THE RIGHTS OF THE STATE NOT PROTECTED.

The Locks Bill as it passed the House has no provision for the adequate protection of the State. The terms of the bill have been mostly dictated by the Company. The bill as it is now will get the works off their hands at an enormous price. The State will be fully held to pay the last farthing while the Company will be bound imno material respect. There is no provision to guard against the contingency of the dissolution and insolvency of the Company. A part of the land is in dispute. The decision may be against the Company. How, in that case can the Company make title to the State? or how will the State get what it now bargains for? Or how will it get an equivalent?

The bill, in the last section provides simply that the Company "shall enter into good and sufficient bonds for the faithful performance" etc. But no sum is named for the bond. That is left entirely to the Commissioners. They may name any sum from ten cents up. The Company has dictated the terms of the bill and has shown itself strong enough to put the job through. Why should they not also dictate the choice of Commissioners? They will. And the Commissioners will be the friends and creatures of the Company. The bonds they will require will be easy. The State's Interest in the matter will be ignored. That's what's the matter with the bill In its present shape.

As to repairs : The bill was amend ed the other day, to require the Company to make all repairs, under penalty of the stoppage of rent, and the deduction from such rent of the cost of repairs made by the State. This is spoken of as a big thing in favor of the State. It will be a good thing it the State is protected in other essential respects; but not otherwise. It will not operate to secure the full performuntion ance by the Company of their contract. It will not carry the Company along to the completion of title. Suppose the State goes forward and makes ten or eleven payments-say $400,000 or $440,000; then the works are broken away by flood; the Secretary says, "gentlemen you must rebuild;" the "gentlemen" decline to rebuild; the Secretary says, "then, gentlemen I pust withhold the rent ;" the "gentlemen" will say to Mr, Secretary, "do you think we are green enough to expend $440,000 to repair these works in order to get that other $40,000 ?" and Joe Teal would shrug his shoulders shrewdly and add, "Not much!" That is precisely how the matter may all end, and the State find itself out $440,000 with not a vestige of canal or ( locks to show for it.

FANCY AND FACT. Some of the "flowery" orators in the Legislature based powerful arguments on the assumption that there were raised in Oregon this year, 4,000.000 bushels of wheat; and the the Lock and Dam Swindle bill, de-

But about that aggregate of 4,000,000 bushels-the census of 1870 showed the total product of wheat in the whole State for 1869 to have been 1,750,000 bushels. Who believes that since that time, the production of wheat has been more than doubled, by 400,000 bushels? The wheat product of this year. in the entire State is unquestionably under 3,000,000 bushels. And it must be remembered that only a part of this is surplus, to be moved by any mode of transportation. And as a little cool calculation tumbles this wheat transportation argument in rulus to the ground, so will the same test destroy almost every argument we have yet heard in favor of the lock and dam

It was part of the original job to plunder the State again by selling the works, when completed, for a big price. Now they come her to have the job consummated. Their first modest request was to have the State lease the locks for ten years for $500,000, less ten per cent. for the school fund. The locks were unfinished, and the members themselves revolted against so profligate a scheme. At that stage of the bill, not much had been heard from the people ; but the latter were roused and thoroughly alarmed, and they soon began to te heard from. Meantime the friends of the bill took it in hand and licked the cub into a different shape-to boy the locks (that is substantially the proposition) at $300,000. The truth is, however, that the Lock Co. have got an elephant on their hands. They must gouge the State, or they foresee immense loss. They are willing to take $500,000 and keep the locks; or $600,000 and keep the water power, and let the State have the works; or $480,000 and let the State have the works, water-power and all; or failing in that they will take $350,000, $300,000, $250,000, $200,000-anything the Legislature will consent to give. ### OUR PLATFORM OF PRINCIPLES.

The platform of principles put forth by the Republican National Convention, is one upon which every lover of freedom can stand, which appeals with a noble pride to the glorious acts of the Republican party during the past eleven years, and marks out a course for the future alike suited to all sections of the country, and to all its inhabitants. Liberty and equality ; civil, political and public rights ; the coustitutional amendments; peace with foreign nations; civil service reform; public lands; revenue and taxation; honor, gratitude and remuneration to soldiers and sailors; protection to immigrants and naturalized citizens ; the franking privilege; workingmen and capitalists; the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations, and the establishment of an honest, pure and free ballot everywhere ; denunciation ! of repudiation, and a sacred pledge to | pay the public debt ; a tribute to the loyal women of America, and a just consideration of additional rights; amnesty; a clear definition of powers of the States and of the Federal Government; ship-building; and an enthusiastic endorsement of Grant and Wilson. These are the topics of the Republican platform, and there is nothing comprised in it which can fail to meet the approval of every lover of human rights and every friend of real reform. It comprehends all the varied interests of the Government and the people. Grant and Wilson stand tair and square on the platform, and when elected will carry its principles every one of them-into practical operation.

A VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE.

The Lock and Bass Swindle Defeated -"Truth Crushed to Earth Will Bise Again.

At a late hour last evening the House of Representatives did the best act of the session. It reconsidered the vote by which the Lock and dam swindle bill was passed, and then defeated the scheme of the plunderers by a vote of 25 to 22, Cranor and Cooper absent, This was accomplished by the aid of Messrs. Collier and Stott of Washington, who originally voted for the bill, but who under very strong instructions from their constituents, reversed their votes. By this act the Republicans of the House saved the Republican party from ruin, saved the people from an enormous and oppressive tax, and demonstrated that plunderers have ot yet got this State by the throat.
