RUMBLINGS FROM THE RAILROAD

Pertinent Paragraphs Regarding the Doings in Local Yards and Elsewhere.

Wm. Perry, better known as "Our Bill," has left the round house force and is now one of Mike DeVany's assistants.

J. B. Williams, who has had charge of the round house water pump, has been off for a day or so, on account of sickness.

Today Fireman H. J. Robinson is moving his family to Silverton, as he is to be located on the Woodburn-Springfield run, hereafter.

C. W. Mann, the jacket wiper, who has interest in Yoncalla, reports that this year's apple crop is almost a failure.

Carl Hoffman, who does special duty at the round house on Sundays is an ardent socialist, and when he appeared among the men, with a bundle of "The Wilshire," the great socialist organ, Alex Aubin, better known as "Frenchy" who is getting quite a reputation as a cartoonist drew such a good picture of him, that Mr. Hoffman has sent it back to be published in "The Wilshire."

Engine No. 2191 was sent into the local shops yesterday, for some slight repairs.

The boys have been only too glad to lend some assistance to Foreman J. A. Peterson, whose wife was killed during a recent Greek riot, by raffling off the Oak, drop-top sewing machine which belonged to the deceased. The tickets numbered from one to one hundred, each calling for the number of cents. The result was that $50.50 was realized from this means, for the machine which had cost $55. Engineer McCarthy held the lucky number, which was 46.

Engineer Merriman, who was in the freight wreck at Drain, last Wednesday is said to have gotten his "waiting papers."

That the Southern Pacific now intends to have its own water supply in the local yards, is evident from the fact that a Portland well-digging outfit is now on the grounds and will commence at once to bore a well just in the rear of the old round house, about 250 feet south of the turn table. It is capable of digging from 8 to 12 inches by drilling and Foreman Jones informs the Plaindealer that it is proposed to go to a depth of from 100 to 150 feet in order to get the moisture.

"Our water bill here has been $200 per month, until just lately, when it was reduced to $150. But we regard even that as altogether too much and are going to go it alone. Besides, we find that sometimes we cannot depend upon these city works. They may be out of water at the very time when we need it most and if we have our own plant we will be independent." It is understood that the Roseburg Water Co. had been providing water for from 50 to 60 engines each day, during the season when the big fair rush was on.

"Jack" Andrews, who was a railroad conductor on this division ten years ago, but has more recently been located at various other places, including Alaska and Nevada, is in town greeting his many old-time friends.

GLENDALE IS BUSY AND PROSPEROUS

Plaindealer Representative Visits South End of County, and Spends Pleasant Day

For the first time under the new management a Plaindealer representative visited Glendale on Tuesday, and found that little south county metropolis very much "on the map. Her business men and citizens, without exception, we found to be jolly good fellows, and all of them are proud of their town, and are pulling together for her welfare. While this paper regularly goes into a large number of Glendale homes, yet Tuesday's visit served to still further and materially increase that number. The Plaindealer policy will be to work for the welfare of the entire county, and the cordial reception given us Tuesday is very gratifying to us.

The development of mining resources in that near-byhood is just now very much in the foreground, and those who should know whereof they speak are unflinching in their predictions for the future in that favored district. Results obtained by their local and competent assayers' office, bear out these claims, and already attention of large mine owners in various other districts is being attracted thither.

The new editor of the Plaindealer spent Tuesday in Oakland, and he was very favorably impressed with the general air of progress and prosperity which seemed to pervade the entire community. The business portion of the town gives every evidence that prosperity has been there and that the progressive business men were fully abreast of the times. The substantial brick blocks certainly speak volumes for the place and indicate plainly that the owners have built for time to come. In the residence portion, also, he found nice, attractive homes and signs which showed him that the class of people who live in them appreciate neat, attractive places, for there was every indication of neatness and comfort.

In making his rounds, getting acquainted, the editor was pleased to be so cordially received and he was assured on all sides that his efforts to work for the whole of Douglas county were being appreciated, and he obtained more data regarding that particular locality, which will enable him to speak intelligently regarding it when occasion arises, either through the columns of the paper or when in conversation with newcomers who ask for information.

One of the social events of the week was the marriage of Miss Anna Eva Grubbe, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Grubbe to Mr. Scott Lander, one of the S. P.'s popular firemen. The wedding took place at the home of the bride yesterday, and the happy couple will become residents of Roseburg, and will be "at home" on and after Nov. 30. The bride has a host of friends in Oakland who will regret to see her leave but who will join with the Plaindealer in wishing for the newly wedded couple all the happiness it is possible for them to enjoy.

Hon. D. S. K. Buick was in this place Tuesday greeting his many friends and telling them all about the big Portland exposition, where he did so much good for Douglas county while in charge of the county's exhibit.

The chapel car is on the sidetrack here and some services are being held by the Baptist evangelist, Rev. Herminion, who is in charge.

Mrs. Frank Smith, formerly Miss Pike and a resident of Oakland, is going from Salem, where her daughter has been taking a course the business college, to Grants Pass, where they will reside in the near future. The daughter is ill, being threatened with typhoid fever.

The High School team goes to Roseburg next Saturday for a game with the High School there. An effort is being made to secure games with Ashland and Grants Pass during the same trip.—Engine Register.
