhere unless he improved and used it. Idle land was an iniquitous condition which caused want and misery.

At Portland a determined fight is being made to cause the removal of United States Marshal, W. F. Matthews, who but a few days ago announced his withdrawal from active participation in Oregon politics. Various charges have been filed against Mr. Matthews, among them being the allegation that he opened private letters while he was serving as Deputy Postmaster in Portland. Cognizance of attempted election frauds is another charge. There are rumors of others. Some of these charges have been forwarded to Washington, D. C. and reports of official action are expected. Opponents of Matthews point to the summary removal of District Attorney Hall, and declare they confidently expect similar action.

Several G. A. R. Posts throughout the country have passed resolutions protesting against the recent action of congress in providing that the Confederate flags captured by the union army be returned to the states from which they came on the ground that "the capture of these battle-flags cost this nation and our comrades the sacrifice of many noble, loyal and patriotic lives that this great republic might be retained among the nations of the world."

A citizen of Hood River has been having his beer shipped in boxes labeled "crackers." The drayman dropped a box the other day and the truth leaked out.

The Japs evidently don't mean to let the war drag along to suit Russia.

The Wisconsin legislature is considering a proposition to investigate the evil of tight corsets. But all the members want to be on the investigating committee.

A Colorado man declared by the doctors and others to be dead was brought back to life at the command of his wife, who insisted that she must have a final talk with him about business matters, which she did, and then he died for sure, and both were happy.

An Idaho paroled convict, who had committed another crime, was fortunately arrested just before he was to marry a pretty 17-year-old orphan girl, although he had a wife and four children and on his person were found pitiful letters from his wife begging him to return because the babies were sick and she had frozen one foot cutting wood. She said she could not write again because she had no money for stamps. Now, is an official lashing, or any other punishment that could be inflicted, too hard for a monster like that?

Liquor War on at Forest Grove

The fight between the president and trustees of Pacific University and the city of Forest Grove was commenced in earnest last week, when the college filed a complaint in the Circuit Court for an injunction restraining the issuance of a liquor license to A. G. Watson. The suit in the Circuit Court is against C. N. Johnson, mayor; A. G. Watson, applicant; and the recorder and councilmen. Forest Grove has never had a licensed saloon because the original townsite deeds, granted by the trustees of Pacific University and Turlin Academy, contained a prohibitory clause. A "Commercial Club" was established two or three years ago and managed to evade the prohibition in the dispensing of liquor and acquiring a large membership. Many took the ground that the town might as well derive revenue from the traffic, and last election three pro-license councilmen, three anti-license councilmen and a pro-license mayor became city officials. The mayor's deciding vote was for a saloon on the first ballot.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR DILLARD.

Bert Barret of Dillard, Meets His Death By the Accidental Discharge of a 38-55 Caliber Rifle.

Dillard, Ore., March 2.—(Special to Plaindealer)—The vicinity of Rice Creek was sorely grieved Wednesday evening by the sudden and unexpected death of Bert Barret, a well-known young man, who, while in company with Douglas Morris, was hunting near a place familiarly known as "Eden Prairie," about six miles southwest of Dillard. The terrible affair was purely accidental on the part of Mr. Barret. The young men having sat down on a large cliff of rocks for a rest, were pulling and eating wild licorice, when suddenly Mr. Barret's gun slipped from his grasp and struck the hammer on a rock below him in such a manner as to discharge the weapon.

The ball entered the flesh on the inner side of the left thigh, ranging diagonally, and lodged near the left kidney, causing instant death. There being no other available means the young man was carried home on a litter by several men who hastened to the scene of the accident. Mr. Barret was so well and favorably known here that the blow on the entire community is a hard one. He was twenty-six years of age and unmarried. He leaves a father, H. M. Barret of Glendale, a mother and sister on Rice Creek, besides other relatives in this county. D. J. Herstine of Oakland, and J. M. Henry of Dillard, are uncles of the deceased young man. The grief-stricken family have the sincere sympathy of the entire neighborhood in their sad bereavement. Funeral services will be held at the Willis Creek cemetery Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

BATTLING DANE DEFEATS CORBETT

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—Batling Nelson, of Chicago, made young Corbett, of Denver, appear the veriest tyro at the fighting game tonight when he practically knocked him out in the middle of the ninth round. In order to save their man from a complete knock-out the seconds threw up the sponge. The man who twice met Terry McGovern is not in it with the young Dane at any stage of the game. He seemed to lack speed and certainly lacked accuracy. In the early part of the fight, on several occasions, he straightened Nelson up with rights and lefts on the jaw, but when it came to following up his advantage his swings were wild. He seemed to be over anxious while Nelson at all times was cool and confident. In the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds he was practically gone he showed a flash of his old time speed and landed several severe punches on Nelson's ribs and jaw. It was only a spurt, however, and Corbett soon lapsed into a semi-groggy condition which lasted until the end of the fight. Nelson's plan of battle was to force Corbett around the ring, keeping close to him all the time. Whenever Corbett missed his swing Nelson was there with a return which generally landed. From the 5th round on Nelson had Corbett in a corner or against the ropes and landed heavy blows at will. Corbett in some way managed to protect himself from a knock-out blow until the middle of the ninth round. In a jiffy Nelson swung his right over the jaw and Corbett went down. He remained down and then stood up against the ropes with his hands lowered and unable to protect himself. Nelson partially toppled him over with a swing on the jaw but before Corbett was fairly on the mat his seconds threw up the sponge. The round lasted two minutes and 35 seconds.

In the eighth round Nelson had Corbett against the ropes and the Denver man claimed a foot and lowered his hands. Nelson then demonstrated that he was Corbett's superior in speed, in accuracy and aim, ability to take punishment, and stiff punishment. After the fight Corbett had very little to say. He had no excuse to offer. Nelson was very happy and announced that his next effort would be to obtain a fight with Britt, who once defeated him. The fight tonight was heavily played by the betting element. The odds were 10 to 8 and were eagerly snapped at by Corbett's admirers. There was plenty of Nelson money in sight and all bets offered were taken.

GLENDALE NEWS NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Roberts of Ashland are visiting relatives in this city this week.

W. H. Colley spent several days in this city, visiting his brother-in-law, F. L. Blakeley recently.

It is with profound regret that we make mention of the sad fatality that occurred in our city last week. For eleven years Jesse L. Dewey was the leading business man of this part of Douglas county with his large merchandise house and his residence in Glendale. He was postmaster for some years and was a leader in every enterprise that took place in this valley. He was an impulsive man with a strong sense of right guided along by a kind heart. In all the relations of life he was tender and true and his untimely demise is most sincerely regretted by a host of friends in this city and valley. The cause of his dependency is enshrouded in mystery and no one can conjecture why. To the grief-stricken relatives we all tender our sympathy and condolence.

The late Mrs. Alice Lane who was C. of H. of Azalia lodge of this city held a life insurance policy in that order for which her beneficiary being her husband Oliver P. Lane. By the prompt action of the Grand Lodge a check for that amount was received some days since by Miss Clara Redfield who is recorder of Azalia Lodge. Thus from the silent and voiceless tomb Mrs. Lane has sent back another pledge of her womanly love. This grand and noble order which has for its finest precepts "Purity" has promptly redeemed the pledge it made in issuing to Mrs. Lane her policy.

The new meat market of Agee & Co is a very popular business house. Our girls are very attentive to buying the best steak just now. More anon.

Mrs. E. A. Wall is visiting her sister Mrs. C. R. Field at Leland this week.

Mrs. Mary Jane Jones wife of L. W. Jones in this city died on the 18th aged 77 years. Mrs. Jones was the mother of six sons, viz: Jacob Jones of Danube, Calif.; Josiah, S. C. L. W., J. N., and Wilbur Jones of this city. The last five named were in attendance at her bedside during her last illness and at the demise. The eldest son, Jacob Jones, was wired of her illness and reached here in time to attend the funeral. Mrs. Jones was a grand pioneer woman who had lived a long and useful life. She possessed the highest of all womanly attainments, that of a perfect wife and mother and was the idol of her husband and their sons. Her life was crowned by the aureole of good deeds and gentle words, that she always found time to speak of all. Her death has left an aching void in the hearts of her husband and children that time alone can heal.

Roseburg's New Postoffice.

Many of the patrons of the Roseburg postoffice received an agreeable surprise on going for their mail Wednesday morning to find that during Tuesday night the office had been moved from its old to its new quarters without any confusion or inconvenience to patrons. The new quarters are very neatly fitted up and a large number of lock boxes take the place of call boxes. This gives the patrons better facilities for securing their mail, especially on Sundays and holidays when they will be accessible at all hours of the day, from 7 o'clock a. m. to 7 p. m. Who will occupy the quarters just vacated, in the Abraham building, is not yet announced. The new office cabinet is of antique oak half way up to the ceiling, the upper half being of glass. It is well regulated and a post-office which is a credit to the city.

J. J. Chadwick and wife of Myrtle Creek were Roseburg visitors Tuesday. Mrs. Chadwick is recovering rapidly from her recent illness, under the treatment of the Taylor Medicine Co.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHAS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY
With a Fine Literary and Musical Program and a Splendid Banquet

The celebration of the forty-first anniversary of the Knights of Pythias order by Alpha Lodge No. 47, Wednesday evening in this city, fully demonstrated the fact that this is one of the real live and progressive local fraternal orders of Roseburg and that the order is in a most flourishing condition. There was a large attendance of the membership while a great number of friends of the order were present and were treated right royally.

County Clerk Zopher Agee, a prominent member of the order served in the capacity of master of ceremonies and announced the splendid literary and musical program, which was as follows: Overture, Roseburg Orchestra. Address of Welcome, Zopher Agee. Vocal Solo, "Hearts and Flowers," Wilbur Ross.

Selection, Roseburg Orchestra. Recitation, Third Canto, Sir Walter Scott "Marmion." Constants speech in death chamber, Miss Eva Messler. Piano Solo, Miss Neita Kalat. Reading, "The Pythian Banner," Free Johnson.

Selection, Orchestra. Worthy of especial mention was the eloquent and appropriate address of Zopher Agee. He gave a brief history of the Order covering its 41 successful years, extolled its virtues, defined its objects, and applied its excellent laws and workings. He said it was an elevating Order with high ideals and one which is truly American. Nearly half a million of the country's best citizens are enrolled in its membership which is still increasing at a wonderful rapid rate. Mr. Agee was heartily congratulated by his brother Knights and guests upon his brief but able address.

Another feature worthy of more than passing notice was the excellent rendition of Sir Walter Scott's "Marmion," by Miss Eva Messler, who again proved herself a charming and entertaining young vocalist. The vocal solo by Wilbur Ross was well rendered as was also the excellent piano solo by Miss Kalat. The Roseburg orchestra, as usual came in for its full share of encore.

Following the program various card games were indulged in, the evening entertainment closing with a splendid banquet. Among those prominent on the entertainment and reception committees were, Sheriff H. T. McClallen, M. F. Wright, Jas. Ferry, Zopher Agee, Mel Thompson and Frank Brown.

AFTER THE GOVERNOR

A good many Democrats in this judicial district are very "sore" over the appointment of Hon. L. T. Harris, a Eugene Republican, as judge by Governor Chamberlain and one of the brethren gives vent to his feelings as follows in the Eugene Guard:—The appointment of Hon. L. T. Harris to the judgeship of this district by Governor Chamberlain is very unsatisfactory to the Democrats generally. It is considered as a back-handed lick at the democratic party and by a great many as an act of treachery. The democrats here feel like denouncing the appointment and do not think it right that they should let the act pass by in silence without entering a protest. There was no occasion for the appointment, unless it was to offend the party. There are able and worthy Democratic attorneys in this district who are well qualified for the place, and who were entitled to the appointment. If the appointment was the result of a bargain and sale, as is claimed by some of the newspapers, then it merits the condemnation of every voter in the district. But I may desire to say something about this later.

MARCH TERM OF COUNTY COURT

The March term of county court convened Wednesday morning with a full board present as follows: M. D. Thompson, Judge; J. C. Young, A. E. Nichols, commissioners; Z. N. Agee, clerk and H. T. McClallen sheriff.

The first order of business was the consideration of the following petition. In the matter of a petition of H. J. Pendergast for a county road near Yoncalla to a portion of S. G. Long to strike out 100 acres from said petition, the same is granted and the petition is denied.

Wednesday afternoon was devoted to the consideration and auditing of bills. Report of viewers upon the petition of T. W. Winniford and others for a road through the N. T. Day place is now under consideration.

Ordered that an allowance of $5 per month be granted to Mrs. R. A. Lindley of Oakland.

The court will probably finish up the work of this term.

E. Chevigny was in town from Rice Hill on Wednesday. He has been in the mines at Bohemia for several weeks.
