

APPENINGS AT MADRAS

Chronicle of Improvements--The Moving Throng--Business and Social Events--Items Condensed.

Who desire changes in the county seat are requested to hand in their names by Monday morning.

Mr. J. K. Craig and Rev. Pinkham are holding revival meetings at Grizzly this week.

Don P. Rea and Max Lueddemann spent several days at the county seat during the week.

Dave Barnett, who has gone into the real estate business, was in town from Culver yesterday.

The Sunday dinner at Hotel "Green" is immense. Billy Moore cooks the chicken to a turn. His pastry is delicious. Be sure to try it.

Hardy's roller mill will be in operation at Sanford & Sill's place, Madras, on next Monday, Feb. 13. Parties having grain to chop should bring it in that day.

Charley Eagles, who has been sojourning at Aberdeen, Washington, for several months, arrived yesterday morning at his home near this place.

A. C. Sanford returned yesterday from Shaniko, where he has been spending the past two weeks with his family. He was accompanied by his daughter, Gladys, who will visit with her father for some time.

John Hammond, who has been employed on a contract for railroad construction in Baker county during last year, and later on the North Bank road, was in town yesterday on his way to Cline Falls, where he has an interest in an irrigation enterprise.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Claypool Brothers of Prineville, which appears in this issue. They have bought out the business of J. F. Morris, and are conducting an up to date general merchandise store at the county seat. Visitors from this section to the county seat are invited to make their store headquarters.

There promises to be an interesting session of the Madras literary society at this place next Saturday evening, as it will then meet the Red Rock Debating Society in joint debate, the visitors being represented by L. A. Hunt, W. R. Cook and Floyd Bilyeu. The local society will be represented by J. K. Craig, P. C. Fulton and J. A. Hoffman. The question for discussion is "Resolved that foreign immigration should be further restricted by law."

Frank Loveland has reached a depth of about 125 feet in the well he is drilling upon his lot just south of the Pioneer office. He is still drilling in basalt. The drill got caught in a crevice in the rock last week, and Mr. Loveland has been busy most of the past week getting it out. He has not struck any water yet, except the surface water which can be found anywhere at from 20 to 40 feet of depth in the basin. However, he expects to get plenty of water when he gets through the basalt.

W. F. Hammer, a prominent farmer from the Haystack neighborhood, was in town on Monday on his way to The Dalles. Mr. Hammer is considering the advisability of entering the race for the democratic nomination for county clerk, but he has not yet announced himself as a candidate. He was formerly clerk of Lin county, and his familiarity with the duties of the office, as well as his knowledge of the game of county politics, would make him a formidable candidate.

A telephone message received from Frank Elkins on Monday conveyed to his friends here the sad news of the death of his little son at Prineville on last Sunday night, February 4, 1906, death having resulted from spinal meningitis. The little fellow had been ill for some time and last week Mr. and Mrs. Elkin took him to Prineville in order that they might place him under the care of their physician at that place. The Prineville doctors diagnosed the case as spinal meningitis, and gave little hope of the boy's recovery, and on Sunday night death came to relieve him of his suffering. Mr. and Mrs. Elkin's many friends throughout this section will sympathize very deeply with them in the loss of their only child.
