The constitution may not have followed the flag to the Philippines but American customs are reaching there by leaps and bounds. The latest is a newboys strike that forced a paper published in Manila to abandon its street sales.

The Crook County Journal raises the remark that "Thanksgiving has been postponed until the last day of the month, but it will give the turkeys plenty time to get fat and appreciate the beauties of living."

If the southern democrats insist upon another term for President Roosevelt and the northern republicans persist in their admiration of Governor Folk, the insurance company managers probably will not esteem it a part of their sacred duty to policy holders to contribute to the campaign funds in 1908.—Baker City Maverick.

The London committee has received for the benefit of the Russian Jews donations of $355,000 and a speech from Lord Rothchild expressing confidence in the outlook for peace.

The Norwegian plebiscite polled only twenty-one per cent of the votes for a republican form of government for the country. Probably the voters had read of the recent election in New York and decided that a monarchical government could scarcely furnish a condition as bad as that.

More stenographers and typewriters are needed by the Panama canal commission, but as yet there is no demand for more spades.

The Oregon Statesman brings this bit of interesting news: "The cranberry crop is reported to be short. Up to the present time, there have been no reliable reports regarding the turkey shortage. Should they both be short at the same time some of our friends will probably have to be satisfied with chicken, duck or perhaps with pate de gras."

When Gov. Folk, of Missouri, attended the Portland, Ore., exposition in an executive capacity, recently, he not only paid for his own transportation but insisted upon every member of his staff doing likewise. He will get over it, says the Gold Beach Globe.

All of the Russians taken prisoners by the Japanese are to be sent home. This is not consistent with their reputation for treating their prisoners humanely.

Football at Annapolis is to be played more gently according to Secretary Bonaparte's orders but the students still have ways left for killing each other.

The Albany Herald sagely remarks: "It is the habit of man to proselyte. In process of time, one person finds benefit in certain articles, baths, modes of clothing, methods of exercise, and the like. Forthwith, he becomes the prophet of his particular fancy and seeks to convert thereto the rest of humanity. As people differ in temperament, they differ in requirements and the philosopher is satisfied in his own way and offers no objection to others in the exercise of the same liberty of action."

It is announced that the yellow fever prevalent in Havana can be traced to a swarm of mosquitoes imported from New Orleans in a box of electrical machinery. This is enough to give Louisiana, as well as Cuba, a shock.

The Agricultural Department announces that many prominent seed merchants of this country adulterate their seeds. Many persons who have used government seeds will decide that it must have been from these merchants that the Agricultural Department bought its seeds.

Editor Porter, of the Ashland Tribune, is evidently a football enthusiast, for he defends the game after this fashion: "Rev. Gonsaulus attacks Thanksgiving football games. The attack will fail. The American people want to be amused when they are not at their studies or at work, and unless the Doctor can supply something just as exciting, the football game will keep on drawing crowds."

This is the way Editor Roberts, of The Myrtle Point Enterprise, sizes up matters: "Secretary Hitchcock has turned down the Umatilla irrigation project. He seems to have a spite at Oregon, and is unreasonable in his actions. Because he is at outs with the Oregon representatives in congress, is no reason why he should seek to injure the whole state."

Vice-President Fairbanks has discovered the golden rule, and is urging it with all the enthusiasm of a discoverer as a plan for conducting business and politics.

Gov. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania says he is poorer now than when he accepted the office, but everyone knows that until the recent election the state has always been ready to help those who helped themselves.

The Klamath Republican speaks thusly: "In speaking of the land fraud trials, Mr. Heney says Oregon is to be congratulated upon her good citizenship. If this is true, why refuse to appoint a receiver for the Roseburg land office, after delaying the matter nearly a year? The appointment might be made from men who have served as trial jurors in Portland last summer."

This comes from the Eugene Guard: "Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Portland—and by the way, that "doctor" designation for a preacher, and parting his name in the middle, really both show bad taste—in a sermon the other evening on "Choosing a Husband," asserted that being an old maid was not so bad, or words to that effect. How does the dispenser of intended sensationalism know?"

Brethren of the press of Douglas county, what think you of the plan of organizing a county editorial association. The Plaindealer believes such a move would be advantageous, individually and collectively, and would also enhance our ability in pulling for the whole of Douglas, the best county in Oregon. Let us have your opinions, brethren.

G. W. DIMMICK

District Attorney, Geo. M. Brown, is getting a brief breathing spell, from the long run of court which has kept him on the go for some time past. Having the legal complications of so many counties to unravel, it is little wonder that he has been working hard to keep things moving. Mr. Brown thinks that the next term of court in Douglas county will not be nearly so large as was the last one, which by the way, was one of the most expensive in the history of the county. But he finds that some other counties are rolling up a large volume of business that they will more than make up for the deficiency. However, Mr. Brown is enjoying very good health and feels equal to a vast amount of very hard work, having recovered almost entirely from the illness which he experienced some months ago.

Yesterday afternoon, Judge M. D. Thompson was called upon to perform a marriage ceremony at the court house. The contracting parties were Mrs. N. G. Harris, mother of Deputy County Assessor M. F. Harris, of Canyonville and Mr. W. W. O'Conner, manager of the Levins Ledge Mining Co. The couple were accompanied by Roy Harris, Walter O'Conner and W. F. Harris, who witnessed the impressive ceremony.

County Assessor Staley and Deputy Rogers are busily engaged in getting up a great index, containing the 8,000 names of taxpayers of this county. It is gotten up on what is known as the "Block System," and is very complete in every respect. It not only contains the name of each property owner, but likewise has the property nicely arranged, so reference can be had to it without any delay, whatever. If one knows the owner the property can be located, or if owner is not known, but the property is known, the owner's name can be readily ascertained.

A rather important suit has been commenced in the circuit court by J. L. Rider, of Gardiner, by his attorneys, Jas. E. Sawyers and J. A. Buchanan, against John L. Koontz and other citizens of that place. In his complaint, he alleges that he was employed as night watchman for the Gardiner Mill Co., at a salary of $55 per month, and that on the night of March 6, 1904, these defendants came and assaulted him and threatened to hang him, in order to compel him to leave said premises. Indeed, he claims that they took him by force to the home of defendant, Storm, where he was kept a prisoner for an hour, until he was willing to give up $200, for his release. They compelled him, he avers, to leave that community and he is now in the employ of Kelly & Banks, the liverymen in this city. He states that by reason of such harsh treatment he not only lost his position and was compelled to leave the community, but that he has suffered much mental suffering and anguish, for he was only given twenty-four hours in which to settle up his accounts and get out of the community, or else they threatened to get rid of him by hanging or drowning. On account of such treatment and because he was thus deprived of his rights, he asks the court to grant him damages in the sum of $10,000.

Another rather important piece of litigation which is now in the circuit court of this county, was the legal proceedings instituted by Messrs. John A. Jeffrey and Chas. E. Lenon, Salem attorneys, for O. C. Reeves, of Salem, who seeks to recover damages to the amount of $5,000, from B. Fenton, owner of the Roseburg-Myrtle Point stage line. In his complaint Mr. Reeves says that on January 5, 1904, he paid Mr. Fenton the sum of $5, for which he was to be taken from Roseburg to Myrtle Point, but he alleges that through the carelessness of the driver, the stage was upset and he, Mr. Reeves, was severely hurt. In fact he set forth in that document, that his shoulder, arm and back were broken, and that $5,000 damages should be awarded him for such bodily injury.

Both of these important cases will come up for hearing and trial at the January term of the circuit court.

The members of the cabinet do not really want to talk but they don't want to be forced to whisper.
