GREELEY AND THE KNOW NOTH-

The Chicago Journal presents the following: A New Yorker, now a well-known resident and merchant of this city, informs us that in 1856 he was a member of the first Know Nothing Council formed in the city of New York; that the question of securing a newsthat the question of securing a news-paper organ came up; that a commit-tee was appointed on this subject; and that, at a meeting of that committee, at 68 East Broadway, over a drug store, Horace Greeley was personally present and submitted a proposition to make his Tribune the organ of the Know Nothing party of New York if they would pay him $36,000. Our in-formant, who is as reliable a man at can be found in Chicago's business cir-cles, stands ready to prove his state-ment should old Horace have the hard-ihood to question it.

Horace Greeley is the author of the subjoined paragraph, which appeared in the New York Tribune of August 7, 1868. Greeley was not then a can-lidate for President. Did be tell the truth then, or does he speak with a forked tongue now?

"Although General Grant has recommended to the President the remission of the penalties and the release from imprisonment of all prisoners now in confinement under sentence by mili-tary commissions organized under the reconstruction Acts, we do not find a single Democratic paper applanding his course. The professions made by the Copperhead journals of sympathy with the Southern people are false and merely intended to gain votes. General Grant has shown more practicable sympathy and given more evidence of kin iness toward rebels than all the Copperhead writers and politicians combined. His course has been singularly magnanimous, and yet he is denounced as seeking their murder or banishment, or the banishment, or the confiscation of their property. THE MODEL AUCTIONEER.

The late George Robins was fumous for his genius in the direction of puffing his auction wares. On one occasion he had made the beauties of an estate so enchanting that he found it necessary to blur it by a fault or two, lest it should prove too bright and good-for human nature's daily food, ... But there are two drawbacds to this property," sighed out this apostle of the mart, "the litter of the roses and the noise of nightingales." Yet he must yield the palm to Mr. Christie, who describing one portion of a paradise he was about to offer for sale as adorned, among other charms, with a "banging wood" which the disgusted purchaser found out meant and old gallows.—"Club Room," in
