

UNCLE SAM—A Remedy That Has Such Endorsements Should Be In Every Home.

Election Returns That Interest All Parties.

A Selfish Monopoly.
Two men were discussing monopolies, one maintaining that there are good and bad monopolies, and that those he was connected with are of the good sort. Then, says the New York Tribune, he proceeded to illustrate what a bad monopoly is, and to show the nature of a bad monopoly.

There was a young man in the South who went one summer on a visit to his relatives in the North. On his return he sought out another young man, and said, impressively:

"Look a-here, I understand that you took advantage of my absence from the last month to go calling on Miss 'Petty Brown.'"

"You are mistaken," the other man answered. "It is her sister, Miss 'Petty Brown,' that I've been calling on."

"Well, sir," said the first, "that makes no difference. I've got my eye on both them girls."

Two Summers for One Day.
There is only one place in the world where the sun sets twice daily, and that is at Leek, in Staffordshire. The reason of this is that a jagged mountain is situated to the west of the town, and in the evening the sun sets behind it and darkness comes on. Then, as the first sunset occurs, the gas lamps are lit and apparently night has set in. It has not, for in the space of an hour or so the sun reappears again through the opening at the side of the mountain and daylight again appears. Artificial lights are extinguished and daylight again prevails, until the sun descends below the opening, and the second sunset occurs and night comes to stay.

Moving Cheese.
"Will you start the cheese this way," said the thin boarder at dinner.

"It's not time for cheese yet," said the boarder.

"But if you start it now it will be ready for the time I'm going for it,"—Yonkers Statesman.

In the army of the Haytian Republic the men are provided for the use of sentinels as on duty.

Humorous

Tommy—Have you met the new teacher yet? Teddy—Yes; after school this noon. He won.—Ex.

"Say, father, what is a 'nobody'?" "A nobody, my son, is a prominent woman's husband."—Washington Life.

Tess—Do you think Marie's photographs do her justice? Bess—Yes; justice tempered with mercy.—Detroit Tribune.

Youngwed—I want accommodations for my wife. Hotel Clerk—Suite? Youngwed—You bet your life she is.—Washington Life.

Rejected Suitor—I may be poor now, but there was a time when I rode in my carriage. The Girl—Yes, when your mother pushed it.—Grit.

"Paw, is it true that death loves a shining mark?" "I suppose so. Why?" "Nothing, only I should think you'd feel a good deal safer if you wore a wig."—Chicago Tribune.

First Old Maid—This census report says there are 3,000,000 bachelors in the United States. Second Old Maid—Yes, and the mean old thing doesn't give their address either.—Washington Life.

Piggmus—To tell the truth, we have to treat our cook as a member of the family. Dismukes—Great Scott! That would never go in our house. We have to treat ours as a visitor.—Washington Life.

Al de Mustard—Your wife's costume to-night is charming. It simply begs description. Justin de Bunch—And that reminds me of a conundrum—why am I like a description.—Scissors.

McCush—Is this true that I hear—De Mush—That I'm engaged? Yes. Congratulate me! McCush—I can't congratulate you on marrying any girl who is fool enough to want you.—Cleveland Leader.

"Mrs. Spudsworth, it seems to me," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "is rather inclined to loquacity." "Still," replied her hostess, as she straightened the $1,900 rug, "for a person as tall as her it ain't so bad as though she was shorter."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"That's an auction piano your daughter's got, isn't it?" asked the sarcastic woman next door. "No, indeed!" replied the proud mother indignantly. "What made you think that?" "Oh, probably because it's 'going, going, going' all the time."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hi Tragedy—Hamm made his debut as a star last night, and I hear his audience was very cold. Lowe Comedy—Yes, they were at first. Hi Tragedy—Ah! only at first? Lowe Comedy—Yes; then they remembered that he had paid to get in, and they got hot.—Catholic Standard.

Mrs. Ikki—I wish you wouldn't be such a tight-wad! I haven't a thing to wear. Mr. Ikki—Blinkin' Borealis! Why, woman, you have the finest seal coat in two degrees of latitude! Mrs. Ikki—And what of it? There goes Mrs. Blubberton swaggering around in a real seal-ette coat with plush trimmings!—Puck.

"No," said Miss Winthrop-Bradley Winthrop, "your ancestors did not come over in the 'Mayflower,' as mine did, and I cannot marry you!" "Do you know why they did not?" replied Mr. Johnstone Smythe de Jones. "Well, I'll tell you. They were not the kind of people who travel on excursions." Saying which he strode haughtily from the room.—Washington Life.

A man who was "wanted" by the police had been photographed in six different positions, and the pictures were duly circulated among the police. The chief of police in a country town wrote to police headquarters of the city in search of the malefactor a few days after the set of portraits had been issued as follows: "I duly received the pictures of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. I have arrested five of them, and the sixth is under observation and will be secured shortly."

Encourage the Children.
Be careful how you criticize the efforts of the children. The clipped wing never grows again, says Brockport Democrat. Make it a matter of conscience never to mislead the child, for he is a traveler newly arrived from a strange country. Allow him, as his world widens, to have opinions of his own; let him be a personality, not a mere echo. Have faith in God for your sons and daughters. According to your faith so will it be unto you. Make your home the center of attraction to your children; let them feel drawn to you and it, like the needle to the pole. Respect the secrets of your children, but do not worry them to confide in you.

Enlightening the Landlady.
"Coffee is nerve-destroying," intimated the penurious landlady as she saw a movement on the part of a new boarder to request a second cup of coffee.
"How I wish you'd drink a lot of it," suggested the bachelor, who had been with the house since its inception.
"Why?" asked the landlady, and the other boarders delayed their mastications.
"Then you wouldn't have the nerve to serve this concoction which hardly stains the water in which it is diluted."—Columbus Dispatch.

"I'm hiding from a man," a well-known citizen said to-day. Ever hid from a man? We'll bet you have, many a time.

Much Timber Uncut.

Across the great lakes in Canada there lies one of the world's largest reserves of timber. In spite of the tariff imposed much of this timber is to-day coming to the United States. The forests of the Dominion are beginning to yield abundantly. More than 100,000,000 feet of pine sawlogs and square timber, during a recent season, were cut upon territory held under timber license from the crown.

Much of Canada's timber land has not yet even been explored. In the newly developed districts of Algoma, which are close to the great lakes, it is estimated that there are more than 100,000,000 cords of spruce and pulp wood, while in the districts of Thunder Bay and Rainy River there are nearly 200,000,000 cords more. A belt at least 3,000 miles long is believed to exist in Canada between Alaska and the Atlantic.

It has been estimated that, at the present rate of cutting, the greatest timber resources of the United States—those of the Pacific coast—will be exhausted in less than half a century. The annual cut of shingles and lumber in these regions is 4,500,000,000 feet. The standing timber in Washington, Oregon and northern California at present is twice that of the original timber lands of the northern woods. Washington produces about as many feet of shingles and other lumber as Oregon and California together. This State is noted for its shingles, there being more than 1,000 shingle mills within its borders. At Tacoma are located the largest sawmills in the United States.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

About Bird's-Eye Maple.
For hundreds of years lumbermen and cabinet-makers have been studying to learn what causes maple wood to assume the mottled and spotted form known as "bird's-eye." In a hundred rock maple trees perhaps one is a bird's-eye. Nobody can pick the specific tree out by inspecting the bark or the manner of growth. You may have to chop 200 trees before you find one, but it is worth the sacrifice.

Fact is, the woodpeckers make all the bird's-eye maple there is in the world. In flying about the woods they come to a rock maple tree that yields very sweet sap in the season when sap is running. Most birds like sweets—woodpeckers are very fond of sugar. Having found a tree yielding a large per cent of sugar, the birds peck holes in the trunk and then stand against the bark and drink the sap as it oozes out.

After the sap has ceased to flow and the trees have leaved out new wood and bark form in those small holes. The pecking and sap-gathering goes on for years until the tree, having given up so much sap to the birds, begins to furnish fluid containing less sugar. In ten or twelve years after the birds quit a tree the holes are all grown up and nobody can pick out the big bird's-eye from other trees that the woodpeckers did not visit.—New York Sun.

Rhymes of the Season.
When the summer time has ended and the saucy autumn breeze Gets to toying with the leaves on all the brilliant colored trees, Ah, 'tis then the hearts grow lighter and the spirits start to rise, When the frost is on the pumpkin and the pumpkin's in the pies.

When the days are growing shorter and the birds have gone away, And the corn is growing riper in the fields from day to day, There's a rosy glow pervading all the hazy autumn skies, When the frost is on the pumpkin and the pumpkin's in the pies.

When the hammocks have been put away and open cars are gone, And you never see a tennis player chasing on the lawn, When the college people gather and you hear the football cries, Then the frost is on the pumpkin and the pumpkin's in the pies.

You recall with lots of pleasure all the summer days could give, But since the autumn days have started, then you know 'tis joy to live, As your mouth begins to water, and there's gladness in your eyes, When the frost is on the pumpkin and the pumpkin's in the pies. —Chicago Chronicle.

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

When the joints are sore and swollen, and the muscles throbbing with the pain of Rheumatism, relief must be had at once, and it is natural to rub the affected parts with liniments, oils, etc. This treatment does good in a way, temporarily relieving the pain and reducing the inflammation, but has no effect on the disease itself, because Rheumatism is more than skin deep; it is in the blood and cannot be rubbed away. Rheumatism is brought on by indigestion, weak kidneys, poor bowel action, stomach troubles and a general sluggish condition of the system. The refuse and waste matters, which are the cause of bodily waste, are not so far and form uric acid and other irritating poisons which are absorbed by the blood, making it thin, weak and acid. Then instead of circulating the different nerves, muscles, joints and tissues it fills them with poison to produce the aches, pains and other disagreeable symptoms of the disease. Rheumatism is usually worse in Winter for the reason that cold and dampness are the exciting causes. The nerves become inflamed and sting with pain, the muscles are sore and drawn, the joints are stiff and the sufferer is in intense agony; and if the disease is not checked it often leaves the victims helpless cripples for life. Rheumatism cannot be rubbed away. It can be driven from the blood by S. S. S. Being a perfect blood purifier this great remedy soon produces a complete change in the circulation; the thin, acid blood is made pure and rich, and as it goes through the system it soothes the inflamed nerves, eases the throbbing muscles, and dissolves and carries out of the system the irritating particles in the joints which are keeping up the pain and inflammation. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism permanently, and in addition tones up the digestion and stimulates the different members of the body to their full duty so there is no cause for another attack. Do not waste time trying to rub Rheumatism away, but keep you in continual pain and agony. Special book on Rheumatism and any medical advice will be given free.

S. S. S. PURELY VEGETABLE.

While at work for the F. C. & P. R. R. in the swampy region, I contracted Rheumatism and was completely helpless for about four months and spent over $10.00 with doctors, but got worse every day, and finally quit them and began S. S. S. I took a few bottles and was cured sound and well. My health is now splendid, and I weigh 170 pounds. There is a lady living near me who is now taking S. S. S. for acute Rheumatism. For two months she could not turn herself in bed, but since beginning your medicine about three weeks ago has improved rapidly, and is now able to sit up. I can recommend S. S. S. to all suffering from Rheumatism. S. S. S. is made pure and rich, and as it goes through the system it soothes the inflamed nerves, eases the throbbing muscles, and dissolves and carries out of the system the irritating particles in the joints which are keeping up the pain and inflammation.
