

The Powers of Love and Science

By MAURICE MAETERLINCK, German Author and Thinker

It is well that men should be reminded that THE VERY HUMBLEST of them has the power of fashion, after a divine model, that he chooses not, a great moral personality composed in equal parts of himself and the ideal.

It is only in the depths of life that this great moral personality can be carved out, and only by means of INCESANT REVELATIONS of the divine can we add to the stores of the ideal we require.

To every man it is given to attain IN SPIRIT to the heights of virtuous life and to know at all times what his conduct should be like a hero or a saint. But more than this is needed. It is essential that the SPIRITUAL atmosphere about us should be transformed to such a degree that it ends by resembling the atmosphere of Swedenborg's beautiful countries of the age of gold, wherein the air permitted not a falsehood to leave the lips.

An instant comes then when the smallest bit that we faintly commit falls at our feet like a leaden ball upon a disk of bronze, WHEN EVERYTHING CHANGES, though we know it not, into beauty, love or truth.

But this atmosphere enwraps those only who have been heedful to ventilate their lives sufficiently by at times flinging open the gates of the other world. It is when we are near to those gates that we love, for to love one's neighbor does not mean only to give oneself to him, to serve, help and sustain others. We may possibly be neither good nor noble nor beautiful even in the midst of the greatest sacrifice.

THE NURSE WHO DIES BY THE BEDSIDE OF A TYPHOID PATIENT MAY PERHAPS HAVE A MEAN, RANCOROUS, MISERABLE SOUL.

To love one's neighbor in the immovable depths means to love in others that which is ETERNAL, for one's neighbor in the truest sense of the term is that which approaches the nearest to God—in other words, ALL THAT IS BEST AND PUREST IN MAN—and it is only by ever lingering near the gates I spoke of that you can discover the divine in the soul. Then will you be able to say with the great Jean Paul, "When I desire to love most tenderly one who is dear to me and wish to forgive him everything, I have but to look at him for a few minutes IN SILENCE."

TO LEARN TO LOVE ONE MUST FIRST LEARN TO SEE.

"I lived for twenty years by my sister's side," said a friend to me one day, "and I saw her for the first time at the moment of our mother's death." Here, too, it had been necessary that death should violently fling open an eternal gate SO THAT TWO SOULS MIGHT BEHOLD EACH OTHER in a ray of the primeval light. Is there one among us who has not near to him sisters he has never seen?

Happily, even in those whose vision is most limited there is always SOMETHING that acts IN SILENCE, as though they had seen. It is possible perhaps that to be good is only to be IN A LITTLE LIGHT what all are in darkness. Therefore, doubtless, it is well that we should endeavor to raise our life and should strive toward summits where ill doing becomes IMPOSSIBLE. And, therefore, too, it is well to accustom the eye to behold events and men in a divine atmosphere. But even that is not indispensable, and how small must the difference seem to the eyes of a God!

WE ARE IN A WORLD WHERE TRUTH REIGNS AT THE BOTTOM OF THINGS AND WHERE IT IS NOT TRUTH, BUT FALSEHOOD, THAT NEEDS TO BE EXPLAINED.

Those who think of nothing have the same truth as those who think of God. THE TRUTH IS A LITTLE FARTHER FROM THE THRESHOLD; that is all.

There are about us thousands and thousands of poor creatures who have nothing OF BEAUTY in their lives. They come, they go in obscurity, and we believe that all is dead within them, and no one pays any heed. And then one day a simple word, an unexpected silence, a little tear that springs from the source of beauty itself, tells us that THEY HAVE FOUND THE MEANS of raising aloft in the shadow of their soul an ideal a thousand times more beautiful than the most beautiful things their ears have ever heard or have their eyes ever seen.

MUNICIPAL PLANTS FAVORED AT ASHLAND

At Ashland 500 consumers, present and prospective, have signed contracts obligating themselves in case the city should install light and power service, to purchase whatever light and wates they may need from the city for a period of ten years from the date of the installation of the service. This includes nearly all the heavy property owners as well as tenants in the business district, most of the present consumers of light in the residence districts as well as quite a number of prospective ones. Judged by these returns there is a strong sentiment in the city in favor of a municipal electric light plant, which now seems one of the probabilities of the near future in Ashland.

Ashland and Roseburg seem to be of one accord on this important question of municipal water and light plants but the Roseburg movement in that direction received a severe setback by a bill providing for such a measure being killed at the late legislative session owing principally to some foolish clauses which it contained, particularly to the one providing for the formation of a practically perpetual commission.

About Rheumatism.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co.

For a Weak Digestion.

No medicine can replace food but Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will help you to digest your food. Thousands have been benefited by their use. They only cost a quarter. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co.
