IN OTHER HANDS.

It is a time-honored custom for an editor, in assuming his duties on a paper, to outline the policy which he hopes to pursue. Accordingly, we take this opportunity of stating that it will be our aim to do all within our power for the advancement and up-building of this fair city, as well as to labor for the best interests of every portion of Douglas county. We trust that this paper will ever be found standing for what is true in local, state and national affairs. To this end it will be found advocating the principles of Republicanism, believing, as we do, that it is the party of progress and prosperity.

Coming, as we do, from another state, we realize that we may not always be upholding the policy which some politicians might desire, but whatever mistakes we make, along this, or any other line, will be "of the head and not the heart," for it will be our earnest endeavor to take the right course. We have no friends to serve, nor have we enemies to punish. In other words there are no strings on the paper. It is not owned or controlled by any ring, clique or faction, if such things exist in this section. The editor has no political ambition, but he will always use his best efforts to have the most desirable men named for the honors which are to be bestowed.

The publisher does not intend to make any promises at this time, except to assure those who have the best interests of the city and county at heart, that his time and utmost endeavor will always be devoted to furthering those interests, and in every way possible contributing his part in promoting the peace and prosperity of the individual, corporation, and general public.

In gathering the news, as well as in moulding and reflecting public sentiment, all will be in a spirit of fairness and impartiality. By pursuing such a course, we will hope to merit the good will, hearty support and co-operation of the people of this community. As a locality is judged, largely, by outsiders, from the newspapers which it has, it will be our ambition to put forth such a publication as will reflect credit upon this city and county. To this end we need and expect the aid of all who are interested in this direction.

In conclusion, we wish to invite the reader to call around and let us become acquainted. Don't stand back upon formalities, but put yourself in our place, and make a stranger in your midst feel at home.

W. E. WILLIS,
Editor and Proprietor.

Why not try Osteopathy? It helps others, why not you?

Osteopathy appeals to those who reason and think for themselves.

Read our advertisements and profit by patronizing the advertisers.

Vacant houses are becoming as scarce as the proverbial "hen's teeth."

Remember the Plaindealer when you need stationery. Good work and right prices.

This office has been printing a very interesting directory for the First Methodist church.

The more you know about Osteopathy the better you like it. Investigation leads to adoption.

If you have a house to rent, place a little "ad" in the Plaindealer. It will bring you a customer.

Local weather prophets predict that some rain is sure to fall ere many moons have come and gone.

Roseburg merchants, especially those who use printer's ink, report that they are having unusually good fall trade.

Contractors report a big demand for skilled labor, and they anticipate a very lively fall season in the building line.

Do a little work by having us send the Plaindealer to your friend in the east. It will answer the purpose of a weekly letter.

So free is this locality from anything which resembles a storm, that the little "blow" the other day has been the talk of the town.

Hunting "yarns" is now in order, but it is safe to predict that no one of the nincoms will tell exactly how many pheasants were bagged.

A sample copy of this paper may fall into the hands of persons who have not been regular readers, and all such are cordially invited to join our circle.

The new management of the Plaindealer would like to largely increase the paper's circle of readers. Will you assist us by saying a good word for the paper? We'll greatly appreciate all such favors.

Don't send away from home, to Portland, or any place, for that matter, for your purchases, if you can at all get them of the home dealer. A dollar kept at home helps your home town in more ways than one.

Contractor H. J. Wilkins, who has the contract for grading Main street, is progressing nicely with his big undertaking. He is having to cut the street down all the way from six inches to four feet, according to the location.

The band concert brought out a large crowd of interested spectators and Jackson street presented quite a lively appearance, as the people came out to enjoy the musical treat. Roseburg has a band which is certainly a credit to the place.

Attorney W. W. Cardwell came home from Curry county Friday evening, where with Judge Hamilton and District Attorney Brown had been attending the August term of Circuit court. The term was brief, being made the more so by the unusual rapid progress in the jury trials, six of which were dispatched in two days. There being only one week intervening until the September term of Cook circuit court opening, Judge Hamilton and District Attorney Brown will be absent from home until after the adjournment of court at Coquille City. Mr. Brown, we are sorry to learn, is in poor health.

Douglas county leads all counties thus far reported in the issue of Hunter's licenses. In his report to the Secretary of State, Sept. 1, 1903, County Clerk Agge reports the issuing of 720 Hunter's licenses 620 of them being issued to residents of Douglas county at one dollar each, and 12 being issued to non-residents, who are required to pay $10 each for the privilege of hunting in the county. The total received on Hunter's license to date being $819, from which Mr. Agge deducted $43.20 expenses in printing of blank license and applications and remitted to the state $775.75, which goes to the state game warden's funds.

August Miller, the well known brewer who has been in charge of the brewing department of the Roseburg brewery for the past few years, accompanied by his wife, left last week for Spokane, where they will reside. Mr. Miller having accepted a position as brewer with the Heiber Brewing Co. of that city. In giving reasons for leaving Roseburg, Mr. Miller stated that owing to the present company giving the option for the sale of their plant he was unable to get in communication with the parties who are expected to make the purchase and he was compelled to make the change as he did not know whether the new company would require his services or not. Mr. Stauffer, manager of the Roseburg Brewing and Ice Co., states that Messrs. Blakely and Sheridan, who held the option on the plant, have made arrangements to have their time extended from September 1st to 20th.

Game Laws for Douglas County

Unlawful—To sell any game; to kill more than 10 upland birds in one day; to kill more than 50 ducks, geese or swan per week; to catch trout less than 6 inches in length; to catch trout other than with hook and line; to hunt deer at night; to hunt deer with dogs; to hunt game animals or birds without license, except upon your own ground.

Black Pass—No law.

Snake—No law.

Lost, a gent's coat, containing letters, spectacles and valuable papers, also ladies buff cape and some boy's clothing, at N. N. Chapman ranch or between that place and Roseburg. Leave at Plaindealer office or Dick Cannon farm, Henry Conn.

While in the city subscribing to some stock of the Umpqua Coal Co., Charles Mahoney, one of the Southern Pacific carpenter foremen, informed the Plaindealer that he had a force of men busy engaged in replacing the old wooden bridge over Cow Creek, at West Fork, with a substantial steel structure.

A Millennial Dawn Circle is being organized in this city, and Pirian Bundy of Pennsylvania has been here, speaking to the members of the proposed organization. After addressing them at the Christian church he left for Portland, where he will attend the Bible Students convention.

The recent forest fires made themselves felt in this vicinity, for the heavy smoke was very much in evidence. Many of the newcomers came to the conclusion that a rain was forthcoming, when they saw the heavy clouds of smoke, and a shower would have been decidedly acceptable.

The bear are said to be scarce out on Myrtle Creek, and the cause is said to be attributed to the presence in that neck of the woods of some of this city's expert hunters, who went out there last week and who are soon expected home again. Those who are in the onslaught are W. A. Burr, J. W. Maiden and Maurice Maiden.

The District Fair premium list is now out and ready for distribution. Copies may be had by calling on Beal & Culver, Roseburg. The District Fair is to be held at the grounds one mile east of Roseburg Sept. 12 to 16. Get your products, poultry and livestock in shape to carry off some of the valuable premiums.

Long before the chickens were up, Friday morning, a party of Roseburg's crack nincoms, modestly made their way to Umpqua Ferry in quest of pheasants. They went "loaded for bar," but they came home—well, one had only to catch a glimpse of their countenances to guess the result of their expedition. This was their fourth annual expedition to the same locality. Those composing the party were "Dave" Shambrook, "Doc" Miller, Postmaster Parks, B. F. Matthews and Prescott Gately.

Ab Cens.

Abcesses, with few exceptions, are indicative of constipation or debility. W. H. Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes, Aug. 15, 1902: I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the cords in my leg to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to J. F. Lord's drug store (who is now in Denver, Colo.) He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment; I got a 50c size, and it cured my leg. It is the best liniment in the world.

HASTINGS—At the home of his son, H. B. Hastings at Winchester, Oregon, Aug. 31, 1903, G. A. Hastings, aged 85 years.

Deceased was a veteran of the Civil War. Major Hastings suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home in Bethel, Maine, three years ago and since that time has steadily declined in health. Two weeks ago he came west to visit his son, H. B. Hastings, at Winchester, with the hope of improving his health. He was accompanied by another son, T. F. Hastings and wife.

Major Hastings was a widower, and besides the two sons mentioned, he leaves three sons in the east.

The remains were shipped to Maine from this city Friday night, accompanied by both sons and their wives.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler, of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury on a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Claybourne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some house meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I never was more sick in my life and sent to the drugstore for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured three of us." For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co.

ROSEBURG'S BUSINESS CONTINUES TO GROW

Perhaps no better indication of the marked growth of Roseburg can be found than that which is shown by the increase of business in the local office of the Wells-Fargo Express Company. When Miss Kate Buick took charge of the work here, some seven years ago, there was not nearly the amount of business transacted as that which is done now.

"Yes," remarked Miss Buick, to the Plaindealer representative, "our business is constantly on the increase. It is fully double what it was when I came in here to have charge of things. When the Southern Pacific people were remodeling the depot, last year, they asked what additional room the local branch of the Express company would be likely to need, and, looking ahead, and anticipating the substantial growth of Roseburg, I suggested that they give us a warehouse thirty by twenty-two feet, and they acted upon the suggestion. This gives us plenty of space for warehouse, at the depot, really much more than the average place of this size. Our office is also large and commodious, and we can handle the constantly increasing business with ease. Now we are to have a much desired addition to our equipment, and one which will be appreciated by the patrons of the company, I am sure. It is a nice delivery wagon. I do not know just how soon it will be installed, but it will come in the course of a very short time."

Miss Buick, and her able assistants who have been serving the people so faithfully and well, will be required to have this necessary equipment for their far they have only been able to deliver goods in the business portion of the city, causing people to call for their packages.

The large increase in the volume of business, and the up-to-date outfit which is being installed, speak volumes for Roseburg, showing that this city is rapidly coming into the ranks of the busy places in Southern Oregon, and that it is surely assuming the ways of a city.

Incidentally, it might be mentioned that Miss Buick has been giving such good satisfaction in the service of this big corporation that she is frequently called upon to assist in straightening out matters in other offices along the line in this part of the country.

PRESBYTERIANS MAY BUILD NEW CHURCH

The members of the Roseburg Presbyterian church are taking a very lively interest in the question of having a new church home. About thirty years ago the present edifice was erected, and, although it is still a very good building, yet it is somewhat out of date and not in keeping with the spirit which is getting better things for this fair city.

As usual, the ladies of the congregation are taking the lead in the matter, and, in fact, they have been working and planning for the much-desired new church home for some time past. To this end they have succeeded in laying up quite a neat sum, as a nest egg for this commendable undertaking, and this, together with the spirit of improvement which seems to be abroad in the community, has given quite an impetus to the movement which looks forward to the erection of the new temple of worship.

Just where the new edifice will be located has not yet been positively determined, some of the members desiring the present place, but others wanting it built farther away from the business part of the city. This matter is of minor importance, and will probably be settled without much trouble or delay.

That the Presbyterians have been growing in numbers, as well as in financial ability, is evident, not alone from the fact that they are to secure a new church home which will be a credit to this city, but likewise by the excellent report which shows that the church is now self-supporting, and that it no longer receives any financial aid from the eastern board of the church, as heretofore. Such a state of affairs reflects no little credit upon Rev. J. A. Townsend, and the members of the various departments of the church.
