EXPANSION OF AMERICAN WEALTH

Half a century ago the wealth of the United States was estimated at a little more than $7,000,000,000. At the present time it is placed at $110,000,000,000. During this half century the population of the country was multiplied by less than three and one-half while the wealth was multiplied by a little more than thirteen. During this period every person's share in the total wealth was multiplied by four.

The census of fifty years ago showed that the United States in point of wealth stood below half a dozen all those nations have been entirely outdistanced.

In a recent number of the World's Work, C. M. Hoovey gives some startling figures. He says: "Although the United States comprised only 5 per cent of the world's population, it produced, according to the last census, 22 per cent of the world's wheat, 30 per cent of its gold, 32 per cent of its coal, 33 per cent of its silver, 34 per cent of its manufactures, 35 per cent of its iron, 36 per cent of its cattle, 38 per cent of its steel, 50 per cent of its petroleum, 54 per cent of its copper, 75 per cent of its cotton and 84 per cent of its corn."

"Though the United States has only a twentieth of the world's inhabitants, it has a fifth of the world's stock of money and a fourth of its gold coin and bullion. The United States has two-thirds ($14,000,000,000) of the world's banking power—capital, surplus, deposits and circulation. Her pre-eminence in these directions has been obtained in the past twenty years. Between 1890 and 1904 the banking strength of the world grew 105 per cent and that of New York City 190 per cent."

"How is all this wealth distributed? The farmers and planters of the country received last year more than $6,000,000,000 for their products. This equals the wealth of the entire country in 1845. The product of the country's mines for 1904 amounted to $1,500,000,000. The United States has a third of all the money deposited in the savings banks of the world. At the beginning of 1905 there were in the United States 212,000 miles of railroad, as compared with 300,000 miles for the entire world outside. The railroads earned $2,000,000,000 in 1904, and have in their employ 1,300,000 persons."

Here is how the principal countries of the world stand in wealth in 1905:
United States.....$110,000,000,000
United Kingdom..... 55,000,000,000
France..... 50,000,000,000
Germany..... 48,000,000,000
Russia..... 35,000,000,000
Austria-Hungary..... 30,000,000,000
Italy..... 18,000,000,000
Spain..... 12,000,000,000

MAKING A SUBSTITUTE FOR EGGS

Science, prompted and urged by the commercial instinct, has demonstrated that casein, from ordinary cows' milk, is quite as good for baking as the finest hen eggs, and a company with $5,500,000 capital has been formed to manufacture out of it a substitute for the "strictly fresh" product of the poultry yard. One pound of casein is equal to six dozen eggs. August Belmont is a large stockholder in this corporation, which already, though only an infant, puts out about 1,300 pounds a day, the equivalent of 86,400 eggs.

The hen's only remaining advantage lies in the unobtainability of the rival product and its incasement in a box instead of a shell. She alone can be the mother of broods and flocks of chickens. Casein cannot deprive her of that cherished privilege. The artificial egg has arrived, but not the artificial broiler.

Wanted, a straightforward, truthful and unbiased reporter of the land fraud trials in Portland—but it cannot be found in the Portland press. The metropolis offers a good field for an honest, fair and reliable newspaper.

NEW LAND OFFICE INSTRUCTIONS.

In the hope of suppressing a growing tendency among attaches of United States Land offices unconsciously to encourage entrimen in the commission of perjury and otherwise make false oath in connection with final proofs, Commissioner Richards, of the General Land Office at Washington, D. C., has promulgated instructions to Registers and Receivers of local Land Offices, United States Commissioners and others interested throughout the country, prescribing what their duties shall consist of, and in effect cautioning them to be more careful hereafter in the matter of identity of persons appearing before them.

The opinion is generally expressed that they were undoubtedly made necessary by developments in the Western land fraud cases, it appearing that in many instances fraud would not otherwise have been resorted to had it not been that land officials in taking final proofs and affidavits of location, frequently indulged in leading suggestions of answers to the questions that resulted practically in the commission of perjury by the affiants.

It is claimed that in many particulars the officials are not actuated by any desire to flagrantly violate the laws, but that their offense in this connection relates more closely to indifference and eagerness to get rid of as much of the public domain as possible, on the theory that it is of such little account that the Government can afford to strain a point or two in the effort to accomplish this purpose. It is thought the new instructions will have a beneficial effect all around.

The telephone is revolutionizing communication throughout the world. Take the last great battle between the Japanese and the Russians as an example. Could Field Marshal Oyama have directed the operations of 400,000 men, and have timed his strokes so exactly, had he been forced to depend upon orders carried by horse? How could he have controlled a fighting line a hundred miles long? Without the telephone the operations would have been carried on by a number of generals, each acting according to a certain plan, but depending largely upon his own judgment for what to do and when to do it. The telephone co-ordinated the actions of each division, and reduced the armies to one vast machine. Nothing was left to chance; every stroke was correctly timed, and the commander-in-chief was at once informed of its result. Even the flying columns were followed by the engineering corps; the result of every skirmish and the taking of every village were known quickly at headquarters. In the final conclusive naval battle of last August, in which the Russian vessels left Port Arthur harbor to attack a few apparently unsupported Japanese vessels, the latter called up the main Japanese fleet, then out of sight, but in waiting, by means of wireless telegraphy. On land the Japanese have erected telephone lines as they advanced, and kept the government in Tokio in communication and each army in touch with the other. The telephone in this service has taken the place of the courier, and does the work better and more quickly.

You have no enemies? Then you have never dared stand up for the right against the wrong; you have never protected the weak against the bully; you have never dared defend your own right against oppression. Had you done any of these things you would have enemies. Even if you had done none of these things, but simply achieved a little more success in your business than your neighbor, you would have an enemy, for failure always hates success. The man who has no enemies should be ashamed of it.

Postmaster General Cortelyou has issued an order forbidding postmasters to accept at newspaper rates, after September 1, newspapers containing as "supplements," postal cards, picture cards, sheet music, and similar "attractions" now used so liberally by the Sunday dailies. The blow will almost kill the Portland Journal and San Francisco Examiner.

A long headed farmer living near Auburn tied an empty beer bottle to a fence post along the railroad track. Every time a coal train passed that way the brakemen fired a lump of coal at the bottle, and all winter long while the rest of the world was wrestling with the coal famine this farmer had plenty and to spare.—Ex.

The land fraud cases at Portland have already cost the government $35,000, not including the secret service department and Heney's salary.

Some people believe that Chicago's effort to effect municipal ownership will result in greatly increasing municipal graft.

ROSEBURG HAS A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Lieutenant Martin Markeson, A Native of Russia, Would Lecture in Roseburg

Martin Markeson, one-time lieutenant in the Russian army and a veteran of the Russian-Turkish war of 1878, on coming to America he enlisted as a private in the Spanish, American war and after serving two years, was mustered out as a sergeant. While loyally serving in the cause of his adopted country he won a beautiful gold medal for distinguished bravery, which token he modestly wears on his vest under his coat.

Mr. Markeson has traveled much up and down the Pacific coast and has been identified in several development propositions in this state and Washington. He is the owner of valuable mining properties in Washington, and among his other holdings is a 20-acre tract on the Umpqua river a short distance north-west of Roseburg, he being in this city now, looking after his property interests, and expresses himself as being pleased to note Roseburg's great growth and advancement since he visited this place a few years ago.

Mr. Markeson is a short, solid Russian, seemingly in the prime of life, but has only a bitter arraignment for his country or its tyrannical form of government and he would willingly sacrifice his life in order to gain freedom for his countrymen and release them from their oppression. It was on this account that he volunteered his services to the Japanese government at the outbreak of the present war, but was notified very courteously by high Japanese officials, that while they greatly appreciated the espousal of their cause by him, his services could not be accepted as an old established Japanese law prohibits foreigners from enlisting as privates in the Mikado's army. Markeson lectured from one end of the country to the other and delights to expose Russian civil and military life as it is, and to expose the tyrannical, as well as the tyrannical military services, the horrors of prison life, and the way people are oppressed, woman and children even being imprisoned and brutally treated and upon trifling offenses, is a part of his lecture. He says: "The darkest life in which Russia keeps her people, together with the brutality with which she treats them has impelled me to this course. A person can learn more in this country in one year than he can in Russia in 20. This is why I feel bitter against my native country."

The entertainment given by Mrs. Elythe Weathers at the school house Tuesday evening was well attended and highly enjoyed. Mrs. Weathered has received high honor in our State but it is surely deserved.

DETAILS OF FISHER, SHERIDAN TROUBLE

R. S. Sheridan Has Filed His Second Suit against C. H. Fisher Involving $4224.

A late dispatch from Boise Idaho, says: Troubles which have affected the Evening Capital News of this city, for some weeks came to a head Friday when the board of directors met and deposed C. H. Fisher as editor of the paper. In a statement this evening by R. S. Sheridan for publication, a remarkable state of affairs is brought out. It seems various efforts were made some months ago to raise money with which to improve the plant of the paper. Finally according to Mr. Sheridan, C. H. Fisher and W. J. D'Arcy, holders of a much smaller portion of the stock than Mr. Sheridan, made an arrangement to get a large sum of money from J. H. Grady, chairman of the R. Republican state committee.

For the purpose of enabling them to carry on the negotiations, Sheridan assigned his stock to Fisher. As stated by Sheridan, Fisher issued that stock and that of D'Arcy and himself, to George P. Townsend, of Chicago, an associate of Brady.

In the course of time, Sheridan got a purchaser for the paper. The others objected. Finally he says he realized he had been deceived by his partners. He demanded the return of his stock, but they could not or would not return it. He now proposed to bring a suit against Brady, Fisher and D'Arcy to recover the stock. He will also sue Fisher for money which he alleges the latter holds, belonging to the company, and another suit will be for overdrawn salary. There are many ramifications to the story and it is expected they will all come out when the matter gets into court, and may involve some Republican politicians.

It is charged by Mr. Sheridan that Mr. Brady wished to control the Democratic organ in the interest of his own political ambitions.

Fight For Paper Stock
Boise, Idaho, April 18.—The second suit growing out of the troubles among the owners of the Capital Evening News was filed today. It is a case brought by R. S. Sheridan against C. H. Fisher for $4224 for failure on the part of Fisher to deliver his stock in the Capital News Company according to the terms of an option held by Sheridan.

The option provides that Sheridan should make certain payments, amounting all to $4224, the money being paid into the bank to be held until the entire sum was paid. Sheridan might at any time deposit the entire sum and take the stock. The option further provided if Fisher did not deliver the stock he should pay Sheridan $4224 liquidated damages. Sheridan alleges he deposited the money according to the contract, and Fisher refused to transfer.

The stock is all in the hands of J. H. Brady, chairman of the Republican State Committee, to whom it was transferred, together with Sheridan's, as alleged, as collateral on a note not due for three years. It is the understanding that Brady refused to give the stock up. He had previously refused to surrender that which belonged to Sheridan.

Portland Centennial
"Hit the Trail" at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, opening in Portland, June 1.

All exhibits for California's participation in the Lewis and Clark Exposition were shipped from that state April 15. Foundations are being laid for an annex to the administration building and for the post office and express office at the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

Elaborate clusters of electric lights, representing the final touches to the Bridge of Nations at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, are now being placed in position.

A large tower is being erected over Guild's Lake at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Upon this will be placed a searchlight, the rays of which will be cast about the grounds at night and greatly enhance the lightening features of the Centennial.

The famous Boston-Montana band of 35 pieces, composed entirely of the underground miners from Butte, Mont., will attend the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The band was organized twenty years ago and ranks with the best musical organizations of the country.

Two men who will participate in the rock-drilling contests at the Lewis and Clark Exposition enjoy enviable records. In fifteen minutes this team drilled through 37 inches of hard, tough granite. The men are lucky miners from the Galilee district in Southern Oregon.

A feature of the Oriental displays at the Lewis and Clark Exposition will be a large sandalwood temple, which in the East India building at the St. Louis Exposition, attracted much attention. The building has been shipped and will be erected at the Centennial within another week.

The itinerary of the Misonri Valley Medical excursion to the American Medical Association convention in Portland, during the Lewis and Clark Exposition, has been decided upon. A week will be spent in the Yellowstone National park and two days in Seattle and Tacoma.

Oak Creek Citizens Attention.
On May 4th, 1905, the people of Oak Creek and vicinity will meet at the Oak Creek Cemetery, for the purpose of repairing the fence and caring for the graves, and we ask and invite every one to attend. Those who can contribute a few posts or fencing planks, will please do so and let us try and beautify our "city of the dead."

BOUGHT TO MANY WILD ANIMALS

Norris and Rowe's Circus Agents Carry out Instructions to Literally

Many a quiet laugh and many a joke is being cracked just at present by various circus owners over the plight of Norris and Rowe found themselves in recently on account of their foreign agents carrying out their orders too implicitly. The circus managers determined to increase their menagerie this year and towards that end endeavored to purchase a number of wild animals from Bartel, the New York dealer. The latter had only a few beasts on hand however, so Norris and Rowe called their agents in Europe, "Buy on sight every wild animal you can get. Spare no expense. We must increase our menagerie, ship quick." That the agents got to work quickly was evidenced by the frequent consignments sent to Norris and Rowe. After two lions, a tiger, three elephants, a tapir, three llamas, two camels and two Siberian bears were received, Norris and Rowe thought they had enough and so cabled their agents, but it was too late—another consignment was on the way and could not be stopped.

It seemed to Norris and Rowe that every ship coming to port contained animals of some sort for them until they were in despair. Twenty Japanese monkeys; four dromedaries; two more lions; four more camels; six wild cats; two pumas; two catamounts; an immense bloodhound; a zebu; ringtailed monkeys; red faced monkeys by the score; Angora goats; dens of snakes and such like live freight came in quick succession. Before the consignments ceased Norris and Rowe had animals enough on hand to stock another menagerie. There was nothing to do but pay the bills and look cheerful. By adding their recent purchases to their already large collection, they made large double menageries; purchasing new tents; dens; lairs and cages. It was a costly purchase all told but Norris and Rowe think that it will pay at that for the interest and approval shown in their menagerie has crowded their tents to capacity at every exhibition. Wild animals are getting very rare and Norris and Rowe figure that their collection will constantly increase in value so probably it was not a mistake after all when their agents obeyed their orders with such promptness. The Norris and Rowe Greater Circus will exhibit at Roseburg, Friday, May 5, at 2 and 8 o'clock p. m.

It is reported that the sultan of Turkey has ordered several hundred women's gowns in Paris. And yet some people wonder why he can't pay his debts.

Judging from the many ailments for his pocketbook it is feared that after his visit to the Exposition some poor visitor may have to "Hit the Trail" in more sense than one.

The Gardiner Gazette editor writes to talk to some gentleman on Coos Bay over a telephone. Is there not some gentleman who will be obliging enough to put up a line, ask the Harbor.

That is not a bad one from Illustrated Bits. The mistress had said: "If you want eggs to keep, you must lay them in a cool place." Bridge's reply was: "Oh! mention it to the hens at Waukegan, Minn."

A fopulent paper says "a single kid cost a husband his wife." Worse than that; men have lost life for the article, still there does not seem to be any unwillingness on the part of others to indulge in the luxury when the right party attends.

Those Navajo Indians are sly ones. They find excuses in forbidding the visit of the mother-in-law with the superstition that her coming means blindness for the master of the household. Of course, she never gets into the domicile of the son-in-law.

A large proportion of the lawyers of St. Petersburg, who have expressed socialistic or republican sentiments, are to be banished from that city, accorded to a dispatch. Unfortunately, under our exceedingly liberal system of government, no American city can get rid of its lawyers.

Two passenger trains near Shelbina passed each other on a double track running 50 miles an hour each. It was a flash of headlights, a rush and a swirl of atmosphere and a vanish of light. A reporter who was riding in the cab of one engine leaned over and said to the grizzled engineer: "Say, Ward, where'd we been if that headlight had been on this track?" "That depends on how you've lived," growled the man at the throttle.

Pleasant Birthday Event at Salem.
The home of Attorney-General and Mrs. A. M. Crawford was a scene of delightful festivities Saturday evening, when the 17th birthday anniversary of their son, James, and his cousin, Miss Susie Watson, of Roseburg, was celebrated.

The rooms were artistically decorated with a profusion of fragrant lilies, both purple and white being in evidence, while garlands of white clematis also added much to the scene.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining and serving by Mrs. C. F. Shelton and Miss Ruth Gabrielson. Games and other pleasant amusements made the entire evening one of unusual enjoyment. About 35 young people were present.—Salem Journal.

FATHER AND SON GO TO PEN TOGETHER

A Medford dispatch says: It was an unusual and sad sight that presented itself Thursday evening, when Sheriff Rader left for Salem, having in charge Warren J. and Ed. Howard, father and son, fastened together with a handcuff.

The former had been sentenced to two years' confinement in the penitentiary, for attempted subornation of perjury, having sought to induce two boys to swear falsely in behalf of his son, who had been indicted and subsequently was convicted of larceny and sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

TRIAL OF NAN PATTERSON

New York, April 19.—During the examination of Wm. E. Aldrich, first jurymen called in the Patterson trial today, Recorder Goff interrupted the proceedings to announce that the jury must be completed today, as he intended to adjourn court tonight until Monday for the Easter session.

It was announced today that the cost of the first Patterson trial was $22,000 and the second trial $18,000. The cost of the third trial is estimated at $42,000.

DELEGATES TO THE LEAGUE CONVENTION

President R. S. Sheridan of the Roseburg Commercial Club has appointed the following delegates from Roseburg to attend the State League Convention to be held at Portland April 26 and 27: Hon. D. S. Best and Best Popular.
"Mothers buy it for croaky children, railroad men buy it for severe coughs and elderly people buy it for 'la grippe,'" says Moore Bros., Eldon, Iowa. We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other kind. It seems to have taken the lead over several other good brands. There is no question but this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by A. C. Marsters & Co.

A Trout Hatcher

D. T. Awebery, who has recently started a trout hatchery near the Cottage Grove Flour Mills, is in receipt of a letter from Commissioner Bowers of Washington, which states that an assignment of rainbow trout has been made. The distribution of this species is usually made during the fall months. Mr. Awebery has made a good move and it is to be hoped others will follow his example. The streams about here could be kept stocked with trout and would prove remunerative to the country.

The movement to organize a club for amusement as well as the protection of fish and game is also in order and should be well supported.—Nugget.

Why Don't You

Answer your friend's letter at once! Make the promised visit to that invalid! She is looking for you day after day.
Send away that little gift you've been promising to send? More kind intentions never accomplish a good.

Try to share the burden of that sorrowful one? Is it because you are growing selfish that you do not?
Speak out the encouraging words that you have in your thoughts? Unless you express them they are of no use to others.

Take more pains to be self sacrificing and loving in the everyday home life! Time is rapidly passing. Your dear one will not be with you always.
