RAILROAD GOSSIP.

It is said, and reports have been published in the Oregonian and nearly all of the papers in Eastern Oregon, that the O. R. & N. Co. have bought the Columbia Southern railroad, and that this being true, it is very doubtful whether or not the terminus of that road will ever leave Shaniko.

Have the O. R. & N. Co. really bought the Columbia Southern? We have been trying to find out the truth of the matter, but so far are unable to confirm or deny the report.

However, one of the officials of the road mentioned said that he had not been notified of any change in the ownership of the road, nor of any change in the management, that Mr. Lytle was now in the East and until his return the whole question is liable to remain unsolved.

In an interview with some of the Great Southern officials relative to the road reaching into the Agency Plains country, it was said that there is no question but that this road will build into the Deschutes Valley via Dufur, Tygh Ridge, Badger Creek and Warm Spring River, thence up the Deschutes and on to Bend, all this over a grade not to exceed 2 per cent at any one point, it is denied by some that any such grade can be got, but one thing is certain the Great Southern ought to be encouraged to build into this field, it would give us an outlet at a good point and one from where we could always expect to get the lowest possible freight and passenger rates to tide water, without being hampered by portage or other inconveniences for years to come, there will be sufficient business, however, when developed, to give two roads all they can do, and therefore we hope to see both the Columbia Southern and the Great Southern build their lines through this country to our sister city—Bend.

Since writing the above, the following from The Dalles Chronicle is right in line, as stated in other issues, The Pioneer would rather suffer a scold occasionally than to be guilty of disseminating news that is not true.

"Upon his return from the East President Lytle announces that those measly reporters are again juggling with the truth, and that there is absolutely nothing to the report that he went East to make arrangements to sell the Columbia Southern. He also says there is little doubt of its extension in the near future, when Bend will be the terminus. The building of the road to Bend will more than double the present length of the road, which is 70 miles, running from Biggs to Shaniko. The distance which will be covered from Shaniko to Bend is 100 miles. Bend is now growing rapidly owing to extensive irrigation works which are being constructed there.

The Lost Returned.

The Pioneer evidently is wielding an influence for good; at least we hope it is. In the last few weeks several things have turned up missing—in the night—a pair of stretchers, a door, and other things. The stretchers, door and the other things were advertised as missing through the columns of The Pioneer and in due time were reported as "returning in the night." The parties were all glad to get the property back, and we sincerely hope for the benefit of all concerned that the next time anything is wanted the intending borrower will ask for what he wants before taking it. It may save unpleasant thoughts and suspicions that might lead to trouble for innocent minded and acting people.

New Store.

McTaggart & Bye are rushing work as fast as possible on their new building. It will be one of the most imposing structures in town when finished. Mr. McTaggart expects to build an addition on the south side, which will be used through the coming winter as a residence for himself, wife and baby, Ruth, who are now domiciled in a tent near the store. A large stock of goods have already arrived and are being stored temporarily in the Davis building.

Be Progressive.

Let's have something going on here this winter. There had just as well be something doing. Home talent plays, reading society, physical culture club—any or all, and a dozen more. Anything to pass away the dreary monotony of long winter evenings and give rest and recreation to all participating. Let's do it.—Ione Proclaimer.

That's what we say. Let's liven up, form a literary and debating society, and have a lot of elevating fun this winter.

"Are these eggs fresh?"
"Grocer's Boy: "Yes, Madam, they ain't been an hour since I laid 'em in that box myself."

MADRAS SCHOOL REPORT.

The school at Madras is progressing nicely. The house will soon be furnished with some new desks, which are badly needed as the number of students is increasing daily. Thorough work is being done in all the grades. Miss Ida Phillips and Mr. Glenn Loucks, who will take the final examination in February, will be the first to graduate from the Madras school. Following is a list of the students, showing their standing, for the month ending November 11, 1904:

Assault Unwarranted.

U. S. Cowles, one of our most prominent stock men, paid this office a pleasant visit Tuesday. In speaking of the killing of the sheep on his summer range, near the head of Mill Creek, Mr. Cowles said: About 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the 20th of September eight masked and armed men rode up to H. M. Share, who had charge of the sheep. The leader of the men said to Share that if he made a move they would shoot him; they then left two men to watch Share and the other six rode around the sheep and commenced shooting into them and did not quit until they had killed eighty head and wounded a few more; they then rode back to Share and told him to gather the sheep if he wanted to and then rode away.

Mr. Cowles says that he had no warning of the outrage. His sheep were grazing on government land, where they had been herded for years past, and he supposed everything was satisfactory. He also says that there was unlimited range in the immediate vicinity of the killing that had been left by sheep men for the benefit of the cattle men and that the killing was absolutely unwarranted.

An Enjoyable Visit.

We acknowledge a pleasant visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne, of Culver, last Sunday. Mr. Osborne is one of the oldest settlers in the Haystack country, settling there in 1879.

By thrift and industry Mr. and Mrs. Osborne have built up one of the best and most substantial farm homes in the country. This year, as for many years past, they have raised an abundance of everything, including a fine supply of apples, pears and other kinds of fruit, as well as vegetables, etc. When leaving Mrs. Osborne insisted upon filling a good sized sack with apples that are as sound and perfect as it is possible for apples to be. We certainly did enjoy our visit and hope to be permitted to renew the acquaintance in the near future.

A Model Missionary

Father Hickey is again with us. He brought the same smiling, helpful countenance along with him, making people glad to be alive after having talked with him. We earnestly wish that more of our ministers would pattern after him. He is entertaining, helpful, loyal, kind and spiritual. May he live long in the work.

In Love With Madras.

J. L. Drummond, who arrived here a short time ago from Wapinitia, has accepted the fate of the majority who come to Madras—fell in love with the country, bought lots in the city and now has lumber on the ground for a substantial residence.

Pic Supper.

There will be a Pic Supper at the Madras school house Saturday evening, November 26. The proceeds will be used toward a Christmas tree fund. All are cordially invited to attend, and every lady is especially requested to bring a pie. Music will be furnished.
