

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Try the Madras hotel.
 The best meal, best bed and best horse feed at Hahn's.
 You will find good accommodations at the Madras Feed Yard.
 Daniel Swift was a Culver visitor on Saturday of last week.
 $25 cash trade at Hahn's entitles you to an enlarged picture.
 J. B. McMeen, of Lamonia, was trading in Madras last Saturday.
 A complete line of windows, doors and shingles for sale at J. F. Morris' store, Prineville, Ore.
 A great many Indians are passing through town these days—with farm produce and huckleberries for sale.
 The best house to stop at when in Prineville is the Poindecker. Prompt service is our motto.
 On Sunday we were visited by Frank Osborn, who is fixing up his homestead two miles south of town.
 For courteous treatment, reasonable prices and clean beds don't forget the Poindecker hotel at Prineville, Ore.
 When your watch or clock is in need of repairs send it to F. H. Van Norden, the reliable watchmaker, The Dalles.
 John Deere Hacks, Buggies and Surreys for sale by J. F. Morris, Prineville, Ore. Call and get a bargain.
 Even Indians stop at the Red Front Feed Stable. Why? Because they get good oat and wheat hay for their horses.
 A party of men bound for the De Schutes Irrigation and Power Co.'s works at Bend, spent Sunday night in Madras.
 Special low prices on cash bills for fall and winter supplies at J. F. Morris', dealer in general merchandise, Prineville, Ore.
 Henry Lamson, ex-Representative in our State Legislature from Yamhill county, was down from his Culver farm last Saturday.
 If you want to sell your place list it with Timothy Brownhill at Madras. He is fully prepared to do all kinds of real estate, notary and insurance business.
 A party of 25 or 30 "Guineys" who are going to work on the canal in the Bend country were stalled in Cow Canyon last Monday and had to camp there all night.
 F. C. Rowlee, assistant general manager of the D. I. & P. Co. of Bend, passed through Madras last Sunday on his way home from Portland, accompanied by Mrs. Gerald Groesbeck.
 Mr. Fulton and wife, son-in-law and daughter of James Mayes, arrived in Madras last Saturday. Mr. Fulton is our new school teacher, and the small kids will soon have to toe the marks.
 J. D. Bolter, the stock and hotel man, of Cross Keys, Ore., was a recent visitor to The Pioneer office and arranged to have the paper sent to his home. Mr. Bolter complimented us very highly upon the appearance of The Pioneer.
 Fred Fisher has come out from The Dalles and is setting up a pump, windmill and tank on his townsite, preparatory to the irrigation of the Agency Plains and other arid districts in his neighborhood. This is a labor that certainly is appreciated during these dry, dusty days.
 Frank Loveland, the "man with the drill," was so successful in striking water in the "flat" north of Young's store that he has become one of the necessities of life in this country, and he is now boring into the earth on W. S. Criswell's place with good prospects for a flow of water.
 A. Morris, an old time friend of J. P. Hahn, from Sweet Home, dropped in on Mr. and Mrs. Hahn a few days ago and was somewhat surprised to find them located here. Mr. Morris expressed himself as well pleased with the country and expects to come to town once in awhile. He has a homestead near Prineville.
 A boy of the writer's a acquaintance noticed that the bird ate no meat on Friday and inquired as to the reason. The girl explained that she was a Catholic and it was against the laws of the Church to eat meat on Fridays. The boy thought a moment and then said: "I guess that's all right; we are Episcopalians 'cause we eat chicken every Sunday."
 W. H. Zell was in the city yesterday from the Agency Plains. Mr. Zell said everything on the plains was looking fine. Crops are first class and settlers are encouraged. Mr. Zell is an old Crook and Sherman county farmer and is capable of judging of a good country, so when he says the plains are all right his opinions are of some value.—The Dalles Times-Mountain.
 John B. Brown, one of the prosperous farmers of the Haystack district, was in Madras last Saturday purchasing supplies, and he reports that the crops are not so heavy as last year, but that there will probably be as much grain to market on account of the increased acreage. Mr. Brown is the owner of some Madras property and is contemplating the erection of a two-story brick building in the very near future, which will probably be used as a store and hotel building.

Clean beds at the Madras.
 Best of hay, grain and water at the Madras.
 Hahn has no job lots but good goods at right prices.
 Rev. E. J. Traglia left yesterday to attend Conference at Seattle.
 Andrew Larsen has accepted a position as teacher in the Agency Plains school and will open school there on the 12th of this month.
 Why pay $185 for a buggy or $150 for a carriage when you can buy the "old reliable" John Deere Buggy from Hahn for $80 and carriage for $110.
 Rev. C. A. Sias will hold services in the school house at Madras next Sunday, September 11, both morning and evening.
 Mr. and Mrs. Angus Shaw, of Shaniko, accompanied by Mr. Blandard, representative of the "Pacific Homestead," passed Tuesday night in Madras.
 Henry Sachs, who has a fine homestead in the Baldwin hills, about six miles east of town, came down from the sawmill on Willow Creek Saturday, where he has been employed.
 Fred Davis, the harness man from Shaniko, will commence the construction of a store building this week and will move his business to this place as soon as the carpenters will allow him.
 The party of automobile surveyors consisting of John Hammond of Prineville, Robert Rea and George Brigham of Portland, and John Fitzmaurice and Arthur Page of Moro, moved from Madras to Ilmrock Springs Tuesday.
 Regular appointments of C. A. Sias, resident minister of the Church of Christ: Culver, first Sunday in each month; Madras, second Sunday in each month; Prineville, third Sunday in each month; Willow Creek, fourth Sunday in each month.
 Rev. Father Hickey, who has been taking a short vacation for the benefit of his eyes, has returned and has been making a tour of his missions through the Bend country—Madras, Lytle, The Bend, and Prineville, for the past three weeks, lecturing in school halls and selecting sites for churches which he intends to build in that rich country. The Father has secured valuable church property and speaks very highly of the prospects for the Catholic Church in that territory.—Grass Valley Journal.
AGENCY PLAINS NOTES.
 The family of James Melton left the Plain for the Valley Wednesday on an extended visit.
 Rev. Fulgham and bride have moved into their new house on their homestead and appear to be very much at home.
 H. W. Gard and family left for The Dalles Sunday for the purpose of visiting relatives and transacting business at that place.
 Chester Gard has his new house on his homestead almost completed, and it appears to us that it is rather large for a bachelor's hall. Perhaps Chester thinks of taking in a partner.
 Our harvest is over and the grain all stacked and the next thing in order is a threshing machine.
 Ed Campbell and family are in the mountains picking berries, hunting and having a general good time. Oh, how we would enjoy an outing of this kind.
 H. J. Branstetter made a business trip to Bend last week.
 W. H. Ramsey and family were visiting and feasting on watermelons with the family of Sterling Loveling since our last.
 Walter Arney and Stanley Grewell, of Cross Keys, made a flying visit to this part of the Plain Sunday.
 Joseph Arney and family were visiting with the family of W. H. Ramsey Sunday.
 For some unknown cause the Pioneer failed to reach us last week, consequently we are uneducated as to the happenings of last week.
 Three things that are badly needed by the people of the Plain and all the surrounding country—a good well drill or two, a railroad and a good mill, all of which we believe would be profitable investments. We have the best country on earth and the time is ripe for these improvements. Then why delay?
 Mandy.
RUSHING THE AUTO LINE.
 The Central Transportation Company, capitalized at $50,000 and organized with A. E. Hammond president, Gerald Groesbeck vice president, P. L. Tompkins secretary and treasurer, and A. L. Goodwillie on the board of directors, is in the field with construction forces and will rush the automobile line through to completion as soon as possible. Work is now in progress near Heister, connecting with the stretch of road that was built early in the season. Men and teams are wanted and no effort will be spared to get the line in operation the coming fall.—Bend Bulletin.
 Best meals in town at the Madras.
 Blue print township plats for sale of any township in The Dalles land district at the office of Timothy Brownhill. Leave your orders with him and they will be promptly and accurately filed at 50c each.
