Cures Winter Cough

J. E. Gover, 110 N. Main St., Ottawa Kans., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. When over the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c 50c and $1. Sold by A. C. Marsters & Co.

What Denver, Colo., Says:

Mr. Wm. G. Lotze, one of the most able V. M. C. A. secretaries in the United States says under date of January 7, 1897: "The entertainment by the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette was strictly first class and gave entire satisfaction. Their concert numbers were especially fine." Hear them Nov. 2nd.

Senator Fulton is now in Washington, D. C., whether he no doubt has gone to hurry up Oregon appointments,—especially as he said, to hurry up the appointment of Register and Receiver for the Roseburg land office, which has been shamefully delayed by the action of Secretary Hitchcock, whose policy, whether intentionally or not, has been in favor of the rich man with Scrip and against the poor man. No Cabinet officer in American history was ever before so bitterly hated as Hitchcock, by thousands of poor men all over the West.—Port Orford Tribune.

The Daily News of Denver, on December 29, 1896, says: "It is rarely, indeed, that Denver is favored with such vocal execution and instrumental as well. When it is said that the work of the Quartette is beyond criticism and the other performances the work of professionals, the truth is told. It was a rare privilege, thoroughly appreciated by the audience, to listen to the wonderful voices of the Quartette in their harmonious blending and surprising range, and there was not a number on the program but secured an encore." You can enjoy the same treat that Denver did at the Opera House on November 2nd.

YONCALLA IS A PROMISING PLACE

Acting upon the suggestion of the Yoncalla reporter, the editor of the Plaindealer went and visited that locality, Friday. He was agreeably surprised to find such evidences of thrift and enterprise. He had already received a most favorable impression of the splendid class of citizens who reside there, but he was not expecting to see so many indications of prosperity. It was almost a revelation to him to see the excellent brick and stone and frame business buildings and to find how much business is coming to this trading post. The merchants informed him that Monday as well as Saturday, is getting to be a splendid day for business, the people coming in from the country in large numbers.

The editor had the pleasure of meeting many of the representative people of the town and community and he was informed that his efforts to work for the interests of all parts of Douglas county were being noticed and appreciated.

Out on the commons, were a number of football enthusiasts of the town enjoying the exhilarating sport and evidently preparing for a Thanksgiving game.

Some nice new cottages are in course of construction and others are contemplated.

The public schools, under the able management of Principal McQueen, are doing very nicely.

Preparations are being made for a grand masquerade ball, which will be given in the local hall, about Thanksgiving time.

The Southern Pacific is having some extensive work done in this vicinity.

The merchants are already beginning to make preparations for the holiday business, and from the large stocks which they are ordering, they must expect to do a large business.

One of the pleasant occasions of the last week was the surprise party which was tendered Mrs. L. T. Clay, at her home, by a few of her many friends Friday afternoon. It was her birthday, she having passed the seventieth milestone, and "Grandma Clay," as everyone knows her, was the recipient of some nice presents from those who took her so by surprise. During her twelve years residence in this place she has endeared herself to all, and the entire community hopes that she may have many more "returns of the day."

Very Gratifying.

The fact that our citizens stand ready to patronize a first-class entertainment liberally, is well demonstrated by the large sale of seats for the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette. There is very little doubt of a full house to hear these favorable entertainers when they appear at the Opera House on Nov. 2 and the audience will be composed of our best citizens.

Stories Of the Stage Folk

PETER F. DAILEY is a comedian who does not have to go far to find jokes. They are always coming his way. Not long ago he attended a matinee performance of one of the dramatic productions that did not "score a hit," as the critics say. On coming out of the theater he was accosted by a friend.

"Been to the show, Peter? How was it?"
"Oh, fair."
"Big audience?"
"No, they weren't big; I could lick the three of 'em."

Mr. Dailey sprang a joke in San Francisco awhile ago and in writing about it to a friend in New York explained it as follows:

"One of the popular table waters here is Bartlett water. Everybody knows about it, so I got a laugh by asking if two men who drink Bartlett water will be a Bartlett pear."

When the friend had thought the joke over and digested it he sent the following telegram to Mr. Dailey:

"Your pear joke is a peach."
Mrs. Frank Pixley, the dashing young wife of the librettist, is a Canadian, so doesn't make the effort of saying "elevator."

In the rush hour at a department store she found herself wedged in a crowd.

"Will you please tell me where the lift is?" she gasped to a florid, grinning face behind her.

"Sure, miss," and a huge hand struggled upward and swept the wall space grandly. "This is the right, and that's the lift."

William Norris, the comedian and character actor, who has recently created many a laugh in "Babes in Toyland," is a very versatile performer, but his first stage appearance in a London music hall was not very encouraging. It was at the hour when amateurs were tried. Mr. Norris relates:

"I had a vague impression of a vast sea of heads confronting me, and then I started in to sing 'The Falsest Girl You Ever Came Anigh.' I had reached the refrain, and a few moments more would have put me at my ease and have restored my self confidence.

"Unfortunately, however, in my nervousness I had chanced to look up toward the gallery. My eye was caught by an immense sign, ten or fifteen feet square, and I read in big black letters:

"Gentlemen Will Please Not Throw Trotters' Bones at Actors on the Stage."
"By trotters' was meant sheep's feet, which sold for a sixpence and which many of the workmen in the audience ate while waiting for the performance to begin. I had gone as far as 'The false'—I never finished. The awfulness of the meaning in that sign dawned upon me. My jaw dropped. No words came from my paralyzed throat. My knees rattled together, and my eyes remained fixed in a glassy stare upon the fatal sign.

"The leader of the orchestra, seeing my predicament, had his men to play louder, but all to no purpose. A moment of perspiring agony ensued, when the voice of the stage manager called from the wings, 'Come off at once!' Mechanically I obeyed, and not a moment too soon, for a shower of bones fell from the gallery upon the spot where I had been standing a moment before, and then followed a roar of 'Boos!' like the enraged growls of some hundred wild animals.

"You got off just in time," said the manager. "Now, quick, jump into this cab. You can change your costume on your way home."

Marie Dressler, who has recently made a hit in "The College Widower," had a hard siege with typhoid fever several seasons ago. While she was ill her mother died. The physicians kept the news from her. When the young woman, who has made so many theatergoers laugh, became convalescent it was necessary, of course, to impart the sad intelligence to her, but how to do it was the question.

It is said to be impossible to overpla it in flatterer a woman, in which respect she does not differ greatly from a man.

Her Capacity.
The dainty dandel was a dream. This creature like and slender. But, oh, she could store ice cream And chicken, fried or baked, And doiled lobsters by the peck And oysters in their season. Until the man who paid the check Would almost lose his reason.

She hardly seemed a thing of earth. This creature like and slender. But, oh, she not her money's worth And liked to meet a spender. And when a man like that she found She always could be trusted To see that such a one hung round And meant till he was busted.

The thing that puzzles simple man Is how a lady thinner Than gauze or tissue paper can Make way with such a dinner. It isn't that he minds the price Or pauses to deplore it. But much he wonders where a nice Frail girl like that can store it.

UNSEEN DANGER IS ON OUR TRACK

From the time of our birth till we lie down for the last time.

The best defense from the dangers of disease is vigor of body and activity of the natural functions.

The kind of assistance is important. It must not be stimulation for that gives but temporary effect, and the reaction is more than depressing. Take a tonic—one that will re-establish normal digestion and assimilation and prove a reconstructive rather than a promoter of waste. This will give nature a fair chance to put in motion normal work of repair and tissue building.

Such a tonic was given in Nature's Laboratory, hidden in the ground and brought thence forty years ago by Dr. R. V. Pierce, who has made the treatment of lingering diseases his life-long study and care.

He uses glyceric extracts instead of alcoholic ones, exactly proportioned and combined by processes of his own invention, first used in his private practice and now given out freely to the world in his "Golden Medical Discovery," which is composed of Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrystone, Bloodroot and Mandrake root.

Mrs. A. T. Jones, of 935 Hayes Street, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "As a child I was delicate, and great care was taken of me because some of my relatives had died of consumption, although my father and mother were healthy. I grew up with only the ordinary diseases of all children, but about two years ago I contracted a severe cold, which would not yield to such home-treatment as was handy. Doctors were tried, but after three months of this treatment I was only worse. Then I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and am glad to say that three bottles not only cured me of the cold and cough, but made me feel better than I ever had before. I will always have a bottle of this medicine in the house."

These tiny, sugar-coated antibilious granules regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not forget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor. Put up in vials: always fresh and reliable.

CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—Dr. J. C. Gieson.

The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Roschke's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't stop, the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

But no matter how deep-seated the cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.
