How to Cure Corns and Bunions

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by A. C. Marsters and Co.

Some Seasonable Advice

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by A. C. Marsters & Co.

"On the Bridge at Midnight."

No play has stronger appeal to human sympathy than "On the Bridge at Midnight" with a sightless mother looking for her stolen child, while the tide of events flows all against her as she gropes about in the heart of a great city. But even the sad side of city life has its humor and this is very ingeniously introduced in "On the Bridge at Midnight," with two characters among others, that have become popular as the famous drawbridge scene, Germany, the professor and Reddy, the bootblack. Klimt and Gazzo have not made the mistake often to be noted in some flimsily advertised plays, of relying on a bit of scenery to get the attention and patronage of the public. They offer a full and exciting drama with even such a masterpiece as the bridge scene taking its proper place as an aid to the story. The company presenting "On the Bridge at Midnight," this season includes two widely known comedians for the leading comedy characters, and other metropolitan actors. At the Roseburg Theater, Friday, Oct. 13.

A Judicial Inquiry

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup is unsurpassed. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co.
