Jack Clingan returned last week from the North Yakima country, where he has been living for some months past. Just prior to returning he spent some time over in British Columbia. Jack says that the crops in this locality are the best he has seen since he left British Columbia; that is, they have been damaged less by the heat. In some of the wheat sections he passed through the crops were practically burned up, while in most of them the damage was fully 50 per cent.

T. G. Condon, manager of the Shaniko Warehouse, was in Madras yesterday looking after business matters connected with the warehouse. He says that the impression has gone forth that crops in this locality are completely destroyed, and that he was very much surprised to find that the damage is not by any means as great as has been reported away from here. On his way in he passed any number of pretty fair crops, and most of those he passed will make much better than half a crop. There is no doubt that the reports of damage to our crops has been greatly exaggerated. Mr. Condon left this morning for the territory south of Madras.
