Japan's Attitude Toward Korea and Manchuria

By SADAZUCHI UCHIDA, Japan's Consul General at New York

IIE attitude of Japan in the present war is for the preservation of her national existence. Incidentally she is doing the fighting for China and Korea, for THEY ARE COWARDS. They do not dare to fight Russia, not even to prevent their territory from being partitioned. They do not dare to fight for their own interests.

IF CHINA AND KOREA WERE ANNEXED BY RUSSIA MY COUN-TRY WOULD BE AT THE MERCY OF THE SULLEN BEAR. THAT IS WHY WE WANT THE INDEPENDENCE OF CHINA AND KOREA ASSURED.

We insist on the open door policy in China and Korea. If other nations get in there, China and Korea would be held from any PAR-TICULAR power in the western world. If Manchuria and Korea had more American, French and German and other nations interested in these two domains, Russia would not DARE annex those countries. That's why we want the open door for the protection of

We cannot tell when the war will end, but now that Port Arthur has been captured, now that the fate of Russia's army in Manchuria is doubtful, now that Russia has serious internal troubles, we have very optimistic hopes for final victory.

It is not premature to discuss what we will do and what other nations will do in the orient after the war is over. I will not discuss the political programme, but I can safely say WE MUST ENTER ANOTHER GREAT STRUGGLE not only against Russia, but against the whole civilized world—that is, a commercial and industrial fight for China and Korea. In order to gain success in these branches we must use great energy, a great deal of money AND GREAT

In those two countries there is a great property in commerce and industry, as great as in any country in the world. There are gold and iron mines, and many thousand miles of railroads can be built. There are many strongholds to be improved. WE MUST EDU-CATE THE NATIVES.

If we make a success in the commercial and industrial interests in the two countries we can make a great future.

ENTERING UPON THAT KIND OF COMPETITION, EVERY OTHER NATION MUST BE SUPPOSED TO BE OUR RIVAL. WE MUST NOT BE FRIENDLY TO ANY. WE UNDERSTAND CONDITIONS BETTER THAN ANY NATION.
