vince our readers that we have a treat in store for us. Miss Edith O'Gorman an-nounces that she will lecture at the Opera House next Tuesday evening, on "Life in a Convent." Having been a professed nun for several years, she is well qualified to deliver an interesting lecture regarding these institutions. For the last two years she has lectured to crowded houses in every city, the has visited and her betteres was anxions to know what right he had to come into her field and shoot her tame geese. George looked around and he was only about a hundred yards from a farm house. She threatened to call her old man unless he "ponied out" $2.50. Her personal appearance is graceful and preposessing. Her gestures and movements are quick and energetic, forcible and agreeable to the eye. When she spoke every eye was riveted upon her, and, frequently, her strong, rapid and clearly enunciated periods were received with enthusiasic applanse. She made her first appearance before an Oregon sudience in Portland last evening. We trust she may meet with a hearty welcome from the Salem public on her proposed visit to this city. Remember the time and place and don't fail to be present.

Men came to the polls, carefully examined their ballots, handed them to the judges, gave their names and went off about their business. The voting in South Salem was done at the school house, and when we called there the judges and clerks were seated around the stove endeavoring to keep awake while waiting for voters. Way is it?—For the benefit of our readers, we made special arrangements with the managers of the Western Union Telegraph Company, to furnish us with the election returns from the Eastern States, for this morning's issue. Have patience, friend Herald, perhaps you may yet hear of some State in the Union that will cast its electoral vote for your well nigh forgotten candidates, Greeley and Brown. Now that cool nights are coming on, country people are fixing up their front gates. literalit editoriality says: "whether the result will be accounted for by the popular strength of General Grant on the one hand, or the weakness of Greekley and the leebleness of the Liberal Republicans, combined with the Democratic bolt, on the other hand, it is in many respects the most remarkable of any Presidential election in the history of the country.

The Tribune gives Grant 250 electorial votes at the lowest, and 82 for Greekley, with the rest doubtful. There is scarcely a parallel, it says, in the completeness of the rout and triumph. Grant has now hear years' more power, with Congressional inajorities. Whatever referral he miny seek to electoring the Congressional inajorities. The Times gives Grant 300 electoral work and Greeley 53, with the balance doubt inl.

THE GENERAL RESULT.

Yesterday's Oregonian sums up the returns as far as heard from as follows:
The additional news which we present this morning, show that not even lac highly the regard to the general result of the electrons, were equal to the actual facts. The most that the Republicans coald say of New York was that they looped to carry the State, No one thought of any such majority as that which the State has given for Grant and, indeed, no one would have been gained, and the majorities in other States are very large.

If appears probable, after all, that Louisiana has gone for Grant, and the majorities in other States are very large.
