

WEEKLY OREGON STATESMAN

FRIDAY : : : APRIL 13, 1877.

(From Saturday Morning's Daily.)

Lecture.

Rev. C. V. Anthony, of Portland, will give another lecture, the second of a series on the subject of "My First Impressions of the Sandwich Islands," at a day not distant, due notice of which will be given. Mr. Anthony handles his subject in a manner that does not fail to interest, and the church, of which he is an honored representative, are fortunate in the selection of one so able and eloquent in his delineations. Mr. Anthony's lecture, first of the series, last Friday night, was listened to by a fair audience, but not such as the reputation of the gentleman should draw out to his hearing, but that was not the fault of the lecturer. Those who did not hear him then will be only too glad to avail themselves of another opportunity, which is promised, to hear of the Sandwich Islands, with its palm trees and other atractive features peculiar to that group of islands. Everybody that can should hear the lecture.

The Presbytery of Oregon

Met at Albany, and passed a very pleasant session. There was a very full representation present, and a large amount of business was transacted. This Presbytery includes the territory between the Columbia river on the north, the south line of Lane county, the coast line on the west, and eastward to include the territory of Idaho. The Indian missions of Lapwai and Kamia are under the supervision of this Presbytery. Rev. H. W. Stratton, of Albany, was elected Commissioner to represent the Presbytery in the General Assembly, to be convened at Chicago, May 17th, ensuing.

Friendship.

With a clear sky, and clear sailing, a bright sun, and a gentle favorable breeze, you can have friends in plenty; but let adverse winds begin to blow, and the ornament of your fortune be overcast, the frown of fortune will enable you to select your friends for they will not be numerous, and some one has truly said, with reference to declining fortunes, "Your friends will move like the strings of a lute if you will not tighten, ten before you find one that will bear to stretch and keep the pitch."

Pioneers.

We found among the list of arrivals at the Chemeketa Hotel yesterday, names that are prominent, as identified with the earliest history of this country. We give the year of arrival: Chris. Taylor, 1847; F. X. Mathien, 1842; J. W. Grim, 1844; W. H. Ross, 1844; J. L. Parrish, 1840; N. O. Parrish, 1840; R. C. Geer, 1847; J. B. McClane, 1843; Joseph Watt, 1844; Wm. J. Herren, 1845; B. Jennings, 1847; T. L. Davidson, 1847; G. W. Hunt, 1847; T. W. Darsoport, 1851.

The Lecture.

At the M. E. Church last evening by Rev. C. V. Anthony, subject, "My first impressions of the Sandwich Islands," was listened to by a fair audience, and the Rev. gentleman fully sustained his reputation as a lecturer, eloquent and impressive. We will give a more extended notice on to-morrow. The "solo" by Miss Olive Chamberlin, to be appreciated must be heard, and it is only fair to say the singing was just such as you would naturally expect—from a Chamberlin. They all sing—well—they do.

"Evening Telegram"

Would indeed be a good thing to have, but leave off the "w" and it remains for the future to develop whether or not the "Telegram" as proposed by Bushwiler & Co. will be a success. There is room, and the management proposed would indicate a spicy sheet, at least. When we receive the first "Telegram in the evening," it will be time to say more about it.

Lodge Organized.

W. E. Dunbar, G. W. C. T., on the 6th inst., organized a Lodge of I. O. G. T. at Gervais, with a large membership. Hon. S. Brown is W. C. T.; Mollie Masterson, W. V. T.; S. L. Gaines, W. S.; Jos. Goodman, W. A. S.; Dr. W. H. Rogers, P. W. C. T.; M. Mitchell, S.; and William Perry, Lodge Deputy. The Lodge is composed of good substantial material.

For San Jose.

Mrs. A. F. Waller left yesterday to take the steamer Elder for California. She goes on a visit to San Jose, where her daughter, Mrs. Stratton, resides. We hope her visit will be pleasant and her return to Oregon not too long deferred. Many friends will miss her genial presence.

At the Chemeketa.

Yesterday was a gala day at the Chemeketa. With Pioneers, Grangers and other people, too numerous to mention. Mathews was as easy and good natured as if the world was running smoothly with him, and apparently the guests were more than pleased with their reception, as manifest by every movement. One can tell.

Richard H. Dearborn.

Elsewhere will be found the "ad." of Mr. Dearborn, who is a very reliable business man, and if you interview him you will find he keeps a large stock of good goods in his line, and is disposed to sell on reasonable terms—if you give him a show.

"Our Flag."

Not "ours," but that of the "Pioneers"—on the Chemeketa. The Flag of "Our Country" was thrown to the breeze in honor of the Pioneers of Oregon, who were assembled in the parlors of the Chemeketa. Long live the Pioneers. "Our Flag is still there."

A Good Appointment.

Miss Florence Warriner was selected by the School Directors of District No. 24 to fill the position of assistant teacher in the South Salem school. A good selection, and we doubt not that Miss Warriner will fill the position with credit to herself and to the entire satisfaction of her employers.

Kelly & Underwood

Advertise their business, and we have no hesitancy in recommending the men and their work as being reliable. They are good workmen, attend strictly to their business, and sell their wares, bugles, etc., on reasonable terms.

Percheron Horses

On the streets yesterday, reminded our eyes of the olden days, when a pair of these noble animals was on hand.

UP COAST PASSENGERS.

The O. S. S. Company's steamship Ajax which left San Francisco for Portland Saturday brings the following:

- LIST OF PASSENGERS: Dr. J. W. Watt, Mrs. N. Mosley, A. J. Rice, R. D. Rice, C. B. Dorchester, C. Bertham, L. M. Fize & W. F. Ormsby, A. C. Dow, W. P. Abbott, P. T. Dickinson, Rev. J. Douglas, H. L. Dodge, A. Wright, S. Martin, Jr., M. Grant, Miss L. Brand, Mrs. M. E. Chambers, G. Fugate, C. R. Collins, C. G. Tipton, Dr. H. S. Arnold & Co., C. F. Ford, P. H. Derry, Mrs. W. W. Cunningham, H. S. Woodward & W. H. W. Dore & Co., Rev. J. Cassan, & W. F. ...

Removal.

On Monday morning Mr. Eph. Olinger was so unfortunate as to lose one of his valuable back horses, under the following circumstances: Mr. Olinger had returned from the railroad depot from the morning train and drove into the back stable of Capt. Scott, and fastened his horse and had gone a few rods from the stable towards Commercial street, when his attention was called to the Chemeketa Hotel omnibus driving up to the stable. The driver of the "bus" spoke to a young lad standing in the door of the stable to unlash Eph's horse to make room for the "bus" to drive in, which the lad proceeded to do. In backing out of the stable the team mantrapped the back in such a shape as to snare the pole, rendering it impossible for the lad to unlash them, but he held on to the reins in good style until the horses turned a sharp corner, turning the back over and the lad with it. Luckily the lad escaped unhurt, but the back was demoralized. The horses, a noble pair, left to themselves, separated, one of them taking the pole with him, dashed down Commercial street, where one that was free turned quietly to the stable from whence they started. The other kept on at a furious rate of speed with the pole still hanging to the harness, and turned at State street, dashed on until near the Bennett House, where he overstepped himself and tumbled, falling in such manner as to very hard ground as to smash into splinters one of his fore-legs. An expert was called, and he pronounced the horse incurable. Mr. Olinger gave directions to kill the horse, which was at once carried out.

Civil Service

Has an exemplification in the case of William Savage, connected with the State Department in this city. His "tenure of office," depending on good behavior, and strict attention to business, will be prolonged indefinitely. Administrative change suddenly, but Savage is a "fixture" of the Department. Ever obiding, gentlemanly in his deportment, thoroughly posted as to his duties, faithful to the smallest detail, it is not strange that he holds his position, without regard to the vicissitudes of political fortune that place other men with the "outs."

Social Club

The "Social Club," composed of a large number of the elite of the city, met at the residence of Miss Lillian Patton, last evening, and, as a matter of course, went there for a "good time"—and they had it. "Masquerading" and other amusements were indulged in, and the fair hostess was the moving spirit in all that was so well calculated to entertain and to the enjoyment of the evening. At a reasonable hour this "Social Club" separated, regretting only that these occasions did not occur more frequently.

Miss News

From Gov. Chadwick, who returned from a visit to the mines of Southern Oregon, we learn that he is fully satisfied as to the future of the "Lucky Queen" mine, that the mine is a good one and the mill a splendid one, except that there has been some difficulty found in the process of saving or separating the metal, which is now in a fair way to be corrected, inasmuch as the best talent and experience are brought into requisition.

Snowden Springs.

Dr. Payton went south on the train yesterday bound for Snowden Springs, where Mrs. Payton has been stopping for some time. Mrs. Payton has had very poor health for years; but since going to these famous springs, has improved very fast, and it is thought she may entirely recover her accustomed health. Large numbers of our citizens are talking of Snowden Springs, as a resort for the summer.

Five Beef.

Thomas Cross went south yesterday, after more of the "same sort" of beef he has been furnishing Thompson & Lafore with this winter. He expects to deliver to said firm in this city by rail, the finest lot of beef yet brought to this city this spring. The cars of the Oregon Railroad Co. will land them here next Saturday. Mr. Cross thoroughly understands the business, and will not buy any but the best.

"Taff," of the Chemeketa.

Everybody knows "Taff," as you see him ordinarily; but there was a change came over him on Sunday last, and "plug hat," "storee others," and "nice team," was what was the matter with him. His best friends did not recognize his disguise. Perhaps he was only advertising some "dry goods" house. If so, he did it successfully, and is attending to business as usual.

Five Tents.

Mathews, of the Chemeketa, has a "weakness" for a good horse, and he is the fortunate owner of a pair that go "away down" in the fifties, so easy it is for them to get over the ground. Well, never mind—we may be "happy yet," and ours will be "2-30" or nothing—most likely the latter.

A Fishing Party.

Went out to Battle creek, on Sunday last, having made some mistake in the day of the week. Capt. Joe Barnard, one of the parties is charged with wringing in a silver hook, and thus besting the opposing party. He will be brought to trial on each grave charge.

Married.

At the residence of J. W. Downer, in this city, April 7th, by Rev. E. H. Moss, C. S. Barnard and Miss Clara Downer, all of this city.

Gray in all shades, will be much used. Black net dotted with gold is used for veils. Mr. Moody tells the Bohemians: "If you can't be a lighthouse, be a candle." New Market being fitted up on Commercial street—Billy Laughed.

JOHN MINTO, President. J. HENRY BROWN, Sec. Capt. C. P. Crandall.

DEBATED.

"Cold! so cold!" and the night looks down On a shivering form in a tattered gown, On a lone, lorn heart, and a pair of eyes Abeam with a life's been miseries; Kiss on kiss, By the flake are told, Kiss on kiss— But oh! so cold, Even the crumpled sheet ought to hiss, Mocketh the wretched wretchedness.

How can the loved in the land of light, Peer through the dismal gloom of night, With never a star to beam the gloom, Or sweep one cloud from the path of doom! Kiss on kiss, Kiss on kiss, Kiss on kiss— With touch so chill, With touch that sinks like the shaft of hate, Deep in the heart so desolate.

"Cold! so cold!" and the ruddy glare Of lights that glint in the frosty air, Rodden each flake that falls upon A bedless, homeless, friendless one; Drop by drop Of the blood-red snow, Drop by drop In the cup of woe; The chalice filled with woe's state brim, A paper's feast for woe's state brim.

Joy sails out on the winter's wings, And turned for self in the lay she sings, In the snow drift with the icy air, And mock the sufferer's piteous prayer; Wave on wave With the night wind strong, Wave on wave Of the latter song, That floats where the sails of hope are furled, And crown the wounds of a hairless world.

"Cold! so cold!" Not the cutting blast, Nor the frosty cloak of the night cloud cast, But the snow drift with the icy air, And mock the sufferer's piteous prayer; Thrub on thrub With the chime of pelf; Thrub on thrub In the song of self; But not one make in the measure sweet, That times the love of the mercy seat.

The night wears on, and the moon walks out And chime steep back to the realms of doubt, And the stars look down for the shivering form That braved the throes of the cruel storm; Fold on fold In the mantle white; Fold on fold "Watch the eyes of night; The drifts are still in the winter's breath; And the spotless robe is the wing of death.

Deaf Mutes.

Any one desiring a neat and substantial job of work done in the line of bottoming chairs, and wishing at the same time to render aid to the unfortunate, will bear in mind that there are several pupils, not in good circumstances, who are desirous of helping themselves by rendering an equivalent for what they receive. Any one having a chair without a cane bottom can have one put in on short notice, and to their satisfaction by calling at the Deaf Mute School and leaving their orders, and thereby aid these unfortunate young persons in securing a fluency to take them home.

Funeral Notices.

Frank E. Hadgith leaves us today, to take position on an evening paper in Portland, the "Evening Telegram." Frank understands the business in hand, and the management have from good taste and business sense in their selection. Frank will make friends with the paper, and we doubt not he will "go in" for making the "Telegram" a spicy sheet, and we expect to hear from him, a good report.

Funeral Notices.

Died, at the Commercial Hotel, at five o'clock P. M., on Monday the 9th inst., Mary, wife of A. E. Carlwell, and daughter of Wesley and Rebecca Graves. The funeral will take place from the M. E. Church, at three o'clock P. M., this Tuesday, April 10th, 1877. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

Burglary.

The best store of J. F. Stager was burglarized on Sunday night to the extent of four pair of new boots—value about $10. Entrance was made from the rear, by a window, apparently without much difficulty.

Some one has estimated.

That each person on the globe would receive two dollars if all the gold was parcelled out. As many of us would only be thirty-five cents richer by such a "divvy," we hardly think it is worth while to go to that trouble.—Nor-ton Herald.

Meacham in New York.

Not lecturing in San Francisco, as reported. At latest dates Mr. Meacham was in Albany, N. Y. Hon. R. Mallory was in the city Monday attending to some very important legal business.
