part and parcel of this stab-inthe-back railroad game which is being played on the Pacific coast. I hold more strongly now than before to the views which I expressed at the Hood River meeting, and the recent disclosures made concerning the favoritism shown by Commissioner Richards to the Union Pacific and Harriman interests, leads all of us to believe that before December 28, 1906. The first millions of acres of fertile land, and the hidden wealth of innumerable productive resources n22 d27 will be knocked in the head. tied hand and foot and thrown contemptuously aside to gratify the grasping nature of a railroad corporation which has virtually said 'Hands off of Central Oregon until we get ready to move in.' There are other places to develop power, ada and Washington Territory" as exand other places to pump, and tended to all the Public Land States other lands to irrigate. If the reclamation service doesn't approve of us, if it doesn't want to aid us, then let it stand aside and not totally annihilate months of labor, development already started and thousands upon thousands invested."

"If the Reclamation Service is really anxions to serve the people and pump water, let them go above the mouth of the r.ver to the Agency Plains district, where wheat and oats are being raised on 200,000 acres of January, 1907. land. The waters of the Deschutes are accessible there and the land owners would gladly give from 25 to 50 per cent of their entire holdings for water.'

"It is a question, of course, whether the department will see fit to retract the action when our petition is 'presented, but there will be enough signatures on it, and it will go to Washington with such impetus that we expect to have some one sit up and take notice whether anything else results or not." her sworn statement No. 3114, for the

Aside from this there is little doubt that the chamber of commerce will affix its sanct ion to show, too, that not only the welfare of Central Oregon depends upon transportation, but that the development of the resources there will be of great and lasting benefit to Portland | n15 j10 itself and the business concerns located here.

Mrs. A. C. Sanford left last Friday for The Dalles, in response to a message notifying her of the serious illness of her father, Mr. Batty, at the Umatilla House in that city. Her father was on his way home from Portland when he was stricken with paralysis at The Dalles. This stroke is the third he has suffered and his condition was reported to be serious, Mrs. Sanford left immediately for his bedside and is now at Dutur, to which place her father had been removed. At last accounts his condition was slightly improved, although still critical. Mrs. Sanford's troubles do not come singly, as she had just received word from Dufur that her sister is very ill there with typhoid fever.
