SHOULD "PULL" SUGAR TRUST

After the government gets through with investigating the beef trust and the oil trust there will be plenty of work to be done in looking after several other big monopolies that are undoubtedly violating the law. Among others, there is the American Sugar Refining Company, commonly known as the sugar trust, which, according to a recent dispatch from Washington, is today in absolute control of the sugar market in this country, and can say at any time what sugar shall sell for per pound, by wholesale or retail, and rather boasts of its power in that direction, says the Los Angeles Times. Further, it can, and does fix the price of raw sugar grown in Cuba, and imported into this country for its refineries, and it is credited with having made many millions last year in manipulating to its own advantage the raw sugar market in Cuba. Through its recent purchases it now controls practically all of the beet-sugar factories in the United States, and so is in a position to fix absolutely the price that shall be paid to the farmers for their sugar beets.

The dispatch referred to contained the following passage, which is certainly enough to make Americans think seriously: "This great trust, with the power to say what price any man in the United States shall pay for his sugar, what he shall pay for his coffee, what price the farmers shall get for their beets, what price the southern cane grower shall get for their cane, what price the Cuban growers shall get for their raw sugar, at what rates money on call shall loan in New York; that is, whether call money there shall be so high that owners of stock cannot hold them, or whether it shall be so low that everybody will be able to buy, is soon to feel the government probe."

In order to boost the prices of sugar, the trust recently shut down a big refinery in Brooklyn, throwing out of work 3200 men. Not that there was any falling off in the demand. It was simply a selfish movement to make people pay more for the sugar.

Roseburg has only its own citizens to blame in losing the Coos Bay railroad. A little genuine hustle on the part of our citizens would have secured this branch line long ago. Now let us make a long pull altogether for an electric line to Myrtle Point to connect with the Coos Bay railroad at that place.

DO YOU SHARE IN THE PROFITS OF THE GROCERIES YOU PURCHASE? IF NOT, WHY NOT?

Every shareholder in the ROSEBURG ROCHDALE COMPANY is purchasing groceries from himself cheaper and better than he could elsewhere, and at the end of the year takes home to himself the profits on these purchases. This is the Co-operative way.

SERIOUS SHOOTING AFFAIR AT DISTRICT FAIR GROUNDS.

Sam Morrosy Wounded In Neck By Joe Thomas Who Alleges Act Was In Self Defense.

Sam Morrosy, a character new to this section, who claims to be a horseman, and who has been working horses belonging to Al Kent and Smith Bailey, on the track near here, was shot in the left shoulder near the neck by a pistol, in the hands of Joe Thomas, another horseman, at one o'clock today. The ball ranged directly back, severed the nerves of the left arm and passed through the upper parts of the lungs and is still in the body. Morrosy was immediately brought to this city where the wounds were temporary dressed by Dr. Shearer, after which he was taken to the County hospital where Dr. Seely took charge of the case. Owing to the condition of Morrosy, who has been drinking heavily, no attempt was made to locate the bullet today. Thomas immediately gave himself up and states that the shooting done by him was in self-defense.

Thomas' story is as follows: "Morrosy had been drinking heavily and hitched up a colt and commenced to drive around the track. Two other horsemen were exercising but were forced to leave the track on account of Morrosy's wild driving. At last his colt ran away with him, and Mr. Bailey and Kent seeing how their horses were being treated, went to the stable and took them away. When Morrosy found this out he grabbed a pitchfork and came toward me, asking who had let the horse out. I told him I did not know. He threatened me with the fork and I ran. He followed me and I fired the shot." Mr. Thomas' story is corroborated by several others.

Morrosy denies that he had any trouble and claims he does not know why he was shot.

PREFERS FOREIGN BRAND

FAY STRAHAN MOORE'S HUSBAND PARDONED

Comparing the American and European types of aristocracy, Colonel Henry Watterson, of Louisville, Ky., who returned on the steamer Oceanic from a trip to Europe, says: "I observed aristocracy pretty closely while I was over there, and have reached the conclusion that foreign aristocracy is of a much better grade than the American aristocracy. Aristocracy means lineage and brains. Here—well it means anything from bad whiskey to Standard Oil."

Mr. Watterson said he had read the accounts of the scandal in the Department of Agriculture, and added: "I have often wondered how so many scientific men connected with the Government at comparatively small salaries could live so well. It only goes to show that the college man is not a success in politics, but an expert in grafting."

It might be added that the college professor with his many erratic theories is not a success in public life when he attempts to put his theories into practice. He should stick to his educational work. He is a failure, when it comes to politics.

COURT MUST STAND CORRECTED

The Kansas judge who held—in an injunction suit brought by a person living adjoining a livery stable to compel the owner of a jackass kept therein to prevent the animal from braying—that "no power on earth can keep a jackass from braying," evidently was not versed in prairie lore. It is well known that all jackasses and their descendants elevate the tail to a level with the backbone before they emit the noise which usually wakes the neighborhood. At the time in the west when often-times the slightest noise meant danger to an immigrant train, the simple expedient of tying a weight to the tails of all mules in the outfit insured silence for the night.—Medford Mail.

"Its an ill wind that blows nobody any good." Roseburg's Coos Bay and Eastern Railroad depot has been converted into a large broom manufacturing institution. While Dr. New will make a "clean sweep" of the new railroad, Roseburg will supply the brooms from its prematurely constructed and now deserted railroad depot building.

Representative Burns has announced that he will not appeal the Hume libel suit which he lost in the circuit court in Marion county.

Obituary.

John Hedrick, another one of Oregon's pioneers, died at his home, 6 miles west of Drain, of bilious fever, June 29, 1906, aged 79 years and 3 days.

John Hedrick was born near Knoxville, Tenn., June 29, 1826. He was married in Missouri, to Louisa Jackson, March 28, 1852, and to this union was born nine children, seven sons and two daughters, all of whom with the widow are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband and father.

Mr. Hedrick crossed the plains from Iowa, in 1852, and first settled near Oregon City, Oregon, from there he moved to Douglas County in 1854, which has been his home ever since with the exception of two or three years spent in the Willamette Valley.

Mr. Hedrick was known for his honesty and hospitality far and wide. He was loved and respected by all who knew him; his thoughts were never of self, but always of others.

He was laid to rest in the family grave yard on the old home place June 30, 1906. Rev. Melville F. Wire, of the W. E. Church, of Drain, performing the last sad rites. A large crowd gathered to do honor to his memory, showing the high esteem in which he was held.

"When the last roll-call shall sound, At the right of the Lord will he stand, And his crown with stars shall abound, For he sowed with a generous hand." A FRIEND.

Harvey Lounsbury, the genial general freight agent of the S. P. company, was a Roseburg visitor today.

FAY STRAHAN MOORE'S HUSBAND PARDONED

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 5.—William E. Moore, husband of Fay Strahan Moore, who achieved notoriety several years ago by working a badger game on Martin Mahon in New York, was pardoned yesterday by Governor Higginson. Moore was sentenced December, 1888, for 20 years. A good position is waiting for Moore as soon as he leaves prison.

Fay Strahan Moore is a daughter of ex-Justice Strahan, of the Oregon Supreme Court.

In 1898 William E. Moore married Miss Strahan, and it was not long afterward that the badger game referred to in the above dispatch occurred.

Moore and his wife were arrested for a conspiracy. It was agreed that Mrs. Mahon should induce the wealthy Mr. Mahon to enter her room at night, her husband to appear on the scene a few moments later. The scheme worked and Mahon paid the couple $20,000 to keep quiet, but they were afterward arrested, he being released and he being sentenced to serve 30 years.

Soon after Moore went to the penitentiary he received news that the estate of a relative in England had been settled and that a legacy of $100,000 awaited him.

Musings

They are going to build a railroad From Drain to Coos this fall; Well, hurrah! for Douglas county 'Cause there's room enough for all.

Cinders and pretty girls are hard to remove from a man's eyes.

No woman who is true to her sex is afraid of the man she is married to.

Arrangements have been made for several infidels to preach at the exposition on different Sundays.

Senator Smoot of Mormon fame is to be at the exposition Aug. 24. That ought to draw—the women.

Some of this year's shirt waists are so absolutely stunning that dentists' assistants are wearing them to save laughing gas.

"Our liquor bill," says the Atlanta Constitution, "is $1,000,000,000 per annum." Why not try the water wagon, brother?

Portland lawyers have the habit of chewing gum in court. Probably to rest their voices and still keep their jaws in practice.

As a graft institution the Equitable is now about at the head. We doubt if it is much ahead of the New York and one or two others, if the truth was known.

The article in a contemporary headed "How to Fit a Waist" must be intended exclusively for feminine readers. The young men, as a rule, do not need instruction.

"There is good and there is bad on the stage," says Bishop Potter. He cautiously retains, however, from casting a rush to the bad by telling where it is.

Women's stockings must match all shades in their summer ensembles this year to correct. Those who can't afford to keep up with the styles will have to be particularly careful.

Says the New York Herald, "We drank 1,494,191,325 gallons of beer last year." If any one of our Roseburg citizens or state editors can match that record let them speak up.

The marksman at the "Trail" Hippodrome who shoots the buttons off his wife's dress would appear far more wonderful to some of the audience were he able by a shot to hook up the dress in the back.

Drives Away Cabbage Worms.

There is a good deal of trouble to persons having gardens here from cabbage worms every year, and in some cases they have practically ruined the cabbages. E. A. Brown of Ahland, gives the following as a sure protection against the worms: Boil some green tomato leaves and sprinkle the solution over the cabbages. Mr. Brown has tried this remedy and says it is thoroughly effective.
