ORB ABOUT COUNTING THE ELEC-TORAL VOTE

Major McDonald, chief clerk of the Senate, who has seen forty years' service in connection with that body. and who has witnessed the counting of every electoral vote since 1837, ought to be well qualified to speak with reference to the usage of Congrees in this matter. He says that from 1789 down to 1865 the usual mode was for the two houses to appoint a joint commission, which generally consisted of three members of the Senate and five of the House, to report the manner in which it should be counted. The commission always recommended that tellers be appointed that? on the part of the Senate and the House. In 1857 James M. Mason, of Senate, presided at the counting of the electoral vote. After it had been counted, and James Buchanan had been declared elected President, and John C. Breckenridge, Vice President, a Representative, Humphrey Marshall, arose and raised a question of erder, to-wit: Had the President pro-15m. of the Senate the right to declare or to decide whether, or not, the vote of the State of Wisconsin should be counted. The President of the Senate pro tem., Mr. Mason, refused to entertain the question of order, and thereupon left the chair and proceeded back to the Senate chamber followed by the members of the Senate, without waiting for any question to be put to the joint meeting. In so doing he virtually said to both Houses, "the power of counting or rejecting the vote of any State, under the Constitution is vested in me, and in me alone; consequently, all objections to counting the vote of any State are entirely out of order." Major McDonald is of the opinion that we are in the same position to-day, and that unless some definite system is adopted, we must d-pend upon the judgment and imruary.-Ex.

Much comment is made in dissatisfaction at the holding back of returns. The returns of Franklin parish lay in the Southern Express office of this city ten days, because no one was authorized to pay express charges of 75 exits. They were obtained yesterday, and placed on the file of the board, only when ex-Gov. Wiekliffe, one of the can single figure of any returns has been changed during the time they have been

That there has been great lawlessness in all these parishes within the past year is no longer doubted. It has shown itself in many cases of assessination and other offenses of greater or less grav-ity. The only question at issue is the cause and object of it. Republicaus say that the object is political; Democrats say it was not. In some cases here will be no question -as, for example, where a man was shot while carrying the ballot-box to the polling place. Some affidavits describe murthe kuchax between 1865 and 1871 If they are substantiated in all their details, they will greatly shock the North and destray the sympathy which has been very givernly left for the infortunate pattern of the South. SENATOR KELLY INTERVIEWED.

Our special reporter interviewed Hon. J. K. Kelly yesterday, riding from the hotel to the depot, and learned as much as possible of that distinguished gentleman's views of the situation, with regard to the eligibility of J. W. Watts Psalms; which should be prayerfully read as Presidential Elector.

Reporter-Senator, I see the Oregonian charges you with coming back here to influence Governor Grover not to give a certificate to Watts. Is there any truth in Cronin entitled, who got the highest Democratic vote, or are the other Electors to fill the vacance? Senator-That is a question, but my opinion is that Cronin is entitled to it. That is also the opinion of the best legal minds in San Francisco.

Our reporter ofterwards learned that two very distinguished San Francisco lawyers passed down on the same train, hav ing arrived overland, and no doubt the Senator knew of their coming.

Reporter-What do you think of the eneral result? Senator-I have no doubt but Tisten carried the Southern States, but the Return-ing Boards will count him out, but I believe Tilden will finally succeed and be
