SUCCESSFUL PLOWING

Can always be accomplished, in all sections and under all conditions, by the Success Plow. It is a frameless plow that will last a lifetime. It has been on the market for years, has been tried and proved, and is, beyond question, the simplest, most perfect and most popular riding plow of its class now in use.

THE P. & O. CANTON SUCCESS PLOW

Is the best and cheapest plow for the following reasons: It does the same work as plows that cost a great deal more. It costs less than other riding plows because it is made of fewer parts. On account of its having fewer parts it won't get out of order.

Plows get out of order because they are complicated. The Success isn't complicated—it's very simple. A plow that won't get out of order is what you want, isn't it? You would call such a plow strong and durable.

That's why the Success Plow is named "SUCCESS".

Being less expensive than others, doing first-class work, possessing the essential qualities of strength and durability, the Success deserves all we claim for it. That is why it is the cheapest. The best is always the cheapest.

J. W. & M. A. Robinson & Co.

Equipped with the best bottoms made, adjustable front axle; dust-proof removable wheel boxes; adjustable rear wheel; easily set for any depth; works equally well with large or small horses; light draft and easily operated—a perfect plow.

HOMER STREET KILLED

Dynamite Explodes Under His Horse's Feet Near His Home

WIFE AND CHILDREN WITNESS TRAGEDY

Body Blown Into Matoes River and
No Trace of It Has Been Found
—Happened Saturday Evening

A dispatch on Monday from Prineville to the Portland Oregonian says: Rev. Homer M. Street was instantly killed and blown into the Matoes River, together with his horse, at dusk Saturday evening, by an explosion of dynamite, caused by his horse stepping on it.

Particulars reached here today. Rev. Mr. Street had placed dynamite under a log, but it is supposed that coyotes scattered the explosive in the open.

The accident happened in the presence of his agonized wife and children. The body of the horse was located, but no trace of Street's body has yet been seen.

Rev. Mr. Street was known as the rancher preacher of Crook county. He took an active part in the local option campaign of the state and county, being one of the few ministers of the gospel who are opposed to prohibition.

MANY PLEDGE SUPPORT

Farmers on The Plains Will Share
Expense of the Magill Well

Eight farmers who reside in the neighborhood of the Magill ranch on Agency Plains have pledged their support and assistance in solving the water question for that locality, which Mr. Magill has undertaken. They have reached a depth of about 140 feet in the well, and Mr. Magill was finding the expense a rather heavy burden for one man to bear alone, for which reason his neighbors will join with him in the enterprise. Those who have joined Mr. Magill in the enterprise are A. P. Clark, J. Strain, Peter Kilburg, S. H. Edmondson, Howard Blackerby, G. W. Conard, Charles Croft and W. H. Ramsey, and others of that locality are expected to join with them also. The well will be sunk several hundred feet more, at least, before work is stopped, and should sufficient water not be found by that time, work will be temporarily suspended until after harvest. It is believed however that sufficient water will be found before work is stopped.

A small flow of water was encountered last week, but not sufficient for all purposes. This water was lost, however, the first of the week when a stratum of soft sandstone was encountered, the water disappearing in the sandstone. On Saturday evening water stood in the drilled hole 10 or 15 feet deep, but when drilling was commenced on Monday and the sand formation was struck, all of this water immediately disappeared.

HILL ROAD MAY COME

The prediction has frequently been made that James J. Hill would enter the Central Oregon field, and through it get into San Francisco, to break the Harriman monopoly on the transportation of that rich territory. The latest rumor to gain circulation is the following, published in the Albany Herald.

The Herald says: Parties arriving in Albany from Newport report that a surveying party of 24 men arrived in Newport Tuesday, having worked their way southward along the coast line from Astoria. The surveyors are in the employ of the Astoria and Columbia River road, and the engineer in charge of the party stated in answer to inquiries that he was under instructions to go back over the survey at once and set the grade stakes.

From the arrival of this surveying party in Newport it would seem that the Northern Pacific interests have not ceased the work of surveying the extension of the proposed coast line, as the Portland papers reported a short time ago but that the line will be extended as planned.

The party has been proceeding slowly and doing a careful job of engineering. They are said to be working under orders for strict secrecy and all haste compatible with a complete survey of a first-class railroad line. It is believed that the Northern Pacific is making all preparations to rush the building of a road from Astoria to Yaquina Bay, and possibly from that point to the eastward, crossing the Coast and Cascade ranges and meeting the construction of a line up the Deschutes river to Central Oregon. This plan has been reported before, and it is thought to be a rough outline of the Hill scheme to break the present Harriman monopoly of railroad transportation in Oregon.

It would surprise nobody familiar with Hill's railroad policy to hear that he was determined to extend the Northern Pacific to San Francisco in return for the Harriman extension of the Southern Pacific to Puget Sound.

HENRY W. GOODE DEAD

President of Lewis & Clark Fair Dies
At Atlantic City, N. J.

Henry W. Goode, one of the most prominent business men of Portland, died at Atlantic City, New Jersey, last Sunday, after a week's illness with pneumonia. His remains were interred in Chicago yesterday.

Mr. Goode was president of the Lewis & Clark Fair at Portland in 1905, and it was largely due to his executive ability that this undertaking was so pronounced a financial success, the Lewis & Clark Fair being one of the few undertakings of the kind which ever returned any of the money invested to the stockholders.

He was president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, a company capitalized at $30,000,000, which controls the electric systems and street railway lines of the city of Portland, and was the most prominent factor in effecting the organization of that company.

REPORTED THAT TRAINMEN WON

The final decision upon the demands of the trainmen upon all Western roads was to have been arrived at yesterday, at Chicago, at the conference between the trainmen and the companies, and the representatives of President Roosevelt, who were there for the purpose of securing a settlement which would avert a strike. Upon that decision depends the outcome of the threatened strike, which if precipitated will tie up all of the railroads west of Chicago.

The principal demands are for an increase in wages and an eight hour day. It was reported here this morning that a settlement had been arrived at and the threatened strike averted, the trainmen having been granted a ten per cent. increase in wages, and a nine-hour day. This reported settlement has not been confirmed up to the time of going to press.

SIX OF CONTESTANTS WIN THE PRIZES

All Numbers So Good Judges Find
Task of Making Awards A Very Difficult One

Sanford's Hall was packed to its utmost capacity last Saturday evening by the parents and friends of the little ladies and gentlemen who spoke in the declamatory contest held by the five public schools of this locality, and the interesting and very entertaining programme of the evening had a most appreciative audience. The five schools taking part, and the teachers in charge of them, were: Methodist Hill school, J. F. Blanchard; Red Rock school, Miss Marie Galloway; Mountain View school, Andrew Larsen, Jr.; Mud Springs school, Miss Effie A. Taylor, and Madras school, P. C. Fulton and Miss Grace Smith. Six prizes were offered, in three divisions; a first and second prize to pupils from 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades; a first and second prize to winning pupils from 4th, 5th and 6th grades; and first and second prizes to winning pupils of 7th and 8th grades. Each of the schools participating had two or more representatives in each division of the contest.

The judges of the contest, who were selected from the different school districts represented, were: L. A. Hunt, Red Rock district; Mrs. Alex Holbrook, Methodist Hill district; A. D. Anderson, Mud Springs district; the Reverend A. P. Clark, Mountain View district; and M. C. Mason, Madras district; and upon them devolved the very difficult task of selecting from among the five score speakers the six to whom should be awarded the prizes. The difficulty of the task was greatly increased by the uniform excellence of the efforts of each contestant, and so close was the contest that more than half an hour and a number of ballots were necessary before a decision could finally be arrived at by the judges.

The winners were: In the 1st division, Ethel Duling of Mud Springs school, first; and Maurice Snook of Madras school, second. In the second division, Melba Kidder of Red Rock school, first; and Eva Loving of Mud Springs school, second. In the third division, Myrtle Harvey of Madras school, first; and Sarah Moehring of Methodist Hill school, second. A number of the contestants were entitled to special mention, and the judges expressed regrets that they had not a score of prizes at their disposal, instead of only six.

A pleasing feature of the evening's programme was a song by the Round Butte quartette, composed of Miss Anna Schrieber and Marie Moehring, Conrad Schrieber and Jake Moehring, and which was very heartily encored. Little Mary and Anna Marnach sang very sweetly, as did also Orpha Clark. After the regular program was completed, Mr. A. D. Anderson responded to repeated calls and favored the audience with a vocal selection which was very much enjoyed.

NO SMALLPOX

Superintendent at Warm Springs Says
Report Was An Error

SHANIKO, Or., March 29.—A case of smallpox has materialized at the Warm Springs reservation, and Superintendent Covey has ordered a large supply of vaccine points, and is using every possible means to prevent the disease from becoming general.—Oregonian.

Inquiry was made of Superintendent Covey of the Warm Springs agency regarding the reported prevalence of smallpox on the reservation, and his reply, dated at the agency today, follows:

"In reply to your inquiry I have to say that we have no smallpox on this reservation. We have had a number of cases of chickenpox, but they have proven to be only that, though we thought for a time that it was smallpox. Dr. Snook was over and saw our worst case.

Yours truly,
CLAUDE C. COVEY.
Dr. Snook was seen here and stated that he was called to the Agency to see the case referred to, an Indian boy, whom he found suffering with chickenpox. This patient has been kept in quarantine to prevent the contagion of others from the chickenpox. As a precautionary measure against smallpox, Superintendent Covey has caused the vaccination of all the Indians at the Agency not already vaccinated.
