OREGON PENITENTIARY. The New Building-Public Inspec-

Library, etc. The new Ponitentiary building being ready for occupancy, it was thrown open to visitors yesterday, for the double purpose of showing what had been done the past two years, and creating a prison library. About two bundred and fifty persons visited the place during the day.

THE NEW BUILDING is of solid brick masoury, 242 long by 46 in width, with a wing of 25 feet on the north side. The luside of the prison is handsomely furnished. There are 36 cells, each one of sufficient size to accommodate two prisoners. Forty-two of these cells are brick, and the balance of them constructed With this exception we have had no serious accidents. We are now within a few miles of plate fron $-16 of an inch in thickness. Each cell is supplied with two bads and a small table. The walls of these cells are camp presents a picturesque appearance. Mr. Murphy is busily engaged in cutting neatly whitewashed. Rach cell is supplied with water. One of the conveniences of this prison is the novel mode they have of locking the cell doors. By a movement of a lever an iron ber in thrown across the door of each cell on the entire row, which fastens it in such a memner that the warden can pass along and clasp the padiocks without any danger of the prisoner enclosed making an effort to excape. The entire building is heated by steam pipes, and warm and cold water is convenient at all times. The chapel and hospital room each have steam ables wrong side out, and is reading a note hosters. The former has two, each con-'taining about five handred feet of steam pipe. The latter, one of 250 feet. The offi-'cers' rooms are conveniently arranged, although as yet they are unfurnished. is supplied with one of G. T. Blakes fourhorse power engines which pumps all the water used. The water is supplied by the stream which flows backs of the prison. It is forced into two reservoirs on top of the building, each having a capacity of 11,000 gallons. These can be easily filled in two hours, and when full are calculated to supply the prison with water two days. The kitches which is located in the basement has been fitted up with a sixteen footrange, and two large boilers for heating water. These boilers each hold about 125 gallons of water which can be heated boiling hot in 30 minutes. The heating pipes are built immediately around the blaze, being ar ranged with some ingenuity. In this the cooking is done for all the prisoners. The food when cooked is placed on a dummy consisting of about 15 shelves three feet square, so arranged with pullies that it can be raised upon the first floor where the guards take it and deliver it to the prisoners in their cells. In the old prison, the convicts were fed together in a dining room, but it was found it gave them an opportunity to plot for an escape. The dangeons, four in number, are in the basement, and are dark and gloomy enough to answer any purpose. The prison is devided into four distinct wards, and so arranged that it will be impossible for an outbreak to occur. A for. The department for female-prisoners is suggestive of comfort as well as safety. To give an idea of the amount of work done by eight miles of iron pipe have been laid. Anderson & Rhawl of this city did the work at the cost of about $14,000. The entire cost of the building will be about $90,000. The exercises yesterday afternoon consisted of vocal and instrumental music addresses, report of the Librarian etc., etc. Gov. Grover was unable to be present on account of
