WORK COMMENCED ON ROSEBURG HOSPITAL RICE & RICE

Healthful and Sitely Location and a Conveniently and Elegantly Designed Building

Through the courtesy of Father O'Carroll a Plaindealer representative was permitted to inspect the plans for the new Roseburg hospital this morning. A most sitely location has been secured on a slight elevation overlooking the Umpqua river, the Southern Pacific railroad and this city, in West Roseburg, the site being surrounded on the north, south and west by stately oak trees, the soil being of a dry, sandy and gravelly formation. The building is of modern design and will be finished inside and out after the latest approved hospital plane. It will have a concrete basement, two stories and a commodious at-

Each ward will have its own wardrobe, the hails are wife and airy and all of the compartments including the surgeon's rooms are most conveniently and commodiously planned.

Five men and as many teams began work this morning hauling gravel and sand for the concrete foundation work, and excavating for the basement will begin at once. It is hoped to have this new and worthy institution completed and ready for dedication before the rainy season sets in. It will be a most valuable acquisition not only to Rose burg but to the whole of Southern Ore
