Glendale's Welcome Budget

Our city seemed stirred from center to circumference by the faithful occurrence at Glendale. A happy home is dedicated, a young husband is bereft of his wife. A young wife in the vigor of her womanhood is laid to rest in her untimely grave. And where is the responsibility of this awful tragedy resting? Surely not upon the brave young brakeman, who defied death in his vain endeavor to prevent blood shed. Public opinion is entirely against the outcast and lawless Greeks who caused this horror. They are following out the best of their evil nature, that they have inherited from generation of ancestors. Who, we know have always delighted in scenes of riot and bloodshed. If some of those who have sympathized with the Greeks, will read carefully the history of Greece, they will not pause to doubt their capability to threaten the lives of individuals, and execute their threats upon the least provocation. And while they are enjoying the privilege of the protection of our American flag and the equal rights of American citizenship arriving in continual antagonism to our laws and menacing the lives of our people wherever they happen to locate. The freight train pulled in on the siding at Glendale with the poor tired overworked crew, no doubt, longing for a rest or maybe all hungry and trying to have time to cook their supper. Maybe they did bump onto the Greek's train, if so, did that justify the heathens in coming out for a fight, surely it did not. During my late journey to California, I was one of several hundred passengers, who got quite a shaking in a train wreck on the Siskiyou and I did not observe a single individual who wanted to go out and murder some offensive person on that account or on account of the delay of 10 hours it caused, no, and just why any blame can attach itself to the freight crew, it is hard to imagine.

Hercules slew the bull with his own hands on Mt. St. Ida, in Grecian Mythology and his God-like posterity are still actuated by his feat of daring bravery. And in the still watches of the night, murdered in cold blood, a feeble woman, after calling her husband out of the car and thus removing her only protector. We hope justice in this case will not be delayed, that the heathen murderers may get the full penalty of the law. And thereby prevent indignant citizens from organizing a vigilance committee. Such as held sway in the city of San Francisco in the early '50s. Cast out this obnoxious element and fill their places with Oregon's native sons.

May all of their treacherous race meet with the same fate that befell Alexander the great and his army of thirty-six thousand Macedonians after he had gone to the fortune teller for advice and encouragement and she had told him that his army was invincible.—Mollie

Baron Komura, the Japanese Foreign Minister upon his return to his home after closing up the peace negotiations, was cordially received by the Mikado, but very coldly by the people.

The Mikado has issued a proclamation in which he advises his subjects to go to work and to try and be on friendly terms with the Russian people.

The Swiss railroads have ordered that full fare be paid for children over three feet tall, owing to the number of tall American children under 10 years of age.

An exchange says: "In a barroom in town is a sign which reads: 'If you can't pay, don't load up.' The card was printed for a coal yard, but some one swiped it and left it in the barroom, and the proprietor says it is the best thing he ever had in the place."

The following appeared in the Grants Pass Observer: "Lost—A gold medal with the following inscription: 'First Prize, Roseburg High School, 1905.' Finder please return to this office."

"Brother," says an editor, "don't stop your paper because you don't agree with the editor. That last cabbage you sent us didn't agree with us, but we didn't drop you from the subscription."

RUMBLINGS FROM THE RAILROAD

Pertinent Paragraphs Regarding the Doings in Local Yards and Elsewhere.

It is announced that the Pennsylvania railroad will expend $25,000,000 for new rolling stock and other equipments at once.

The gross earnings of 56 railroads for August, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle, amount to $58,859,481, an increase of $2,994,051 over the same month in 1904. From the beginning on January to the end of August 55 roads show an increase of $28,021,481. The percentage of increase for the month of August was 5.19.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at a recent meeting held in New York placed themselves on record as taking the stand that the non-union man has a good right to work as the union man, providing the wages are the same, and expressed their willingness to work with non-union men providing this condition was met.

Conductor I. L. Riley has been transferred to the run between Woodburn Springfield and will soon leave to take charge of that work.

Conductor E. A. Frank has been assigned to run No. 215, between Junction City and Portland.

The report of the Northern Pacific Co. for the year ended June 30 shows gross earnings of $50,722,886, an increase of $4,198,311 and net earnings of $22,313,127, an increase of $1,455,871. After payment of interest, rentals, dividends and $3,000,000 for additions and betterments, there was a surplus for the year of $3,276,241, an increase of $1,895,919.

Yardmaster A. C. Carty, who with P. and W. P. McKinnon went out into the Myrtle Creek mines to see after some promising properties and also to have some fine sport hunting deer, returned home last evening and reports having had a fine time of his life.

J. P. O'Brien, who is general superintendent of the S. P. lines in Oregon, returned yesterday from a conference of the superintendents, which has just been held at Salt Lake City. He was in his private car, "Oregon," which was attached to No. 12, as he returned by way of San Francisco.

Sunday night's freight train No. 225, Conductor Chassee, had a bad mishap, when near Wolf Creek. The axle of the engine broke and this resulted in smashing the caboose and derailling one car of wood. The caboose had been just recently painted and fixed up in fine style and this was its first trip out after being thus fixed up. Now it will have to go back again for another fix up.

Foreman F. E. Cavender went out at once with a wrecking crew to clear up the debris. Passenger train No. 16, north-bound was delayed three hours by the mishap.

Conductor Bickett will remain on his run, between this city and Grants Pass, instead of going on the Woodburn Springfield run, as was announced.

M. J. Buckley, general superintendent of Portland, L. R. Fields, superintendent of the Oregon lines, of the S. P., and the following O. R. & N. officials: D. W. Campbell, superintendent of the lines in Oregon, and Tom Walsh, superintendent of the lines in Washington state, composed a party of distinguished railroad men who were here yesterday on a general tour of inspection. They had no less than three private cars and traveled in state. They remained in Roseburg several hours, going south with the evening train.

This is "Pay Day" with the railroad men of Roseburg, and there is a great deal of the "filthy lucre" to be handed out to the men. It may not be generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact that those pay rolls are averaging all of $40,000 per month. During the rush season, this last summer, when the fair travel was at its height, it was estimated that all of $60,000 was distributed among the railroad men of this city. This is no small item, and the business men of Roseburg realize and appreciate the fact that to the railroad is due not a little of the prosperity of this fair young city and they have a very kindly feeling toward the railroad employees.

Last night the three cars carrying the head officers of this division and also those from the O. R. & N., went north, attached to No. 16.

In place of the exceedingly heavy passenger traffic which held sway during the last few months, the freight work is now taking the time and attention of the local railroad men. It is said to be heavier than has ever been known in the history of the road, which is a very significant fact and would seem to indicate that all over this Pacific Coast people are enjoying a goodly share of prosperity.
