The Chaplain, in his opening prayer, alluded to the death of Mr. Greeley as that of one who had given direction to public thought, and who had been a benefactor to mankind.

A number of bills were introduced, one by Sumner, to strike from the United States flags and Army Register all the records of battles fought with fellow-citizens.

What to do with it.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 .- There is much discussion among the papers as to the proper course of Greeley and Brown electors in view of Greeley's death. urge, as they cannot cast their vote for the deceased that they be at liberty to cast the votes for some representative Democrat, and Hendricks of Indiana is mentioned by numbers of the pa-pers in this connection. Others, incinding some Southern papers and the Cincinnati Commercial, favor casting the vote for Grant as a graceful acqui-escence to the majority, while others, including the Cincinnati Enquirer, believe that the electors have no dis-cretion in the matter, that having been elected solely to perform a specific duty must perform that duty by casting their vote for Greeley and Brown.

The Tribune of this city argues that, in accordance with the spirit of the Constitution, electors should vote for Preserve who is the constitution. Brown, who, in case of Greeley's election and death before manguration, would be Constitutional President.

Washington, Dec. 2.—About one-third of the President's message had already been received at four o'clock. On one subject, the Alabama claims, he concludes by saying; "It will be in the province of Congress to provide for the distribution, among those who advisable that no time be lost in making proper examination of several cases in which indemnity may be due. I consequently recommend the creation of a Board of Commissioners for that purpose."

The San Juan treaty, the President ed to report a revised list of committees to an adjourned meeting of the caucus to-morrow. None of the Liberal Republicans were present. The Liberal Republican chairmen of committees consist of Frelinghuysen, Morrill of Maine, Ramsey. Stewart and Lewis.
