L. A. Hunt of Haystack, district vice-president of the County Sunday School Association, was in Madras last Saturday to attend the convention of that association, which was postponed owing to the very limited attendance.
Frank Blair, the popular young clerk at the E. C. Pease Co. store, was married on December 27 at The Dalles.
The bride was Miss White of Mt. Angel.
The couple returned to Shaniko last Friday.—Shaniko Republican.
J. H. Vincent, business man from Ereene, was in town last Monday evening, on his way home from a visit to his property on Squaw creek.
He is the owner of the Cobb ranch on Squaw creek, the well known stopping place on the Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain wagon road.
The Cobb ranch is located just this side of the point where the Santiam and McKenzie roads branch.
The fuel problem has become so serious a one for the Prineville Light & Water Company that it is said that the company is considering the proposition of installing a power plant on the Deschutes river, for the purpose of developing power for lighting and pumping purposes at Prineville. The Deschutes is one of the greatest power streams in the United States, and unlimited power can be developed at almost any point along the river.
Attorney Myers of Laidlaw has just announced the decision of the supreme court in the case of Martin vs. Turley vs. Jessie McCallister has been reversed by the general land office. This is the case in which Dr.
Turley brought a contest against a claim entry made by Jessie McCallister, the case being heard before U. S. Commissioner Ellis during the summer. The officials at the office decided in favor of Mrs.
McCallister.—Bulletin.
The new Hotel Prineville, which has been in process of construction for more than a year, was pronounced complete Sunday. Saturday evening the transfer from the old to the new building was quietly made, and the old building was promptly dismantled.
The new structure is a fine example of modern architecture, and is built of stone and two stories in height. It is supplied with every modern convenience. The formal opening will be held in a week or so and will be announced later.

R. V. Jenkins and wife were in town during the week.

M. L. Loucks has been visiting at the countyseat this week.

Emil Falkenhagen, who has been visiting his parents on the plains for several weeks past, returned last Tuesday to Lower Antelope, where he has employment.

Walter Rubie and sister, Miss Catharine, of Culver, were visiting in town last week, attending the joint installation of the Eastern Star and Masons on Thursday evening.—Journal.

G. Springer, from the Haystack country was in town Wednesday. He says everybody is busy in his neighborhood. The Grizzly Lake Lumber Company is hard at work getting out logs for the Spring run.—Journal.

Dr. Harold Clarke, the Prineville dentist, will be in Madras, January 17, prepared to do all kinds of dental work. He will only be in Madras for a few days, and parties desiring work done should call promptly and take advantage of this opportunity.

GILGEN REICHEN DEAD

The sad news was received here last Tuesday of the death of Gilgen Reichen at a Salem hospital, after a very brief illness. He was 23 years of age, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs.
John Reichen, who live three miles south of Madras. In December he went to Salem to spend the holidays with a brother and sister who reside at that place, and the news on Tuesday told of the sad termination of their Christmas reunion. The remains will be brought home for burial, and are expected to reach Shaniko on Thursday evening. The brother and sister from Salem are accompanying the remains home. Chris Reichen, another brother has gone to Shaniko to meet them, and interment will probably take place here on Friday.

Gilgen Reichen has been a resident of this vicinity for several years, and has a large number of friends here who will learn with sincere regret of his untimely death. He was sober and industrious, of exemplary habits and genial disposition, and his death is a loss to the community and to the sterling young manhood of this county.

JULIUS PEYENSKI DEAD

Julius Peyenski, a home-stender in the western part of this township, died at his home last Monday at 1 o'clock, after an illness which has extended over a period of several months.
He had been suffering with some acute stomach trouble for some time, but was not in a critical condition until New Year's day, when his condition became serious, and he grew steadily worse until his death on Monday. He was about 65 years of age and came to this section in October 1905, from the Kingsley neighborhood.
His wife and a grandson, Lonny Burmeister, were with him at the time of his death. He has five married daughters, none of whom reside in this section.
The remains were interred in Madras Cemetery on Wednesday.

DIED

On last Friday morning, January 4, 1907, at the home of his parents; seven miles south of Madras, little Carson Hoffman, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman.
He had a long spell of typhoid fever during the Fall, but had almost recovered from the effects of the typhoid, when he suffered a relapse which terminated fatally after only a brief illness.

The remains were laid at rest in Grey Butte Cemetery last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, who were completely prostrated by the loss of their little son, have the deepest sympathy of the entire community.

AGREE TO CO-OPERATE

Little Plain Settlers Pledge Support And Funds

WILL ASSIST IN EFFORT FOR STATE AID

Plan To Get Appropriation Meets with Their Hearty Approval—Meeting Held Last Saturday Night

A number of the ranchers of the Little Plain met at the home of J. C. Sothman last Saturday evening for the purpose of discussing the movement started on Agency Plains to secure state aid in the solution of the water problem in this section.
Mr. J. C. Sothman was elected chairman of the meeting, and Conrad Schrieber was secretary.
The proposal of the ranchers on the big plains was fully discussed, and resolutions were passed endorsing the action taken at their meeting, and pledging the support of the Little Plain ranchers to the movement. Funds were also pledged for bearing their proportion of the expense incurred.

The movement started on the big plains has as its object the securing of state aid in sinking two or more deep wells for the purpose of ascertaining the practicability of deep well drilling in this large section of country. Several private enterprises of the kind have been started, but owing to the heavy expense of drilling to any great depth, the attempts have been abandoned before water was secured. The expense of drilling to a depth of, say, 500 feet, is so great that no rancher in this district can afford it, unless it has been demonstrated that water can be obtained. With that fact once demonstrated, a number of wells would immediately be drilled, because the rancher could afford to mortgage his ranch if necessary, on the reasonable certainty of the great improvement that would result to his place. With water upon the ranches of this section, values would increase so rapidly that the expenditure would be repaid in a few years, in increased amount of taxes from this section. Taking this view of it, it is proposed to ask the state legislature to make an appropriation of sufficient size to cover the expense of sinking these experimental wells.

Culver and Lamonta, seven miles apart, have the banner mail connection of the entire service to the Deschutes River district, where each office boasts of the superlativeness of its poor service. The shortest mail schedule time from Culver to Lamonta and return, seven miles each way, is just six days and this splendid time is only possible when the mails connect as scheduled. A letter from Culver addressed to Lamonta must first go to Shaniko, then back to Grizzly, then out to Lamonta; the reply from Lamonta reaches Grizzly in time to miss the stage; leaves next day for Shaniko in time to miss the stage again, and on the evening of the third day from Lamonta reaches Culver, having traveled over 200 miles in the round trip.

Ora A. Rhodes left last Tuesday for Hood River, where he will visit friends for several weeks.

Relinquishment for sale at less than half cost of improvements, for a limited period. Land well located, and good improvements. Address or call
