WOOL SALES DAYS.

The Oregon State Woolgrowers' Association officers have agreed upon dates for sales days for year as follows: Pendleton—May 23, June 18 and June 25. Heppner—May 25, June 9, June 20 and June 26. Shaniko—June 6, June 23 and July 6. The results of the sales days during the past three seasons have of appreciable value to the sheepmen in the matter of prices received for their clips. Buyers submit sealed bids on different lots of wool and only those who are the highest bidders are the successful purchasers. In speaking of the benefits of this plan over the old system, J. H. Gwinn, secretary of the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association, yesterday said that the tendency was to keep the prices up and that a cent to a cent and a half more was realized by sheepmen for their clips. Buyers do not favor the system and whenever it is possible they urge the growers to dispose of their clips before the dates of sales day.

A Few Comparisons.

We read the report that 200,000 men were killed and wounded on both sides in the battle of Mukden without fully realizing what those figures mean. Here are a few aids to the imagination. Two hundred thousand casualties equal: Three hundred Iroquois Theater disasters. A hundred and fifty Slocum disasters. Eighty Johnstown floods. Thirty Galveston floods. The total population—men, women and children—of a city like Minneapolis. The population of the states of Idaho and Nevada combined. The entire Boer population of both sexes and all ages, of the two South African republics, which resisted the whole power of the British Empire for over two years.—Ex.

TITLE TO RIGHT OF WAY

State of Oregon Gives Right of Way for Cello Canal—Construction Should Begin Soon.

Oregonian.
In fulfillment of its pledge the state of Oregon yesterday delivered to Major W. C. Langfit a deed conveying absolute title to the Government of the entire right of way for the Dalles-Cello Canal. This action removes the last obstacles to the construction of the canal and insures the early beginning of work.

The delivery of this deed was made necessary by the condition imposed by Congress that before the canal should be constructed by the Government the state should deed to it free of cost the lands contained within the right of way. This the state pledged itself to do, and, after much delay, in suits and the arranging for the purchase of the lands, the state not long ago secured full and clear titles to all necessary land.

The transfer of this right of way has been made to the Government in one deed, with the title warranted by the state. A full abstract of title to the property accompanies the deed, and these will be forwarded to the department in Washington for the approval of the United States Attorney-General within the next few days.

ANKNEY GOES TO THE TOP

Will Be Chairman of Irrigation Committee—Has Thorough Knowledge of Irrigation.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, April 6.—Senator Ankney, of Washington, is slated for chairman of the committee on irrigation in the next Congress. This is a piece of exceptionally good fortune, for the promotion comes under the Senate rule of seniority.

When he entered the Senate, two years ago, Ankney was appointed a member of the irrigation committee, but he was given next to the last place on the list, ranking only Senator Fulton, of Oregon. By a peculiar turn of the wheel of fortune, four of the six Republican members of that committee who ranked Ankney were not re-elected to the 59th Congress, so that only two stand between him and the chairmanship. But by another bit of good fortune both of these Senators are already chairmen of more important committees than irrigation, so neither will stand in his way.

This is a fortunate turn for Ankney, for in addition to securing a very desirable chairmanship, he will be placed in a position where he can exercise considerable influence over the reclamation service, and can do much to promote Government irrigation in his own state and in Oregon, for he is friendly to Oregon as well as Washington. Moreover, Ankney has a very thorough knowledge of irrigation matters, being himself an irrigator and having interest in private irrigation enterprises in Eastern Washington. It will be pleasing to him to have charge of a committee whose work is so congenial and whose affairs he can intelligently direct.

RUSSIANS PASS MALACA

Battle between Russian and Japanese Fleets may Occur Shortly—Odds Against the Russians.

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlement, April 8.—The Russian Baltic squadron passed here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The 47 ships, steaming slowly at eight knots an hour, four abreast, presented a striking spectacle. The vessels, however, bore evidences of the effects of their voyage and at the water line showed seaweed a foot long. The squadron was led by a large cruiser, followed by three converted former Hamburg-American Line vessels. Then came the cruisers, colliers, battleships, etc. The colliers were mostly in the center of the fleet. The decks of the warships were coal-laden, while the colliers and the former Hamburg-American liners were light of draft. The fleet passed seven miles out.

The admiralty points out the great importance and advantage to be gained by pushing on with all possible speed and meeting Vice-Admiral Togo's heavy ships before he can effect a complete concentration of his scattered cruisers, scouts and torpedo-boats.

It is the belief of the Admiralty that Togo is waiting near the island of Formosa, 1800 miles northward of Singapore.

At the rate the Russian squadron steamed from Madagascar, which averaged eight knots an hour, the greatest naval battle since Nelson's victory at Trafalgar should occur in about ten days. The Admiralty realizes that Rojstvensky faces great odds, owing to the immense superiority of the Japanese in cruisers and torpedo boats, and reliance for his success is based upon the seven battleships with which he can oppose Togo.

It is thought unlikely that the Vladivostok squadron will attempt a junction with the Baltic fleet, though it is quite possible it may make a diversion, undeterred by the fate of the Russians at the time of the egress of the Port Arthur fleet last August.

EARTHQUAKE SHAKES INDIA

Towns are Wrecked and Thousands of People Killed—Many Homeless Shocks still Felt.

CALCUTTA, April 8.—Telegraphic communication with Dharmasala has been restored. The latest accounts show that the earthquake was even more disastrous than at first believed. Of a total population of nearly 5000 in the town of Kangra, it is believed that only 500 are left alive. Many of these have fled.

Of the police only a Deputy Inspector and four Sergeants are alive. Many people are still imprisoned in the ruins. Dharmasala, Kangra, Palampur, Dhawan and all the neighboring villages were completely wrecked. Scarcely a building remains standing. Not much damage was done at Haripur, Deragopipur, Nadaum or Hamirpur.

Sujanpur, having a population of about 6000 souls, is reported to be in ruins. The shocks still continue. There is no news from Kula Valley. According to native rumors, a great amount of damage has been done. An official dispatch from Dharmasala says the place is a scene of desolation. Owing to the scarcity of labor, great difficulty is experienced in excavating the ruins, but the Goorkhas are doing excellent work.

A Philanthropic Joke.

First a halfpenny then a gold piece gave considerable amusement to a small crowd in the Rue Daunou, Paris. The former coin was placed on the pavement and lay untouched for an hour and a half before it was picked up by an old lady, who carefully placed it in her reticule, despite the derisive cheers which were accorded her by those who were watching.

An American gentleman then placed a twenty franc piece on the ground, and as pedestrian after pedestrian passed without seeing it, they were startled by the uproarious laughter from doors and windows. They stopped short, looked confused and then hurried away with indignant glances at the merry-makers. The louis was at last picked up by a bent and feeble old man, who hobbled off with his treasure amid enthusiastic cheers.—London Mail.

TEACHER AND MAN.

Saturday Evening Post.
The proposal of the president of Princeton to develop tutorial instruction is one of the hopeful signs in American education. In the past we have been accustomed to regard the tutor as a mere nurse for lame ducks—something a little better than the crib, horse or pony, of the lazy and the dull. Our ideals have been those of Germany, where the only education thought fit for university men is private reading founded upon abstract lectures, and leading to the pinnacle of independent scientific research.

In England the ideal of education has always been the training of mind and character in conjunction. The tutorial system has been the protagonist of university teaching; and though, as there practiced, it has many boyish abuses, those who know it thoroughly and from the inside have never doubted that it is in essence sound. For a dozen years Harvard has been quietly progressing along the path upon which Princeton is now starting. There is as many lectures and special researches as ever; but it has become more and more the duty of the younger instructors to throw themselves into personal relationship with incoming freshmen, and in all the more popular courses to consult with the students about the reading, and, by the means of comradely discussion, to give it the liveliness and the personal tone without which education is the merest of veneers.

"Manners Maketh Man" is the motto of Winchester, the father of the English system of public schools; and no nation that intends its education and culture to strike deep, and produce the ripest fruits of culture, can afford to reduce all learning to the level of science. Jowett, Pusey, Newman, Lang, Pater and the Arnolds spent years of their lives as tutors; and it is scarcely to be doubted that personal intercourse with such spirits in the realms of literature and art were the happiest episodes in the lives of a generation of young Englishmen.

A keen and intelligent eclecticism is the basis of American progress, as it is of the progress of the Japanese. We have already assimilated the best there is in German university ideals. When we have learned what we can from the universities of England our universities will be much more perfect engines of higher education.
