ROSEBURG

OREGON

RAILROAD COMING TO ROSEBURG

Coos County Citizen Certain That
It Will Come This Way and
And Gives Reasons

Judge C. A. Sehlbrede, who for twenty years was one of Douglas county's leading legal lights, but who is now located over at Marshfield, in Coos county, paid the Plaindealer a pleasant visit, while he mingled with his many friends in this city, the first of the week.

Among other things, Judge Sehlbrede said, were the following words of encouragement: "Yes, I think a great deal of Douglas county. For over twenty years, and until I was appointed to the Alaska judgeship, this was my home and this is one of the best counties, in my judgment, in the entire state. Of course you will pardon me when I say that I think Coos county has a wonderful future before it. Our greatest need, just now, is transportation facilities. True, the Southern Pacific is building out from Drain and that will afford us some relief, but it will by no means fill the bill, for in the future our section is going to demand an eastern outlet and that is where Roseburg will come in for the benefit. The road from Drain cannot hurt Roseburg, on the contrary it will add greatly to the taxable property of Douglas county and will be a help to every part of this county. But, just wait until some trans-continental line comes in, as it most surely will, and it will come right through Roseburg, in building its line through to Boise and on to Chicago. This is not all mere talk, for already several big eastern lines have their covetous eyes on this very route and one or more of them will eventually build over this proposed route, sure."

Judge Sehlbrede finds that Roseburg is advancing right along and he noticed many evidences of growth and development, since he went away, to take up his abode elsewhere. When he was induced to accept the Alaska appointment by Senator McBride, after declining the honors three different times, he left a lucrative practice in this city and county which was turned over to Hon. O. P. Coshow, and after his northern office-holding was at an end, he would have liked to come back here to reside, but his business was gone and this led him to seek other fields and hence his going to Coos county. Of course he has a warm spot in his heart for the people of Roseburg and Douglas county and he greatly enjoyed the opportunity of once more visiting among them.

ANTI-SALOON FORCES COMING THIS WAY

C. M. Van Pelt, an attorney of Ohio, has been engaged by the Anti-Saloon League, of Oregon, to assist in the legal department, and will arrive the latter part of the month, remarks a Portland paper. He will devote all his time to Anti-Saloon League work, and will have his headquarters in Portland.

Dr. G. L. Tufts, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, has just returned from a tour of Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam and Wheeler counties, where he conducted meetings at all the large towns, establishing organizations known as Balance of Power Leagues. These have for their object the insuring of clean politics and good government by securing the nomination and election of the best available men.

"The leading citizens of all the counties are behind the organizations," said Dr. Tufts. "The plan is to have the county chairman and the chairman for each precinct and the committee for each municipality, work together for the nomination and election of the best available candidate for those offices which involve the suppression of the saloon, gambling and social evil.

"Next week I shall start for Jackson, Josephine and Douglas counties to organize other leagues. The municipal election are also provided for at Ashland, Jackson county, and we have a week's campaign arranged beginning with November 28. We will also hold meetings at Medford, Grants Pass and other towns in that part of the state."

TAX COMMISSION GETTING TO WORK

The state tax commission appointed by Governor Chamberlain to devise a system of thorough revision of taxation laws of Oregon is collecting data from parts of the state, having sent letters of inquiry to county officials to public service corporations, asking for information and suggestions.

F. W. Mulkey, president of the commission, says the principal aim of the commission will be to depart as much as possible from the general property tax now in use in most of the states. By the general property tax is meant the tax on realty and personalty, as distinguished from the income tax on the one hand and the tax realty for local purposes and the tax on personalty, public service corporations, franchises and inheritances on the other.

LATER ON THEY'LL ADVERTISE OREGON

It is learned from official sources that the $100,000 advertising campaign of the Southern Pacific company to induce tourist travel over its Pacific coast lines has only begun and that the Portland end of the line will receive special attention later in the season, when wet weather in Oregon gives place to sunny spring skies. This campaign is being directed from the San Francisco headquarters of the company.

"It would not be fair to take the present advertising matter that is being put out and consider it as applying particularly to the Oregon part of the Pacific coast trip of the tourist. Neither would it be fair to expect the tourist to extend his journey to Oregon at this particular season if he were looking for pleasant out-door life. Just now southern California is having its inning and Oregon's part of the game will come later on," said William McMurray, assistant general passenger agent of Oregon lines.

"The plan of the Southern Pacific's $100,000 advertising campaign for tourist travel did not contemplate giving much attention to the Oregon section this winter. It is not deemed advisable to attempt to draw the tourist from Southern California to Oregon at this season of the year. The idea is to lead the tourist along to Portland in the spring, after they are done with their Southern California visit. Heretofore tourist travel to southern California has returned east by the Ogden route. It is now proposed by the company to return them via Portland and over the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company's lines. It gives the Southern Pacific the longer haul, helps Oregon and Portland and we believe will be to the benefit of eastern people, many of whom will become familiar with the great resources of this state and perhaps settle or invest here."

Later in the winter new and different advertising matter may be looked for in the $100,000 series, and it will exploit the Oregon country, the city of Portland and the Columbia waterway that is a feature in all O. R. & N. advertising publications.

DOUGLAS COUNTY IS PLACE FOR PRUNES

Association Packing House Closes
Down, After a Most Encouraging Run

Notwithstanding the well-known fact that this has been an "off year" in the growing of prunes, yet the run which the Association Packing House has just made has been one of much credit. The firm of Giles and Co., of Salem leased the plant early in the season and for the past six weeks the institution has been the scene of much activity. Mr. B. L. Giles had the work in his hand and he has had his hands pretty full. To a Plaindealer man he said:

"We have been more than pleased with the results of this season's business. We did not expect very much and we have had much more than we had any reason to expect. Thus far we have shipped out fifteen cars of dried prunes, sending them to various eastern markets, including Chicago, Duluth, Boston, Pittsburg, New Orleans and other places. And we have been delighted with the kind of fruit that we have been getting. Although the quantity was not what we might have wanted, yet, on the whole it has been a very good year for the grower, as well as for the shipper, for the quality has been simply superb and the prices have been correspondingly good, so that, on the whole, the returns have really been better than during some so-called "good" years, when crop was large and price was poor.

"Much of the time we have had from twenty to thirty people employed, thus giving out quite a goodly amount of money. The work has been very satisfactory and the goods have opened the eyes of our friends, as to Douglas county fruit. For instance, we had a car going through Salem the other day, and the folks up there opened the car, to see what we were doing down this way and they were greatly surprised and sent me word that they never had seen such fruit before. I thought that was quite a little compliment, for they are certainly good judges of fruit, up that way."

Sargt. Martin Markeson is again out, after being slightly indisposed for several days.

PRIZES OFFERED TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

County Superintendent of schools, Frank Hamlin, requests the Plaindealer to publish the following offer which is made to the scholars of the public throughout the state of Oregon:

The Oregon Society of the Sons of the American Revolution offers prizes to the pupils of the public schools of the State of Oregon for essays connected with Revolutionary History. Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded to the best three essays in the order of merit, on either of the following subjects:

1. John Paul Jones.
2. Woman's Part in the Revolution.
3. The Commissary Department of the Revolutionary Army—compared with the present.

The essays are limited to 3,000 words, written in the student's own hand written on one side of the paper. The essays must be accompanied by a certificate of the principal of the school attended by the writer, stating that the writer is a bona fide student of the school and has attended not less than four weeks during the school year of 1905-6. Each essay must be signed by the writer in his or her proper name and giving the post office address of the writer. Essays must be forwarded to Mr. Harrison G. Platt, Commercial Block, Portland, Oregon, so as to reach him not later than February 1st, 1906.

In awarding the prizes the committee will be governed by these considerations:

1. History accuracy.
2. Manner of treatment.
3. Orthography, Grammar, Syntax and Punctuation.

Additional information may be obtained by addressing the Chairman of the committee at Oregon City or other members of committee at Portland, Oregon.
